ROOSEVELT PET MEASURES STIR IRE IN CONGRESS

Trade Pacts and New Taxes Draw Fire.

The text of President Roosevelt's message to congress yesterday will be found on page 10.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3—Prompt and vigorous opposition in congress today presaged three major legislative battles over proposals made by President Roosevelt in his annual message pleading for national unity, calmness, and coöperation.

The President's demand for extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act, his proposal for increased armament expenditures, and his request that congress levy new taxes to pay for the increased arms outlays all encountered widespread opposition, indicating stormy days ahead.

The first big battle on the legislative program will be over the resolution to extend the trade agreements act, expected to be introduced in the house next week, while the issue of new taxes is to be shelved by the administration leadership pending an analysis of the March 15 quarterly income tax returns.

Will Back Trade Treaties.

Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, let it be known that he will introduce the trade agreements extension resolution, but the leadership was distinctly cool toward the President's request for new taxes.

The opposition to the proposed half billion dollar increase in expenditures for armaments was based not only on the ground that it was coupled with a demand for new taxes but on the additional ground that the country is facing no attack and no possible threat to its security that would justify increasing the record breaking national defense appropriations of 1¾ billion dollars for the current fiscal year.

Many Democratic senators and representatives who supported the President's neutrality act repealer at the recent special session, especially members from the central and western parts of the country, said they will fight any increase in armaments appropriations.

Fight Looms in House.

This issue will be raised first when the house, perhaps before the end of this week, takes up the 275 million dollar deficiency bill to pay for the increases in the nation's armed forces ordered by Mr. Roosevelt in September under his proclamation of a limited national emergency.

The house will be plunged into a violent controversy next Monday over the Gavagan antilynching bill, which is ready to be called up under the committee discharge rule. It will be passed by the house, after four or five days of tumultuous debate, and then sent to the senate, where southern Democrats, as usual, will filibuster it to death.

With the antilynching bill out of the way the house will begin grinding out the regular departmental appropriation bills, some of which are ready to be reported, including the treasury-postoffice, the agriculture department, the independent offices and the state-justice-labor measures.

Senate Ready to Recess.

The senate will mark time with a series of three day recesses while waiting for the house to send over the appropriation bills. The leadership will take no chances on keeping the senate in session with no administration business before it. Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] is awaiting the advice of his friends and Mr. Roosevelt's Jackson day dinner speech on Jan. 8 to introduce his resolution expressing the senate's condemnation of a third term for any President. There always is something to cause trouble when the senate is in session with no legislative program before it.

The fight over the reciprocal trade agreements program will not reach the house until it has crossed the hurdle of the ways and means committee, the 10 Republican members of which already are laying in supplies of ammunition. Extensive hearings will be demanded on both the house and senate sides.

Senate to Hold Whip.

Comment in the corridors today indicated that the administration failed to appease the opposition of western Democrats with its removal of copper from the tariff concession list in the

POPE APPOINTS BISHOP STRITCH OF MILWAUKEE

Will Be Successor to Mundelein.

New Archbishop

On page 6 are three pictures of Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Milwaukee, who has been appointed to head Chicago archdiocese, succeeding the late Cardinal Mundelein.

Chicago has a new Roman Catholic archbishop. He is the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, who has been archbishop of Milwaukee since 1930. The announcement of his appointment by Pope Pius XII. was made in Washington early today by the apostolic delegate.

Archbishop Stritch will succeed Cardinal George Mundelein, who died Oct. 2. His place at Milwaukee, it was made known, will be filled by the Most Rev. Moses E. Kiley, who is now bishop of Trenton, N. J., and formerly served for fifteen years in Chicago.

The new Chicago archbishop was born at Nashville, Tenn., on Aug. 17, 1887. His father was Garret Stritch, who emigrated to the United States from Ireland. His mother, Catherine Mally Stritch, was born in America of Irish parents.

Ordained in Rome in 1910.

His clerical education began at St. Gregory's college in Cincinnati, O. Later he studied theology and philosophy in the North American college in Rome. He was ordained in Rome on May 21, 1910.

His first pastorate was St. Mary's church at Memphis, Tenn. In 1916 he was appointed secretary and in 1917 chancellor of the Nashville diocese. Later he was made a domestic prelate with the title of monsignor. He was appointed bishop of Toledo, O., in 1921. He was then only 34 years old and one of the youngest bishops in the United States.

Among his outstanding accomplishments as bishop of Toledo were the building of a $1,000,000 Catholic high school, the erection of a new cathedral, and the addition of seven new parishes.

Will Rule Wealthy Diocese.

As head of the Chicago archdiocese he will administer one of the largest and wealthiest Catholic divisions in the world. The church in this area has a membership of more than 1,000,000.

Archbishop Stritch issued a brief statement when he learned of the appointment. He said:

"The news of my transfer to the archepiscopacy of Chicago is a great surprise. To be the shepherd of so large a flock is a responsibility the very thought of which would overpower me, were I not confident that God will help me and the clergy, which in the past has given signal proof of its great zeal, will uphold my hands.

"These days, there opens to us a great opportunity. If the tragedies of the time are carefully analyzed it will be found that the core of them are moral and religious problems. To present to men the Christ and to cry to them 'Behold your King' is our mission and opportunity.

"With God's help and the support of a devoted clergy and a loyal laity we shall try our utmost to be true to our sacred office and be an unflinching witness of the Savior."

Noted for Charity Work.

The new archbishop of Chicago has a wide variety of interests, but has been most noted in his Milwaukee office as an insistent advocate of charity to the poor. He is known in the church all over America as a thinker on public questions. Last November he was elected chairman of the executive board of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

He is a man without affectation, according to his friends. He is of less than medium height and of thin frame, but is noted for his vast energy and his ability to understand administrative detail. He is regarded as extremely democratic and possessed of a vast patience.

When he was installed as archbishop of Milwaukee in 1930 nearly one-third of the Catholic hierarchy in the United States journeyed to Milwaukee to honor him.

Firm Against Immorality.

In his public utterances he has taken a firm stand against any approach to immorality on the part of

Goon Victim's Letters Tell of Labor Terror

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Two letters written by Marinus Hvid more than six months before he was beaten to death by labor goons were made public yesterday. They established that as early as last May Hvid, the owner of a strike picketed garage at 3514 North Halsted street, had pointed out to John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor:

Oscar G. Mayer of Association of Commerce [top] and Frank Hecht.

1. The likelihood that there was a working agreement between the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, an owners' organization from which Hvid had been expelled, and the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union which was picketing his garage.

2. His belief that the union pickets were being paid by the employers' association.

3. The identity of the union business agent whom he accused of intimidating and interfering with a garage employé.

Letters Apparently Ignored.

Fitzpatrick apparently took no official cognizance of the letters. The strike continued. On the morning of Dec. 28 Hvid was beaten with baseball bats by two goons. He died Saturday morning. No clew has been obtained to the identity of the murderers.

Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, demanded action yesterday. At his direction Frank Hecht, chairman of the association's All-Chicago council, called a meeting for 2:30 p. m. today at which methods of curbing labor terror will be discussed.

WPA COUNTS TREES OF CITY AND FINDS TOTAL IS 578,572

Chicago streets are lined by 578,572 trees, according to a tree census completed for the bureau of parks by 600 Works Progress administration employés. Results of the census, which cost $321,286, were announced yesterday by L. H. Jacobson, acting WPA director for Chicago.

Drawings and maps showing types and the number of trees along city parkways have been turned over to Walter Wright, head of the park bureau. He is to use the information to formulate tree removal and planting programs.

In conjunction with the tree census, topographical surveys were made of 132 small parks and playgrounds. These surveys show landscape features and general plans of the parks and are to be used in devising changes or additions.

ITALIAN, BRITISH ENVOYS LEAVE RUSSIA FOR HOME

MOSCOW, Jan. 3 (AP).—Augusto Rosso, Italian ambassador to Russia, took a train for Rome tonight. Leaving by the same train was Dr. Karl Rittern, chief of the German economic delegation in Moscow, who was given a farewell at the station by Vladimir N. Barkov, chief of protocol in the soviet foreign office.

Rosso and Ritter were the second and third representatives of foreign governments to leave Moscow within 24 hours. Sir William Seeds, British ambassador, left last night on leave.

Composer of 'Rock-a-Bye Baby' Tune Ill in Boston

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3 (AP).—Mrs. Effie I. Canning Carlton, 66 years old, who as a girl of 15 improvised the tune of the lullaby, "Rock-a-Bye Baby," while she cared for a restless child, lay ill in a hospital today, victim of a cerebral hemorrhage. She was stricken after watching a motion picture in which the old childhood song was sung.

British Sailors Join Defeated Foe in Revelry

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Jan. 3 (AP).—British and German seamen who fought the battle of Punta del Este drank beer together tonight. They told each other they entertained no hard feelings.

Arrival today of the British cruiser Achilles on a victory visit with her teammate, the Ajax, which docked across the River Plate at Montevideo, Uruguay, led to numerous stag parties with interned Germans of the scuttled Admiral Graf Spee.

Sailors wearing the gothic letters "Panzerschiff Admiral Graf Spee" on their hatbands sat in groups of six and more with Britons who wore the legend "H. M. S. Achilles," one of the three British cruisers which battled the German pocket battleship on Dec. 13 and forced her into Montevideo harbor.

A Sight for Argentines.

In one night spot customarily frequented by men of the sea, a British sailor, a mere lad, rested his elbow on the powerful shoulder of his German neighbor. The men who manned opposite guns in the greatest naval battle yet of the present war toasted each other in truce while fascinated Argentines looked on.

The Germans, obliged by the terms of their internment at the Argentine naval arsenal to report before midnight, left early with signs of reluctance on both sides.

British residents of Buenos Aires and Montevideo gave a welcome to the Ajax and Achilles upon their arrival.

Reception on Ships.

Commanders of the two vessels received British officials aboard after the warships arrived. The Ajax, which carried Rear Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, commander of the South Atlantic squadron, will remain at Montevideo for 48 hours with the permission of the Uruguayan government to refuel and take on provisions.

Capt. W. E. Parry, commander of the Achilles, was loud in his praise of the leadership of Admiral Harwood, which he said was largely responsible for the British victory over the Graf Spee.

Dies Presents Proof of Reds' Dictator Plot

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—The Dies committee on un-American activities reported to congress today that it has gathered indisputable evidence that the communist party of the United States is a foreign conspiracy masked as a political party.

Martin Dies, chairman of house committee on un-American activities.

The unanimous report also condemned the German-American Bund and other Nazi-Fascist groups as racketeering movements basing their chief appeal on religious and racial hatred and seeking to set up a dictatorship here by force and violence.

Ending a year and a half of investigation during which 7,000 pages of testimony and vast amounts of documentary evidence were accumulated, the committee, which expired by act of congress today, urged that the investigation be continued in order to repel the attempts of foreign agencies to tear down American institutions.

Million Persons Affected.

The report emphasized that only a comparative minority of the American people has been affected as yet by the subversive activities of foreign groups. Not more than 1 million of the 132 million inhabitants of the United States have been affected seriously by the efforts of communists, Nazis, and Fascists, it estimated.

Testimony of extreme importance remains to be taken, the committee declared. Evidence of communism on the west coast, particularly in the Hollywood movie colony, is yet to be heard.

An overwhelming majority in the house of representatives appears to be in favor of authorizing the committee to continue its work during 1940.

Functions as "Border Patrol."

"Hundreds of pages of testimony have established the fact that the communist party of the United States can make no more than a superficial claim that it is a political party in the sense in which the American people understand those words," the report stated. "It is, on the contrary, a constituent member of the communist internationale and is its agent in the United States. The communist internationale is completely dominated by the communist party of soviet Russia.

"The committee feels that a careful examination of the facts justifies the assertion that the communist party is a foreign conspiracy masked as a political party.

"The committee is forced to conclude that in practice the communist party is functioning as a border patrol on American shores for a foreign power—the soviet union.

Violation of Treaty.

"Since the communist party has the avowed purpose of drastically

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—German authorities are preparing decrees to increase state revenues and to be able to continue financing the war. FLYERS WRECK FIELD USED BY SOVIET RAIDERS Report Italian Pilot Leads Attack.

Trail 2,000 Russians

Finns in eastern central Finland yesterday pursued the last 2,000 stragglers of the 17,000 Russian troops defeated last week-end at Lake Kianta. Russians bombed the Finnish cities of Tornio, Turku, and Hango. Finns said soviet attacks were repulsed with heavy losses on the Karelian isthmus at the Taipale river. On the eastern front Finns were said to have reached the western shores of Lake Kokkojarvi. Details on page 2.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A FINNISH AVIATION BASE, Finland, Jan. 3.—Russia's new aviation base on the Estonian island of Oesel [Saare Maa] was partly destroyed when it was bombed by Finnish planes last night.

This is the base which the Finns believe the Russians are using to send out planes to bomb Turku [Abo], Hango [Hanko], Helsingfors, and other Finnish harbor towns. The base was leased by Moscow in November, after it had sent an ultimatum to Estonia, the smallest and weakest country on the Baltic sea.

Observation flyers reported today that the Russians had succeeded in extinguishing the fire at the Estonian base but that considerable damage had been caused.

Led by an Italian.

Activity of the Finnish aviators against Russia is scarcely mentioned in the Finnish general staff's communique, but THE TRIBUNE learned that last night's raid was carried out by three Finnish bombers, led by one of the recently arrived Italian Savoia bombers, which had a volunteer Italian pilot aboard.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Geneva, Switzerland, reported that Italian sources in Berne, the Swiss capital, said 2,000 Italians and military technicians were "in or on their way" to Finland. Several weeks ago 50 Italian planes, accompanied by Italian pilots and aviation instructors, were reported to have arrived in Finland.]

When I arrived at this secret base from another visit to the front trenches of the Mannerheim line this afternoon, I met one of the Finnish pilots who participated in the raid. When a motorcycle arrived last night to take him to the air field he was taking a "sauna," a boiling hot steam bath. An hour later he was seated in his plane, hurtling thru the occasional thick snow flurries which obscured the view of an otherwise clear night.

Fly Over Field Twice.

Within an hour and a half after leaving Finland the planes had reached their objective and, flying at a low altitude, they released part of their cargo of bombs and then turned and made another visit, bombing and machine gunning the field.

This flyer had taken an active part in the Finnish northern campaign and made several bombing raids on Murmansk and Ukhta, Russia. Ukhta a few years ago was a small settlement but now is an important town at the end of a branch line from Kem on the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad.

Ukhta is the point from which one soviet invading force penetrated into Finland and was destroyed last week-end in the battle of Kianta lake where 17,000 Russians of the 163d division were annihilated. During this offensive, which lasted two weeks, the pilot participated in the bombing and machine gunning of soviet troops, and the destruction of field kitchens, food supplies, and communications.

Keep Foe Without Food.

During my trip to the Mannerheim line, from the stories told me by various air patrol leaders, it also was evident that the Finns there are doing everything possible to keep the Russians without food, destroying field kitchens wherever possible.

Very few exploits of the Finnish flyers thus far have been reported in the Finnish press and the Finns do not even know that one of their pilots, a famous ski runner who was captain of the army skiing team, recently succeeded in shooting down four of a squadron of five soviet planes.

Yesterday on the Mannerheim line I visited a dugout where a group of 34 soldiers were living. A Finnish corporal and three men were dressing themselves to go out on patrol duty.

Small, Tough, and Wiry.

The patrol squad, which was to go behind the enemy lines, donned their pants made from white sheeting and their hooded parkas. Beneath this costume they were lightly dressed with a sweater over their woolen shirts. Only one member of the party pulled on an additional windproof jacket.

The squad was made up of small men 5 feet 6 inches tall, tough and wiry. One of the men carried a machine pistol and the others automatic rifles. The thermometer was 20 degrees above zero Fahrenheit. The Finns considered this warm weather. The men said they never felt cold while skiing anyway.

The captain and the corporal compared maps, the captain outlining the suspected position of a new battery of which the patrol expected to discover the exact size and position of the guns.

Lived 8 Years in America.

The patrol went outside, respectfully adjusted the bindings of their freshly greased skils, and vanished down the forest path like four ghosts. I then talked with other soldiers.

Emil Nurminen, a husky, happy go lucky carpenter, told me he had lived for eight years in America, working in New York and Detroit. He spoke American fluently. Emil related that the platoon had been in this position since the war began.

In response to my question, Emil asked the men what they wanted most—with the exception of a few decks of cards, they had nothing for recreation. They suggested some musical instruments, such as accordions, mandolins, and mouth organs.

A patrol party from a dugout down the line captured an accordion from the Russians and its platoon had been sending around invitations to the others to come visiting to attend the concerts, arousing general envy among the regiment.

It's Coffee He Wants.

Nurminen further asked that if any of his friends in America should read this story, they mail him a pound tin of coffee occasionally. He promised he would share it with his comrades. They would rather have coffee than cigarets, which are rationed at the rate of 75 per week per man. Other soldiers and officers told me that is the only thing which worries the army: how long Finland's coffee supply is going to hold out.

Returning with the officers to the dugout, we awaited the return of the patrol.

"I have ordered the patrols not to talk to any one until they first report to me," the captain said. "It is only human nature for these fellows to like to tell stories of their exploits, and I have discovered that their first account is the one nearest the truth.

Maintain a Heavy Guard.

"Our patrols have so terrified the Russians that they are maintaining an extra heavy line of guards standing within a few feet of each other. This night duty is impairing their efficiency during the day.

"Our patrols also are doing remarkable work in locating batteries, munitions dumps, and supply depots. After we shell them, the patrols report the effect of our shellfire and the new positions to which the Russians have been removed. Our men all are expert skiers and, thus far, have avoided capture."

The captain suggested that we should turn in for the night, because the patrols frequently remain out until dawn, which now comes at 9 a. m.

Locate Red Battery.

Their faces haggard with fatigue, their backs wet with sweat, the ski patrol arrived in the morning with exultant faces. They had an interesting story to tell. They had skied about 20 miles during the night and, after locating the exact position of the Russian battery, they had continued, cutting six telephone wires, knotting them together and hiding the knot, making repairs more difficult.

Returning, they had discovered a Russian field kitchen cooking kascha—porridge—with a table nearby where the bread rations were distributed. For some unknown reason the kitchen was unwatched and, after placing propaganda leaflets upon the table, they had tossed a hand grenade into the kascha.

Practically all of Finland's regiments have champions in some branch of athletics, and this regiment is proud of one of its sergeants, who is Veli Saarinen, captain of Finland's Olympic championship skiing team.

FINNS TRAIL LAST 2,000 OF 17,000 ROUTED RUSSIANS

Ski Troops Pick Off War Weary Stragglers.

WITH THE FINNISH FORCES NEAR LAKE KIANTA, central eastern Finland, Jan. 3 (AP).—Swift and silent Finnish ski troops struck in the border snows today to pick off, one by one, the handful of survivors of Russia's defeated army in this frozen north country, while their comrades in the south stood their ground against massed soviet thrusts.

Victors in the greatest single battle of the war, hardy Finnish lumberjacks had easy pickings finishing off the 2,000 wandering, half starved remnants of the 17,000 man Red Russian division which tried to sever Finland's wasplike waistline and failed.

Matching these efficient operations, the Finnish high command announced that a heavy soviet infantry attack on the Karelian isthmus had been repulsed "with heavy losses."

Mass for a Knockout.

This soviet thrust in the south appeared to bear out reports in Finland that the Red army, chafing under repeated setbacks, was massing seven divisions—about 105,000 men—for an attempted knockout blow against the Finnish Mannerheim line.

[Reliable information in Moscow said that the Russians were speeding seasoned Siberian fighters to positions opposite the Finnish defenses.]

Coupled with the land attack were new Russian air raids on Turku [Abo] and Hango in southwestern Finland. It was announced officially there were no casualties in Turku and only a few in Hango.

[Russian planes yesterday bombed the Finnish city of Tornio at the north end of the Gulf of Bothnia, Swedish dispatches reported. Alarm signals in the Finnish city were heard on the Swedish side of the Tornio river at Haparanda. Swedish observers said the Torni-Kemi railroad apparently was damaged.]

Capture Tanks and Cars.

In addition to the isthmus defense, which was made in the Taipale river zone, the Finns reported widespread successes in fighting on the eastern front.

Northeast of Suomussalmi, near Lake Kianta, the Finnish troops reached the western shores of Kokkojarvi and at Suomussalmi itself captured five tanks and two armored cars.

[The soviet military communique for Jan. 3 said: "Nothing important took place on the front."]

The Finnish victory at Lake Kianta actually was a three week series of fights and ambushes along the west side and the north and south of the tips of the lake, which is 30 miles long and about two to four miles wide. The lake is about 20 miles west of the Russian border.

In putting to rout the demoralized Russian army, the Finns suffered only 100 casualties, including wounded and sick.

Familiar with the Terrain.

The defenders, who grew up in this country and know every inch of the terrain, moved about the heavy forests on skis. The men were camouflaged with all-over white suits and hoods.

The Russians, following an open road into the trap laid by the Finns, wore dark uniforms and were easy targets.

A soviet supply column was caught about midway along the lake on the night of Dec. 26 and the decisive battle ended on Dec. 31 with the destruction of Russian fortified positions on the lake's northern end.

In three weeks of slicing maneuvers the Finns had cut up the northern and southern segments of the Red army division which at some points had pushed 30 miles into Finland.

Collect Much Booty.

Finnish army commanders said the spoils of the final victory included 250 Russian trucks, 400 to 500 wagons, 15 tanks, four antiaircraft machine guns, more than 300 horses, 27 field cannon, much medical material, radio apparatus, and field kitchens.

Snow which fell this morning covered or made mounds over the bodies of the trapped Russians.

Many of the invaders were killed in the woods. Others were trapped on the frozen lake, only to be shot by Finnish sharpshooters or to plunge thru cracks made by Finnish air bombs.

The Finns caught the Russian column, made up of the 163d army division, from three sides, leaving open the woods leading to the lake.

Defenders with machine guns took positions on an elevation at one end of a road running north and south and in the woods to the west.

When the column made its way into a hollow section of the road, the three Finnish forces opened fire.

PREMIER LAYS POLAND'S FALL TO 'NEGLIGENCE'

ANGERS, France, Jan. 3 (AP).—Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski, premier of Poland's government in exile, today broke sharply with the last Warsaw government, charging "irreparable negligence" caused Poland's defeat by Germany. He said "the guilty will be judged by history and by the nation," apparently referring to Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, former Polish commander-in-chief, and the last government in Warsaw. Denouncing previous "régimes of favor," he charged they failed "both in the domain of military preparations and in the purely political and economic domain."

Britain to Let Cafes Serve Butter Seven Times a Day

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The food ministry today announced restaurants would be allowed to serve one-sixth of an ounce of butter with these meals under the rationing plan starting Jan. 8: Breakfast, lunch, midday dinner, tea, high tea, late dinner, and supper.

'FANTASTIC,' REDS BRAND FINLAND'S REPORTS ON WAR

Warn World Not to Reach Hasty Conclusions.

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—Asserting that "fantastic antisoviet inventions" concerning the progress of the war in Finland are being circulated from Helsingfors and the Scandinavian capitals, the soviet embassy's press bureau tonight warned against "hasty conclusions based on doubtful evidence."

The press bureau also attacked reports of civilian casualties resulting from air raids on unfortified Finnish towns, which it said had been described in "lurid terms."

"After all," the bureau said, "reports of a leading news agency on Dec. 29 estimated civilian casualties at only 100 killed and 100 wounded."

The statement, which did not identify the news agency, added:

"The absurdity of accusations against the Red air force are seen in comparison with the 72 killed and 3,637 wounded in a Japanese air raid on Chungking."

Numerous Discrepancies.

The statement asserted that numerous discrepancies had appeared in reports from Copenhagen, Oslo, Stockholm, and elsewhere.

Commenting on stories that Russian troops were inadequately equipped, the statement said that one newspaper had printed a picture of Finnish General Martti Wallenius talking to an alleged captured Russian air pilot who wore tattered garments.

"The pilot was not wearing a helmet such as all soviet flyers wear but a Red army helmet of antiquated pattern which might have been in use during the Finnish-soviet war in 1919," the bureau declared.

Late in December, it added, "a leading news agency reported almost in the same breath a food shortage in Murmansk as the result of disrupted communications, and the sensational arrival there of a battalion of 800 women drawn from Leningrad and Moscow."

Cite "Mythical Air Raid."

One newspaper, it was said, reported "an absolutely mythical air raid on Murmansk" in which 64 soviet planes were destroyed. Another paper said that 64 Russian tanks were destroyed, and a third "improved on the story by explaining that 64 tanks had been destroyed on the southern front while in the north 80 had been put out of action."

The statement also said that the Russian cruiser Kirov had first been reported sunk, then disabled and finally towed into the harbor of Tallinn by three Estonian tugs. In refutation the bureau quoted an Estonian army officer as saying the Kirov had not been in Tallinn since mid-October.

UNABLE TO ESTABLISH PROOF THAT ATHENIA WAS SUNK BY TORPEDO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—Four months ago tonight the liner Athenia sank with the loss of 28 Americans, and still there is no proof to enable officials here to say she was torpedoed by a German submarine, as charged at first.

On the contrary, evidence points more toward an internal explosion than a torpedo. American passengers aboard the liner have made hundreds of affidavits for the state department and none was willing to swear that he saw either a submarine or a torpedo.

The state department, in pursuing its investigation, has discarded statements of the British captain and crew as interested parties, and sought Americans alone. But this testimony shows that no American saw a submarine or a torpedo, altho several said they saw what seemed to be a mast sticking out of the water.

The ship was stopped at three ports before leaving for New York—Glasgow, Belfast, and Cobh. It is considered possible that a time bomb might have been placed in the ship at one of those ports.

ROBBED OF CASH AND WATCH.

GOON VICTIM'S LETTERS TELL OF LABOR TERROR

Violence Preceding Garage Slaying Described.

Murder Background

THE CRIME—Marinus Hvid, garage owner, was beaten fatally by labor sluggers seven days ago. He was married and the father of four children, two of whom helped him operate his garage.

THE INVESTIGATION—The state's attorney's office and police are investigating Hvid's suggestion, made in two letters written more than six months ago, that there was an alliance between the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, an owners' organization in which he had given up membership, and the labor union which was picketing his garage. Hvid in one of the letters identified a union agent who interfered with his business and intimidated a garage employé.

THE RECORD—Hvid's murder was the 32d labor murder in Chicago in the last nine years. There has been a conviction in only one case.

ers of the city have been invited to the meeting, which will be in the Red room of the La Salle hotel.

Tells of Fight on Racket.

The letters written by Hvid told his story. They supplied the basis for statements by Police Captain Patrick O'Connell, State's Attorney Courtney, and the civic leaders that Hvid went to his death fighting a racket.

Written on stationery of the Hal-Cor garage [it was at Halsted and Cornelia streets], Hvid's first letter, dated May 20, 1939, suggested to Fitzpatrick that he might be interested in some "first hand information on the subject of labor union strong arm methods."

Hvid explained that he had one steady employé and one part time employé in his garage.

Describes Threats to Worker.

He continued:

"When the Affiliated Garages of Chicago was organized I became a member, but I refused to agree to employ only union labor. Due to trouble with the A. G. of C. over some customers, I was suspended from that organization some time last March.

"Four days later six men of local 727 [Garage workers' local] walked into my place of business and by threats and intimidation and against his will forced my regular man to sign an application for membership. No money was paid at the time or since. He was ordered to keep the garage doors closed and prevented from taking the cars out of the garage.

"For nine weeks now my place has been picketed. No demands have been made, but on two different occasions one of the business agents suggested that I see Mr. Mermall, director of the A. G. of C., and get straightened out.

"Does that indicate there is a working arrangement between A. G. of C. and local 727?"

Two Deny Collusion.

After the murder Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford questioned Emil Mermall, executive director of the garage owners' organization, and Edward Reilly, president of the union. They denied there was any collusion between the organizations in reference to Hvid's garage.

The second letter which Capt. O'Connell made public was written by Hvid to Fitzpatrick on June 7. In it Hvid said he believed that the owners' association was financing the union pickets. He also told of interference in his business and of threats and intimidation by William Bibbe, business agent of the union.

Capt. O'Connell received the copies of the letters thru a business men's organization. He said Mrs. Dagmar Hvid, widow of the garage owner, told him Fitzpatrick had not answered the letters. State's Attorney Courtney and Capt. O'Connell said they would make inquiries today as to what action, if any, Fitzpatrick took regarding the complaints.

Widow to Sue for $100,000.

Mrs. Hvid yesterday obtained letters of administration from Assistant Probate Judge John F. Keeley to take charge of her husband's estate. Then her attorney, Samuel F. Strong, announced that he would file a suit for $100,000 in her behalf, naming the city, the union, and the Garage Owners' association as defendants.

Strong said action against the city would be based on the claim that the city did not supply proper police protection to Hvid. The lawyer said Hvid had asked and had been denied the services of policemen as guards. He said that on the night of the assault Mrs. Hvid called police and asked to have a man stationed at the garage and that this request was denied.

Capt. O'Connell, when told of this claim, said that after the strike was called he personally had visited the garage and talked with Hvid.

Captain Tells of Talk.

"Hvid told me he did not need any protection," Capt. O'Connell said. "He said he was not afraid and that the strike did not amount to anything. At no time, to my knowledge, was any request by Hvid, his wife, or his son ever turned down."

Capt. O'Connell recalled the complaint of Hvid concerning Bibbe, the union agent. The employé Bibbe assaulted was John Leykanf, 720 Cornelia avenue.

"I went there and talked to Hvid and Leykanf," O'Connell said.

"Hvid was gone. Leykanf said he did not want to sign a complaint against Bibbe, and that he had given as many blows as he received. However, in view of what is contained in the letter, I will requestion Bibbe."

Fails to Explain Expenditures.

At the state's attorney's office Prosecutor Crawford received additional information on the affairs of the garage owners' association. He had questioned Mermall on Tuesday and Mermall failed to explain expenditures of approximately $500 a month charged to "promotion."

Crawford learned yesterday that between Jan. 1, 1938, and Oct. 1, 1939, Mermall had withdrawn $14,000 of the organization's funds on checks payable to cash. The items never have been explained to any of the members of the organization's executive board, they told Crawford.

A number of garage owners told Crawford they joined Mermall's organization to avoid having to increase the pay of their union employés. They told the prosecutor that the union was demanding an increase from garages not members of the Mermall group.

Termed Evidence of Link.

"That appears to be conclusive evidence the union and the employers' association joined together to operate a racket," Crawford said.

President Mayer of the Association of Commerce said that inasmuch as it appeared that Hvid's murder resulted from an employer-employé relationship, every business man in the city is interested and should be vitally concerned in what is being done to apprehend the slayers.

"The welfare of the city and the security and peace of our citizenry are at stake," Mr. Mayer said.

"The murder of this man suggests the danger that confronts others unless an aroused public takes an inventory right now."

"No politicians or labor leaders were invited to today's meeting," said Mr. Hecht. "We may decide to call upon some labor officials later.

"We feel that this is a matter of the greatest importance to the city as a whole. The man murdered was a business man who had trouble with a business men's organization and with a labor union. It seems to be a matter in which the All-Chicago council is called upon to take the initiative.

"I presume resolutions will be adopted and the public will be informed of the actions taken. We want it known that the city is thoroly stirred by this murder and we want to do what we can to prevent a recurrence. We are not acting in any spirit of criticism of the authorities. We want to be helpful."

Slain Garage Owner's Accusations Revealed in Letters

Mr. John Fitzpatrick, Pres.
Chicago Federation of Labor,
666 Lake Shore Drive,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

When the "affiliated Garages of Chicago" was organized I became a member but I refused to agree to employ only union labor. Due to trouble with A. G. of C. over some customers I was suspended from that organization some time last March (officially I was suspended for being behind in dues) and four days later on a Monday morning at 6 A.M. six men from Local 727 (Garage Workers Local) walked into my place of business and by threats and intimidation and against his will forced my regular man to sign an application for membership. No money was paid at that time or since. He was ordered to keep garage doors closed and prevented from taking cars out of the garage. He then called me at my home and when I arrived we started taking the cars out.

For nine weeks now my place has been picketed-two men days and one man nights. No demands have been made but on two different occasions one of the business agents suggested that I see Mr. Mermall, director of A.G. of C. and get straightened out. Does that indicate there is a working agreement between A.G. of C and Local 727?

Yours truly,
M. Hvid

Two paragraphs of letter written by Marinus Hvid to president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, bringing to his attention the labor violence at his garage. Circled paragraph voices his suspicion that the Garage Owners' association was in collusion with the Garage Workers' union.

June 7, 1939.

Mr. John Fitzpatrick, Pres.
Chicago Federation of Labor
666 Lake Shore Drive,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Fitzpatrick:

Referring to my letter of May 19th regarding the high-handed and illegal methods employed by Local 727-Garage Workers Union, working in connection with and, we understand, picketing expenses being paid by Affiliated Garages of Chicago. Please be advised that last Monday night the business agent for this section of the above Local (understand his name is Beebe) while very much under the influence of liquer, by force and abusive language attempted to prevent my attendant from getting in a customer's car to drive him home. He also attempted to persuade this customer from storing his car in my garage.

Once before this man together with two others, all of them under the influence of liquer, came in my garage and by threats and abusive language tried to intimidate my attendants into leaving their jobs.

Yours truly,
M. Hvid.

NAZIS THREATEN TO TAKE PART IN RED-FINNISH WAR

Eye British and French Aid to Helsingfors.

BERLIN, Jan. 3 (AP).—Germany's public was told for the first time tonight of the possibility of a general conflict over Finland.

An editorial commentary from the Russian military organ, Krasnaja Swesta, was generally reprinted by the controled press, with approving German comment added to it. This accused Britain and France of trying to widen the scope of their war with Germany and said the western powers, with this idea in mind, had encouraged Finland to resist Russia.

Examine Aid to Finland.

British and French aid to Finland is being scrutinized. Informed sources have suggested that Germany will not stand idly by in the event Britain and France should send troops to fight the Russians.

The press also printed demands by French newspapers urging that British and French troops be sent to Finland and warships to the Black sea. Reports of heavy British-French troop concentrations in western Asia were published.

There also was a story from Brussels, quoting French newspapers as saying France had offered to send 10,000 Alpine troops to Finland.

Any such action, authoritative Germans asserted, would force Germany to "take an active hand in the Russo-Finnish conflict." The same sources said any help Norway or Sweden might give Britain and France in getting troops or arms to Finland would be deemed a breach of neutrality.

1,000 Czechs Reported Seized.

Meanwhile, news reached the German capital that nearly 1,000 former Czecho-Slovak army officers, two journalists and several officials of the Skoda munitions works had been arrested in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

The wholesale arrests in Bohemia and Moravia were said to have taken place Dec. 17-23 but were not made known at the time. Berlin authorities denied the arrests.

Most of those arrested were charged with suspicion of conspiring against Germany, giving military information to Poland and smuggling compatriots to Poland, France, and England. Informed quarters believe German authorities obtained a clew to the activity of Czech legionnaires when Polish government records were seized.

BRITAIN SEIZES NICKEL ABOARD AMERICAN SHIP

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 3 (AP).—British contraband control authorities have seized 13,000 feet of pure nickel tubing aboard the American Export Lines' steamer Executive, a prize court writ disclosed today.

The writ notified the owners, who are engaged in the Mediterranean trade, that prize court action is being taken, but gave no details.

The American Export liner Excalibur, which was detained on Dec. 29 while 90 cases of rubber were seized, has been released.

BILL TO COMBAT OUTLAWED ARMY PASSED BY IRISH

Provides for Internment Without Trial.

DUBLIN, Jan. 4, Thursday (AP).—The government bill granting it extraordinary powers to combat the outlawed Irish Republican army was passed by the lower house of parliament early this morning, 82 to 9. The measure, which permits internment of I. R. A. suspects without trial, will go before the senate later in the day. Senate approval will make it law.

In debate on the proposal last night Justice Minister Gerald Boland charged that the I. R. A. was a highly organized band "with a war chest full of American dollars."

The parliament building was closely guarded by units of the Irish army. The meeting was closed to all but a few members of the public. Tension was increased by the fatal shooting in Cork yesterday morning of John Roche, a detective. Roche was shot when he and a companion challenged a party of men. Police arrested the group, which was quickly surrounded by an angry crowd.

Aims Basically the Same.

The bill aimed at suppression of the I. R. A. originated with Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, whose own goal—that of complete Irish unity—is basically the same as that of the I. R. A. The I. R. A., however, wants to use violence if necessary to drive the British out of the six loyalist counties of Northern Ireland [Ulster] and join them to Ireland. De Valera wants to achieve the same goal by peaceful means and maintain good relations with Great Britain, upon which Ireland is economically dependent.

While rumors of rebellion were heard thruout the country Justice Minister Boland told parliament these facts had been unearthed concerning the I. R. A.:

1. That at least 100 persons were involved in a raid on the Phoenix park arsenal Dec. 23, in which more than a million rounds of ammunition was seized.

Instructed in Bomb Making.

2. That the I. R. A. had a well equipped explosives laboratory in the Killiney district of Dublin where men were taught how to make bombs.

3. That the I. R. A. had large sums of American money and large quantities of ammunition at its disposal.

Boland said that American dollars had been found in a house in Dublin. Asked who sent them, Boland answered:

"We have a shrewd idea, but we do not want to mention names."

[A campaign for funds for the Irish Republican army has been carried on in the United States. Sean Russell, who called himself commander in chief of the I. R. A., was on a fund raising tour when he was arrested in Detroit, Mich., just before the arrival in Windsor, Ont., last June of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain. Windsor is across the Detroit river from the Michigan metropolis. Russell later was released.]

Strongest objection to the bill was expressed by William T. Cosgrave, leader of the Fine Gael, the government's opposition. He called the proposal unconstitutional, and declared the government should have asked for a constitutional amendment instead.

The government disclosed that De Valera had urged the British government to commute the sentences of Peter Barnes and James Richards, who were condemned to death at Birmingham, England, in connection with an I. R. A. bombing at Coventry last Aug. 25.

4 CLIPPERS FLY ATLANTIC OCEAN AT SAME TIME

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 3 (AP).—Four Pan-American clippers coursed the Atlantic between here and the Azores tonight, the first time in trans-Atlantic flying that so many have done so simultaneously. Heavy seas at Horta, the Azores, had delayed two big planes at each base. The American Clipper, after waiting here 11 days, took off for the Azores and was followed by the Yankee Clipper, which had been delayed five days. The Dixie and Atlantic Clippers left the Azores for Bermuda.

Fire in Toronto Gallery Destroys European Art

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 3 (AP).—Famous paintings brought here from Europe for safekeeping during the war were either damaged or destroyed tonight in a fire in the Metropolitan Gallery of Fine Arts. Manager Lewis Plummer said some of the pictures were ruined, but that others might be restored. A painting of Christ at the wedding feast, by Bassano, recently valued at $15,000, was badly damaged, Plummer said. Ferdinand Bol's famous painting, "Handwriting on the Wall," was lost, he said.

Wedding Revealed

JANE SHADDUCK.

Great Barrington, Mass., Jan. 3 [Special].—Jane Shadduck, actress and ex-wife of Playwright Jack Kirkland and Henry J. Topping Jr., eloped to Bel Air, Md., last Nov. 14 and was married to Dr. Richard C. Durant, it was revealed by the bridegroom's mother here today. They left by plane yesterday for the west coast and will sail for the bride's home in Honolulu. Miss Shadduck married Kirkland in March, 1934 and divorced him August, 1935. Shortly thereafter she married Henry J. Topping Jr., heir to a tinplate fortune. That marriage ended in a divorce in Bridgeport in 1936 in which Topping is reported to have given her alimony of $200,000.

FRENCH DOWN 2 GERMAN PLANES ON WEST FRONT

British Craft, Fleeing Nazis, Crashes.

PARIS, Jan. 3 (AP).—Two German planes were shot down today and reconnaissance parties were successful on the western front, the French high command reported tonight.

Its communique stated: "During the day our patrols and reconnaissance parties successfully fulfilled their missions at various points of the front. Toward noon two enemy planes were brought down by our fighters."

Fleeing British Plane Falls.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 3 (AP).—A British warplane pursued from German territory by two German Messerschmitt planes today fell in flames in Belgium, killing one flyer and injuring two others seriously. The plane fell about six miles from the German city of Aix-la-Chapelle [Aachen].

19 Planes Clash; None Lost.

BERLIN, Jan. 3 (AP).—DNB, German official news agency, said today that an official war summary mention of border guard flights yesterday on the western front referred to a clash of 19 planes.

Twelve enemy planes and seven German craft, DNB said, clashed near Merzig, on the north flank of the front, but not one was downed. No enemy craft was able to cross into Germany, DNB added, but some German "reconnaissance planes skilfully evaded enemy defense over France."

VILLAGES SWEPT AWAY BY NEW TURKISH FLOODS

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 3 (AP).—Death and destruction from raging rivers in earthquake stricken and flood ravaged Turkey increased hourly tonight as torrential rains fell again thruout the nation. The Euphrates river broke its banks and swept thru rich valleys. Whole settlements were carried away.

At least 1,500 men, women, and children have been reported drowned in western Anatolia, where many villages were submerged and rivers were rising. One report said that rivers washed away 2,500 buildings in which many inhabitants, crouching in terror, were carried to their deaths. The extent of the damage and loss of life in the Euphrates area, could not be ascertained because of impaired communications.

In the Yozgad area, a new earthquake caused hundreds of buildings to collapse and made nearly 1,000 more persons homeless. The quake came while relief organizations were bringing aid to survivors of a series of earth shocks last month which caused an estimated 45,000 deaths.

COURT REFUSES TO SEND COUPLE BACK TO POLAND

Deportation Inhuman Now, Federal Judges Rule.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals refused yesterday to order an alien Chicago couple, who entered the country illegally 11 years ago, deported to Poland. It was the first time since the war started that the courts in this district have taken notice of conditions abroad.

"Deportation to Poland is fraught with serious and harsh consequences," the Circuit court stated. "Poland today is in a chaotic state of great political uncertainty and represents, at the most, a broken country, divided between the powers at war. We do not hesitate in stating that deportation to the Poland we know today is inhuman and shocking to the senses. If deported at all, these people should be deported to Canada."

Earlier Decision Reversed.

The couple thus saved from returning to their war torn native land are Stanislaw Boraca, 40 years old, and his wife, Agnes, 35, of 2611 Rice street. They have a son, Arthur, 8, who was born in this country.

Several months ago Judge Charles E. Woodward, in federal District court, ordered the Boracas deported. This decision was reversed by yesterday's opinion, written by Judge Otto Kerner, with Judges Walter Treanor and Will M. Sparks concurring.

The ruling, however, will not permit the Boracas to remain in this country indefinitely, immigration authorities explained. Having entered illegally, they would never be eligible to become citizens. A. Bradley Eben, assistant United States attorney, said the government will seek to have them deported to Canada.

Both Natives of Poland.

Boraca came here from Canada in 1928, two years after emigrating from Poland. He had married Agnes Szukula in British Columbia. She told him she was an American citizen and Boraca thought that made him one, too. Both, it developed later, were natives of the Polish corridor, now part of the German reich.

Boraca is an interior decorator and a bartender. Last night the court's decision occasioned a celebration in his home.

SNOW AND BEER CHARGES BRING WIFE A DIVORCE

Mrs. Ruby Ludwig of 423 East 112th street had two complaints against Irvin Ludwig. Sometimes he would come home at 2 a. m. and insist that she shovel snow from the sidewalk, she told Judge William V. Brothers yesterday. And sometimes, she said, Ludwig would send her out to buy him beer after all the liquor stores had closed. If she refused, he slapped her, according to her attorney, Norman Becker.

Mrs. Ruby Ludwig.

Mrs. Ludwig, who is 24 years old, received a divorce. Ludwig, an engraver, was ordered to pay her $15 a week for support of a son, Charles, 3. The Ludwigs were married in 1933. They separated Sept. 10, 1938.

185,365 GERMANS IN ITALY VOTE TO GO TO GERMANY

ROME, Jan. 4 Thursday (AP).—Italian officials announced early today that 185,365 German residents of Italy had voted to go to Germany under a repatriation scheme intended to end a minority problem between the two nations.

Of the total, 166,488 were inhabitants of Bolzano province, which has the densest population of German origin. There were 16,572 from the mixed language provinces of Trento, Udine and Belluno, and 2,305 persons living elsewhere in Italy.

BRITISH SCUTTLE 20 VESSELS TO GUARD NAVY BASE

Wrecks Clog Channel of Scapa Flow.

New York, Jan. 3 [Special].—While the scuttling of the Admiral Graf Spee and German merchantmen has been making world headlines, the British navy quietly has been sinking cargo ships of its own, but for a different purpose.

The story was told today by two Australian assistant engineers, Frank Davies and John K. Newton, who arrived in New York aboard the liner Georgic. They were members of the crew of a 10,000 ton British merchant vessel, one of 20 scuttled in the channel of Scapa Flow to prevent entrance of German submarines into the Scottish naval base. Early in the war a German U-boat entered Scapa Flow and sank the battleship Royal Oak.

Davies and Newton, who said the name of their ship was a war secret, explained that boats were placed in position by skeleton crews. The men got off in lifeboats and the ships were then sunk by dynamite, set off electrically from shore.

Charted for Navy.

The scuttled ships, supplementing the protection afforded by mine fields, apparently are charted for the British navy so that its own vessels can avoid the wrecks.

The Swedish freighter Kiruna, carrying iron ore from Narvik to Baltimore, wirelessed at 6:30 a. m. [Chicago time] today that she had been attacked by a U-boat and was sinking about 500 miles north of the Azores. Her radio became silent then and nothing more was heard from her.

Mackay radio picked up this message from the 5,484 ton craft: "Position 45.20 north, 25.10 west, have been fired at by U-boat. Sinking slowly. Require assistance."

Lose Another Ship.

The Kiruna left Narvik Dec. 18 in command of Capt. Magnus Asklos with a crew of 39. The owners, Trafik ab Grangesberg Oxelosund of Stockholm, lost another ship today when a submarine torpedoed the 2,475 ton coastal freighter Svarton off the northeast coast of Scotland. The ship sank in a minute and a half. Twenty men were missing. Eleven survivors on a raft were rescued by a lifeboat.

The Kiruna was due at Baltimore next Saturday but her agents said she had been delayed, probably by a British contraband search at Kirkwall, Scotland. Agents said the ship carried about 6,500 tons of ore. Much of the Swedish supply has been diverted to the United States since the war began.

Fishing Trawler Missing.

LONDON, Jan. 3 (AP).—The fishing trawler, Young Harry, was reported missing today with her crew of four. Wreckage and one body, believed from the trawler, were found off the south coast after an explosion was heard.

Greek Vessel Wrecked.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 3 (AP).—The 2,239 ton Greek tanker Motorina ran aground off the Island of Chios today and was considered a total loss.

So far this year 2,749 more city vehicle stickers have been issued than during the same period last year, City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber announced yesterday. He said 121,417 licenses have been issued and $1,188,414 collected.

Better than a dozen hankies for opening STUFFY NOSTRILS

What's the use of soiling so many hankies, trying to blow mucus out of stopped-up nostrils? It only piles up the laundry bill. And remember, a lot of violent blowing only makes your nose more sore, red, unsightly, and it very often injures the delicate membranes.

A more economical and gentler way to relieve congestion in your nostrils due to a cold is to insert a little Mentholatum.

This delightful ointment will soon break up congested mucus, relieve the smothery feeling, and permit you to breathe normally through the nose. It also relieves sniffling, sneezing, swelling soreness, and redness.

Mentholatum helps in so many ways that you should always remember this: For Discomforts from Colds—Mentholatum. Link them together in your mind.

SOLDIERS GUARD HITLER'S AILING FRIEND IN BRITAIN

Ambulance Breaks Down; Surgical Care Delayed.

Back in England

Turn to the back page for an unusual picture of Miss Unity Freeman-Mitford, British admirer of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, as she arrived yesterday at Folkestone, England, from Germany. The picture was sent by radio and wirephoto.

FOLKESTONE, England, Jan. 3 (AP).—A broken down ambulance tonight delayed surgical attention for Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford at the end of her strange wartime journey home from Germany, enemy land of the man who was her friend—Adolf Hitler.

Carried down the gangplank of a channel steamer thru a line of sentries with fixed bayonets while three fighter planes droned overhead, the blonde daughter of a British peer looked pale. There was no bandage, however, and nothing visible to confirm reports she was suffering from a mysterious bullet wound.

[A dispatch from Paris said Miss Freeman-Mitford was apparently seriously wounded when she arrived in Calais, France, Tuesday night from Berne, Switzerland. She was carried to a hotel on a stretcher and was unable to walk two or three steps to an elevator. The dispatch said she was semiconscious, with the pallor of exhaustion on her gaunt cheekbones and her eyes staring vacantly thru disheveled hair.]

Ambulance Breaks Down.

She was placed in an ambulance and rushed away. The ambulance broke down ten miles out of Folkestone on its way to the Redesdale baronial country house at High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, and she was taken back to Folkestone for the night by her family.

Her father, Lord Redesdale, had bent down and kissed her gently as her stretcher, carried by two sailors, was lifted ashore in this picturesque south coast port.

The sister-in-law of Sir Oswald Mosley, head of the British Union of Fascists, was said to be too ill to talk coherently. Only her family was given a chance to speak to her.

She was reported to have been wounded strangely in Munich five days after the European war began. The London Evening News said surgeons would operate to remove a bullet from her neck.

Defends His Daughter.

Lord Redesdale, who waited at the quayside with a car and an ambulance, said his daughter's fondness for Germany and Nazi leaders had been much misrepresented here.

"I am not ashamed of anything my daughter has done in Germany," Lord Redesdale declared. "Many untrue stories have been circulated. I even have been called a Fascist."

The channel steamer from Calais arrived about 6 p. m. Miss Freeman-Mitford was accompanied from the French port by her mother, Lady Redesdale, and a sister.

Miss Freeman-Mitford's journey from Munich to Switzerland was said to have been arranged personally by Hitler, who once termed her a perfect type of Nordic beauty. She was met in Switzerland by her mother and sister.

At Shrine Circus

Herman Ramon Proske waltzing with Lilly in one of the acts in the Shrine winter circus.

Twice each day Herman Ramon Gustave Proske von Walch walks into a big cage at the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets. For company Proske has eight jungle bred tigers. He carries only a whip. No gun or chair. Yet when he speaks, the tigers obey.

The tiger act, perhaps because of Proske's nonchalance, is one of the most popular features of the Shrine Winter circus now being held in the amphitheater. The largest of the tigers weighs 650 pounds. The others aren't babies. But Proske can take meat away from them without suffering harm, or put his head in one of their mouths with the other tigers sitting within snapping distance.

Proske, an Austrian, stands only 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 138 pounds.

The circus entertainers performed yesterday for patients at the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, 2211 North Oak Park avenue, for whose benefit the circus is being given. The circus will continue thru Jan. 14.

21 CHICAGOANS GIVE $1,000 EACH TO G. O. P. IN 1939

The Republican national committee, in a report to the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington yesterday, listed the following 21 Chicagoans as having contributed $1,000 each to the party in 1939:

C. B. Goodspeed, Silas H. Strawn, T. Philip Swift, Hill Blackett, Arch W. Shaw, Ralph M. Shaw, Lester Armour, Sewell L. Avery, Mrs. Bertha Baur, Charles Dewey, Thomas E. Donnelley, Wade Fetzer, Stanley G. Harris, George T. Horton, Horace B. Horton, Dennison B. Hull, Albert D. Lasker, Donald R. McLennan, Sterling Morton, George L. Possetter, and E. L. Ryerson Jr.

Adolph Nueller of Decatur also was listed as having contributed $1,000.

SCALDING WATER IN BATHTUB KILLS FLOSSMOOR GIRL

Miss Betty Badgley, 20 years old, was scalded to death yesterday in the bathtub of her home on Brassie avenue in Flossmoor. Her mother, Mrs. Franklin Badgley, a widow, was away at the time.

The maid, Hulda Ecker, who was cleaning downstairs, heard Miss Badgley moaning when she shut off the vacuum cleaner. Rushing upstairs, the maid found Miss Badgley unconscious in the bathtub, which was filled with scalding water.

The maid pulled her out, burning her own arms from hand to elbow. A doctor was called, but Miss Badgley was dead when he arrived. She had been a semi-invalid for several years.

Fire Damages Power House of Ford Assembly Plant

Fire did $25,000 damage yesterday in the four story brick power house of the Ford Motor company assembly plant at 12600 Torrence avenue.

RAILROADS CASH IN ON ENGLAND'S CURB ON AUTOS

War Straightens Out Other Economic Jams.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 3—On England's home front the war is straightening out several economic jams, beginning with the railways.

Map locates Torquay, Penzance, and Falmouth.

The first three quarters of last year were spent by the railways in crying for authority to raise fares and freight rates. Automobile and truck traffic, they said, was ruining them.

The war has changed conditions. Gas rationing drove trucks and autos from the roads. Persons who used to ride in autos now take trains. The railroads no longer plead for a square deal, for they have cashed in, but there is talk of a raw deal for the public because of late trains, bad service, and cold compartments.

Tourists Tour at Home.

The war is making other rectifications in the home front economics. Englishmen are learning to stay at home. Because of travel difficulties, they now go to Devonshire and Cornwall, where the climate is mild, instead of to the French Riviera. Thus the local hotel and tourist industries stand to benefit, for a while at least.

Many of the English who used to go to southern France are snugly settled for the cold months at Torquay, Devonshire, or at Penzance and Falmouth, Cornwall. Others, who can't go to Paris for week-ends because of the travel difficulties, go west to Bristol and other places. The English are discovering England again. They are visiting their own watering places and spending their money in Britain. Thus the war has achieved in a few months what years of patriotic preaching had failed to do.

Riviera Has a Rival.

The coasts of Cornwall and Devonshire, curiously enough, are almost as warm as the Mediterranean coast of France. The region has flowers all winter. It has palm trees. Whatever the outcome of this war, Kipling's lines will not be upset; this island will still have "dominion over palm and pine," for it has palms in Cornwall and pines in Scotland. The mean temperature for the southwest coast is 48 degrees, only one degree less than that of the world famous French Riviera.

A Big Sum Stays Home.

Hundreds of thousands of pounds that last year went abroad are expected to go this winter into the pockets of English seaside watering places and resorts, sightseeing bus companies, railways, etc. Less money than usual, however, will be in hand for spending of this sort. The avowed policy of the government is to cut living standards about 20 per cent.

The west country towns, the towns of Cornwall and Devonshire, are changing their atmosphere as the social texture of the country is altered. They are discharging many paid air raid precaution wardens, their shops are lighted, and they have adopted the so-called synthetic starlight.

1,500 DEMOCRATS LAY OUT $25 FOR JACKSON DINNER

Gov. Horner Expected to Attend.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Gov. Horner has made reservations for the annual Jackson day dinner here next Monday, and Democratic circles yesterday were hopeful he will attend—as his first participation in a state political jamboree in more than a year. Officials from downstate and Cook county are expected to attend the banquet, which will be in the Palmer House.

Speakers, as announced yesterday, are Mayor Kelly and Senator James M. Slattery. The governor was invited to speak, but it was uncertain whether he would. The toastmaster has not been selected.

Senator Scott W. Lucas is expected to attend.

Third Terms One Topic.

One absorbing topic is third term candidacies. Gov. Horner, who has indicated he will be a candidate, is expected to confer with Mayor Kelly, now in Florida, who has indicated he is with the governor.

Meanwhile, 1,500 Democrats have made reservations to eat dinner at $25 a plate, in honor of "Old Hickory" and the retirement of the deficit of the Democratic national committee. In New York the tariff also is $25 a plate. In Washington, D. C., home of the higher salaried officials, it is $100 a plate.

Although invitations to the Washingtons were sent to Republican leaders of congress—who turned them down—the Chicago Jackson day dinner committee has tendered no bids to the G. O. P.

Searcy Tells of Testimonials.

In Springfield State Senator Earl B. Searcy declared that 27 downstate newspaper editors and publishers from 12 counties had presented him with voluntary testimonials of support in his Republican race for the governorship. Searcy reiterated his disbelief in slatemaking.

"Many advocates of Republican slates this year have done little for the party since 1932," he said. "Let some of these would-be slate makers interest themselves in carrying their communities for the party. We can reclaim Illinois in November if we employ sanity. The people still own the state."

O. L. Anderson, managing editor of the Joliet Herald-News, announced he would seek the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large in the April primaries.

JAMES ROOSEVELT TO BE INDEPENDENT PICTURE PRODUCER

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 3 [Special].—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, became an independent motion picture producer today. He signed a long term contract in behalf of his recently organized Globe Productions granting to United Artists the world distribution rights to its feature films.

Roosevelt said he would go to New York soon to complete arrangements for distributing forthcoming films. Meanwhile, he will concentrate on production personnel for his company and assign writers for the scenarios of his first two purchases. BUILDERS OF CHICAGO (19)

By CALEB

IT WAS near Joliet, where his parents from New York state had purchased land on Hickory Creek, that Harlow N. Higinbotham was born, Oct. 10, 1838. Farm ways and tasks gave him the robust constitution for a long and busy life, and his education was acquired at a neighboring school; then in Lombard University, at Galesburg, Ill., followed by business training in Chicago. Three positions—with banks in Morris, Ill., and Oconto, Wis., and lastly as bookkeeper with Cooley, Farwell & Company, already managed by Marshall Field—preceded his enlistment in the Union Army in 1862, where he became chief clerk to the Chief Quartermaster of Ohio.

The war ended, Higinbotham, now 27, was engaged as bookkeeper to Field, Palmer & Leiter, and thirteen years later was made a partner in the reorganized firm of Field, Leiter & Co. In 1866 had occurred his marriage to Miss Rachel Davidson, of Joliet; and of two sons and four daughters, two of the latter died. When Marshall Field established his own business in 1881, the former partnership was continued, with personal duties those of credit manager—work for which his prior experience had especially well fitted him.

Like his chief, Higinbotham did not forget civic and public affairs in the pursuits of merchandising. In spite of his wish to forego the honor, selection as president of the World's Columbian Exposition came as the most outstanding of his varied general activities. Piloting of this great enterprise, service on many committees, and arduous duties in his own field, were, however, competently carried through; and characteristic of his concern with municipal progress was his gift of $100,000 to the Field Columbian Museum, founded by his partner. . . .

As trustee of Northwestern University, religious and educational interests dominated Higinbotham's numerous acts of charity—such as the erection of St. Paul's Universalist Church by himself and a friend; substantial gifts to the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, which enabled the building of the Marie Chapel, named for one of his daughters; and other special beneficences, chief of which were those devoted to the Newsboys' Home and Home for Incurables.

The impress of this early business leader on the events of his day was deep, constructive and enduring. Lover of books as well as people; affable, and always interested in the endless visitors to his luxurious home; the influence of his long life was poignantly realized at his death on April 18, 1910. Men still remember Harlow N. Higinbotham as a true Chicago builder.

NEW ARCHBISHOP LONG A FRIEND OF MUNDELEIN

Installed in Milwaukee by Late Cardinal.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

While the appointment of Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch to succeed Cardinal Mundelein as head of the Chicago archdiocese came as a surprise to virtually all Catholic leaders of Chicago, several recalled that the Milwaukee prelate was one of the late Chicago cardinal's own disciples in the episcopate.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison, rector of Holy Name cathedral, on learning of the Milwaukee prelate's appointment, recalled that Cardinal Mundelein had installed Archbishop Stritch in his Milwaukee archepiscopal see. Archbishop Stritch formerly had been bishop of Toledo.

"Delighted," Says Rector.

"We are all delighted," Msgr. Morrison said last night on hearing of Archbishop Stritch's appointment. "We have known him many years. Cardinal Mundelein had a great admiration for him. He is known for his great scholarship. Archbishop Stritch is a worthy successor to the first cardinal of the west."

Archbishop Stritch, as a native of Nashville, Tenn., will be the second archbishop of Chicago to have been born in the Tennessee city. Archbishop Patrick Feehan, first archbishop of Chicago, also was a native of Nashville. Archbishop Stritch will be Chicago's fourth archbishop. Archbishop James Edward Quigley succeeded Archbishop Feehan in 1903.

The diocese of Toledo, over which Archbishop Stritch presided from 1921 until his elevation to the Milwaukee see in 1930, is known as a training ground for prelates who later became heads of far more important posts. His immediate predecessor in Toledo was the Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, present archbishop of Cleveland, O.

Milwaukee Notable Advance.

The elevation of Archbishop Stritch to Milwaukee meant a notable advancement, with oversight of the spiritual lives of more than 400,000 persons, in addition to the administration of a province which includes the diocese of Green Bay, La Crosse, and Superior, Wis.

An archbishop differs from a bishop in that an archbishop generally has leadership over a province, which is composed of several dioceses.

Archbishop Stritch's advancement to the Chicago archepiscopal see means that his immediate spiritual oversight will embrace one and a quarter million communicants. He will preside over a province which includes the dioceses of Belleville, Peoria, Rockford, and Springfield.

Procedure Carefully Developed.

The appointment of an archbishop follows carefully developed procedures. First, all eligibles for the high office recommended by ranking churchmen of the nation are weighed by the consistorial congregation in Rome, which is presided over by the pope. This congregation also includes the cardinal secretary of state, the cardinal secretary of the holy office, the prefect of the congregation of seminaries, and a group of consultors.

During his tenure of office each bishop or archbishop sends to Rome the names of three persons whom he deems worthy of being his successor. These nominations are secret. In addition each bishop or archbishop submits each year during his lifetime the names of priests he believes are qualified for the episcopal office.

Complete Information Gathered.

Then the consistorial congregation gathers complete information on the nominees, together with recommendations from the papal delegate in Washington, D. C. No law governs the selection of a successor to a see. Virtually any priest, bishop, or archbishop may be chosen. If a priest is appointed he must be made a bishop before he can be enthroned.

A priest must have served five years before he can be made a bishop and must be 35 years old.

The appointment announced last night deals only with the office of archbishop of Chicago. A cardinal, as such, does not have a successor, for the elevation to the college of cardinals is entirely separate from the appointment to an archepiscopal see.

Power Rests with Pope.

While Chicago Catholics all hope that Cardinal Mundelein's successor some time will be created a cardinal, this does not necessarily follow. The pope has power to create even a layman a cardinal. Cardinal Mundelein was archbishop of Chicago from Dec. 9, 1915, to March 24, 1924, before he was given the red hat of a cardinal.

No plans were announced last night as to when Archbishop Stritch will be enthroned as archbishop of Chicago in Holy Name cathedral. As in Cardinal Mundelein's enthronement, the occasion will be one of regal splendor, with Catholic dignitaries from Chicago and abroad participating.

Archbishop Stritch undoubtedly will occupy the archepiscopal residence at State street and North avenue, as have his predecessors.

his flock. In 1937 he forbade the playing of bingo games in his archdiocese.

He has also been active in denunciations of communistic and other theories advocating new political lineups based on class or party absolutism.

"The absolute proletariat is just as much a tyrant as the absolute monarch," he said once. "Party domination is not different in principle from prince domination. Yet we find this new political absolutism advocated in our own land by men who boast of their patriotism. Nothing is more contrary to our American liberties."

Names Washington as Ideal.

In the same lecture he pointed to George Washington as an ideal for Americans to follow.

In 1938 and 1939 he took occasion to criticize severely the cruelties of Nazi Germany to religious groups. He asserted that the tyrannical leaders of the German people were "outraging every fundamental right of man."

The administration of Archbishop Stritch has been marked by a substantial increase in the number of parishes in the Milwaukee diocese. He promoted the Catholic Youth movement and was one of the leaders in merging two church papers, the Catholic Herald and Catholic Citizen, into a modernized Herald-Citizen.

Bishop Kiley was ordained in 1911 after studying in St. Laurent college, Montreal, Que., and St. Mary's seminary, Baltimore, Md. He also studied in Rome.

First Assigned to Chicago.

His first assignment was to Chicago, where he founded the Holy Cross mission for homeless men. Later he was archdiocesan director of Catholic charities here. Pope Pius XI. gave him the title of monsignor in 1924.

Later he was spiritual director of the North American college in Rome and then American representative on the pontifical board of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. He came back to the United States in 1926 as secretary to Cardinal Bonzano, papal delegate to the Eucharistic congress held here.

ARCHBISHOP STRITCH IS FOURTH LEADER OF CHICAGO ARCHDIOCESE

The Catholic archdiocese of Chicago has had only three archbishops prior to the appointment of Archbishop Samuel Stritch yesterday since it was created an archbishopric in 1880. The first was the Most Rev. Patrick A. Feehan, D. D., who was promoted to the archbishopric on Sept. 10, 1880. He served until his death in 1902.

He was succeeded by the Most Rev. James Edward Quigley, D. D., who was appointed archbishop on Jan. 8, 1903. Archbishop Quigley died on July 10, 1915.

The late Cardinal George Mundelein, then auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn, was promoted to the see of Chicago on Dec. 9, 1915. He was created a cardinal on March 24, 1924. He died last Oct. 2.

Since his death the Most. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, has been serving as bishop-administrator.

FIND EX-TEACHER IN A COMA FROM SLEEPING POTION

Howard S. Buck, 45 years old, a former English teacher at Wright junior college and at the downtown college of the University of Chicago, was found unconscious from an overdose of a sleeping potion yesterday in his room in the Morrison hotel. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital and later was removed to the County Psychopathic hospital for observation.

Buck's mother, Mrs. Clarinda Buck of 5609 Kenwood avenue, said her son suffered a nervous breakdown recently and voluntarily went to the Kankakee state hospital.

COLLECTOR ROBBED OF $1,053.

Henry Schwartz, 1410 Howard street, a rent collector, was kidnaped by two men yesterday in front of 3630 16th street and robbed of $1,053. He was released later.

LAYMEN PRAISE APPOINTMENT OF NEW ARCHBISHOP

Call Stritch a Man of Great Ability.

The appointment of Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Milwaukee to be the new Catholic archbishop of Chicago was praised last night by leading laymen of the archdiocese. Their comments follow:

Thomas H. Cannon, international president of the Catholic Order of Foresters—"It is a most desirable choice. Archbishop Stritch is a man of great learning and of great administrative ability. And we are proud of the fact that he is a member of the Order of Foresters."

Thomas J. Condon, secretary of the Catholic Charities of Chicago—"I think that Archbishop Stritch is very capable, excellently qualified, and combines a splendid business sense with a high sense of spiritual values."

D. J. Crowley, president of the Holy Name society—"As president of the archdiocesan union of Chicago, I want to welcome Archbishop Stritch and assure him of our full support."

Lawrence A. Downs, chairman of the board of directors of the Illinois Central railroad, Knight of Malta—"I think Archbishop Stritch is an excellent man for this diocese—one of the best that could be named for it."

Michael J. Howlett, supreme director of the Knights of Columbus—"I am happy to hear of Archbishop Stritch's appointment. The Knights of Columbus will be at his service, as we have been at the service of archbishops in the past."

F. J. Lewis, manufacturer and philanthropist who built the Lewis Memorial Maternity hospital and the Lewis-Holy Name aeronautical school at Lockport—"Archbishop Stritch is one of the leading archbishops of the country. His appointment is a fine thing for Chicago. He is a capable administrator as well as a fine man from the spiritual side."

William H. Sexton, a knight of St. Gregory—"The appointment will be received by Chicago Catholics as one demonstrating the great wisdom of the church. I am delighted."

THREATENS SUIT OVER PERMIT IN EVANSTON ROW

E. Douglas Harris, 5425 Kenmore avenue, whose efforts to obtain a permit for a double driveway led to the attempted ouster of two Evanston aldermen Tuesday night, announced yesterday that he may seek a court order to force the council to grant him the permit.

The Evanston council rejected, by a vote of 9 to 7, a motion to unseat Aldermen Frank L. Campbell Jr. of the 8th ward and Edwin B. Jourdain, colored, of the 5th ward. The motion was based on an affidavit by Harris and his partner, Harry Le May, who charged that Jourdain had advised Harris to see Campbell as one who could help sway the council over to the double driveway proposition. Harris and Le May want the double driveway for a proposed filling station at 1101-03 Central avenue.

Five secret meetings of the council were held after Harris first accused Jourdain and Campbell in statements to city officials. Both denied the charge, Jourdain describing the affidavit as "a political document."

NEW MILWAUKEE PRELATE SERVED CHICAGO 15 YEARS

Archbishop Kiley Once Charities Head.

Archbishop Moses E. Kiley, newly appointed head of the Milwaukee diocese, has a rich background of service to the Roman Catholic church, which includes nearly 15 years spent in Chicago. For many of those years he was archdiocesan director of Catholic charities here.

In Milwaukee he will succeed the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, new archbishop of the Chicago archdiocese.

Born in Nova Scotia.

Born in Nova Scotia in 1876, Archbishop Kiley went to Somerville, Mass., in his youth and worked as an errand boy and later as a department store floor walker to earn money for his education. He attended St. Laurent college in Montreal and then, having decided to study for the priesthood, entered St. Mary's seminary in Baltimore in 1906.

He was sent to North American college at Rome to complete his studies. He was ordained in 1911 and on invitation of the late Archbishop Quigley accepted an assignment in the archdiocese of Chicago.

Father Kiley's deep interest in charity resulted in 1916 in his development of the Mission of the Holy Cross for homeless men in Chicago. He was named archdiocesan director of Catholic charities at that time. In recognition of his accomplishments Father Kiley was given the title of monsignor by Pope Pius XI. in 1924.

In January, 1926, Msgr. Kiley became spiritual director of the North American college at Rome. He returned to the United States some months later as secretary to the late Cardinal John Bonzano, papal legate to the International Eucharistic congress in Chicago.

Sent to Trenton in 1934.

Msgr. Kiley remained at North American college until his appointment as bishop of Trenton, N. J., in 1934.

Bishop Kiley found the Trenton diocese heavily burdened with debt when he was installed. He made considerable strides in reducing this debt during the five years he was in office. He is known as a strict disciplinarian, but is well liked by the clergy.

In his early days in Somerville he took an active interest in the Knights of Columbus and became a member of Mount Benedict council there. In Chicago he was chaplain of the fourth degree of the Knights of Columbus.

END HOLLYWOOD TREK OF CHICAGO GIRL AND 2 BOYS

Police in Tulsa, Okla., yesterday intercepted two boys and a schoolgirl, all members of well known Chicagoland families, who said they were on their way to Hollywood, Cal. They are Sam Rinaker, 645 East College Road, Lake Forest; Miss Altha Cunningham, 73 East Elm street, and Joseph Otis III., whose father is president of the Dodge Manufacturing company in Mishawaka, Ind. Each is 17 years old.

Miss Cunningham returned to Chicago on a plane that arrived at 4 p. m. She said the boys had remained in Tulsa.

Otis and Miss Cunningham, daughter of Secor Cunningham Jr., vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company, left their homes Tuesday to return to schools in Greenwich, Conn. Tuesday afternoon young Rinaker's family [he is the son of Attorney and Mrs. Samuel N. Rinaker] asked the Lake Forest police to find him. They said he was driving the family car.

NAME EX-BAILIFF OF WILL COUNTY IN BRIBERY PLOT

Dennis Kelly, former bailiff to ex-Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Circuit court of Will county, was accused in an affidavit yesterday of trying to bribe a prospective juror who was drawn in the panel which is to sit in cases of alleged fraud in the county judicial election of last June 5. Kelly is one of the defendants facing trial.

Ray Peterson of Lockport, the prospective juror, said Kelly came to his home Tuesday night and suggested that he consider the case favorably. Peterson charged that Kelly offered to pay the difference between his fees as a juror and the wages he earns at his job.

State's Attorney Charles E. Burke said he will ask that Kelly be cited for contempt of court today.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FEDERAL BUREAU BACKS TUNNELS FOR SUPERROADS

Report Demand for Similar City and State Plans.

BY HAL FOUST.

The United States bureau of public roads, it was reported yesterday, unofficially has indorsed the construction of superhighway tunnels in Chicago, such as proposed by the Cook county highway department as connections between its projected northwest route and Lake Shore drive.

The federal engineers are said to be urging city officials to adopt the same type of underground connection between Grant park and the projected Congress street superhighway at about Des Plaines street.

The government bureau, with its control of vast sums for road building, also is said to be putting pressure on state officials in Springfield. It is reported that in a few days the Illinois highway department will be told from Washington, D. C., that in order to continue receiving its portion of federal funds for roads the state must stop dabbling in minor pavement jobs and must engage in major deathproof programs such as those proposed in Chicago.

Congress Street Plan Opposed.

The postoffice department and automobile clubs are opposed to the plans for Congress street now pending before a council subcommittee. The routing of superhighway traffic thru the Congress street arcade of the postoffice would delay Chicago's incoming and outgoing mail by impeding mail trucks. The automotive subway plan would remove this objection to the Congress street plans and also would insure rapid travel between the lake front and the west side arterial, an objective urged by the motor clubs.

The successful operation of tunnels under the Hudson river in New York is the inspiration for the Chicago proposal. Cook county would build two of these automotive tubes, each for three lanes of one way traffic, between a depressed superhighway at Clybourn avenue and Sedgwick street and Lake Shore drive and Michigan avenue at Oak street. The west bound motorway would be in Elm street and the east bound one in Hill street and Cedar street.

Details Are Undecided.

County engineers have not prepared details of these tunnel designs, but they visualize them as lined with white tile, indirectly lighted, adequated ventilated by power, and closely supervised by police. No estimate has been made on maintenance and operating costs, and this factor is restraining civic organizations from immediate indorsement of the plan.

The construction cost, with no expense for right of way or property damage, is estimated at $540 a foot for each tunnel, or $4,276,800 for the two tunnels, each three-fourths of a mile long. For two elevated highways of the same utility, also using existing streets, the construction cost would be $1,346,400 less, or $2,930,400.

Altho an elevated highway can be built as ornamental as a streamlined expansion bridge, abutting property owners prefer to bury the flow of thru traffic that is of no benefit or service to nearby real estate.

The elevated, however, in addition to a lower construction cost, has the further advantage in that it would not require artificial ventilation, artificial daytime illumination, and special police and fire protection. Furthermore, from the standpoint of motorists—who are paying for the investment with their gas taxes—driving underground, while expeditious, is not as pleasant as driving with the sky overhead.

Seized in Battle After Driving Over Fire Lines

Frank Campion, a perfume salesman, was driving in a hurry yesterday morning. So when he came to some hoselines in the 1500 block on Chicago avenue, where firemen were fighting a blaze, he started to drive right over them. Two firemen objected. Campion got out of his car. Then Detective Edward Mangan stepped up. Campion, witnesses said later, knocked Mangan down and kicked him. After that Campion was subdued and taken to the police station. He was charged with driving while intoxicated, driving over a fire hose, and assaulting an officer. Campion lives at 4900 Blackstone avenue.

PEDESTRIAN HIT BY TAXICAB DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Joseph Blaskey, 56 years old, 3817 North Sawyer avenue, an employé of the Chicago Surface Lines, died in the Washington Boulevard hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Christmas day. He was struck by a taxicab while waiting for a street car in front of 321 South Kedzie avenue. The cab driver was John Giennini, 2036 Warren boulevard.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 10 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since the first of the new year. Of these seven were killed in Chicago, where 200 were injured in the same period.

SONSTEBY ASKS COURT TO THROW OUT LIBEL SUIT

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court filed in the Circuit court yesterday a motion to strike the $250,000 libel suit filed against him by Judge Eugene J. Holland of the Municipal court. In effect, Judge Sonsteby asked that the case be thrown out of court.

Among the reasons listed were: The complaint shows no cause for action, nor does it charge the chief justice with any acts that would bring Judge Holland into public ridicule. Judge Sonsteby also declared that in his capacity as a public official he had a right to write letters commenting on Judge Holland and that "the utterance was in good faith, in the public interest, and without malice."

Judge Holland filed his suit against Judge Sonsteby and Bertram J. Cahn, head of the Chicago Crime Commission, jointly after Sonsteby ordered that no more cases be assigned to him. This order was given after Holland refused to testify before the grand jury in regard to the death of Edward J. O'Hare, head of the Sportsman's Park race track and once a business associate of the judge.

Wife, 36, Fatally Injured in Plunge from Apartment

Mrs. Nancy Gross, 36 years old, was injured fatally last night in a plunge from the window of her fourth floor apartment at 4530 Malden street. She died in Ravenswood hospital. Mrs. Gross' husband, Arthur, a barber, was at work at the time. He said his wife had complained of a stomach ache yesterday morning but otherwise had seemed to be in good spirits.

IT WASN'T A QUAKE, BUT A BUS SHAKING MR. MANN'S HOUSE

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3 [Special].—"It's just one of those earthquakes," said Charles W. Mann, when his house shook and trembled at their farm, nine miles south of here today.

Mrs. Mann wasn't so sure, and when she opened the basement door she found a Greyhound bus poking its radiator thru the crumpled wall of the house. Eight of the 22 students aboard, returning to the Indiana university campus at Bloomington after Christmas vacation, were injured sufficiently to be taken back to an Indianapolis hospital.

The bus driver said he swerved to miss another automobile.

STRIKE DECISIONS DRAW ATTENTION TO HIGHER COURT

Picket Violence Upheld; Damages Set Aside.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3.—Five Roosevelt appointees are the active judges of the Third United States Circuit Court of Appeals here which recently has received public attention because of these factors:

1. A decision reaffirming its position that "minor disturbances" on the picket line should not deprive a striker of reinstatement in his job.

2. A decision setting aside a lower court verdict holding a labor union liable for damages to a concern during a sitdown strike.

3. The anticipated elevation by President Roosevelt of Judge Francis Biddle, former chairman of the National Labor Relations board, to the solicitor generalship of the United States. Washington reports predict that Biddle will be succeeded on the Third Circuit by J. Warren Madden, present head of the NLRB.

Three Other Democrats.

In addition to Judge Biddle—of the Philadelphia Biddles—three other Democrats and one Republican are active on the Third Circuit bench.

They are:

Judge John Biggs Jr. of Delaware, educated at Princeton and Harvard, former chairman of the Delaware Democratic state committee and chairman of his state's delegations to both the 1932 and 1936 Democratic conventions. A writer as well as a lawyer, Judge Biggs was named to the Circuit bench by President Roosevelt in 1937.

Judge Albert Branson Maris of Pennsylvania, former chairman of the Delaware county [Philadelphia] Democratic committee and former member of the Democratic state committee. Named a federal District judge in 1936 by Mr. Roosevelt, he was pushed to the Circuit court two years later.

Judge Charles Alvin Jones of Pennsylvania who, as Democratic nominee for governor in 1938, was defeated by almost 300,000 votes by Gov. Arthur H. James, a Republican. Judge Jones was a Pittsburgh lawyer.

Clark Backed by Drys.

Judge William Clark of New Jersey, a Republican. Holder of three degrees from Harvard, Judge Clark was appointed a District judge by President Coolidge in 1925—an appointment backed by Wayne B. Wheeler, who was general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, and by Mabel Walker Willebrandt, then assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement.

In 1930, Judge Clark may have confounded these backers with a decision invalidating the 18th amendment. He was moved upward to the Circuit bench by President Roosevelt in 1938.

Judge Biddle was born in Paris and is another Harvard man. He was secretary to the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme court for one year and was chairman of the NLRB from 1934 to 1935.

Order Back Wages Paid.

Judges of the Third Circuit twice have held that a little violence in strikes was not sufficient to forfeit the job rights of those who engaged in it.

The second and most lengthy exposition of this point was written by Judge Maris in the recent decision upholding a labor board order against the Republic Steel corporation calling for reinstatement of more than 5,000 C. I. O. steel workers dismissed in the "little steel" strike of 1937, and for payment of back wages which may total $7,500,000. The Circuit court decree to this effect was signed yesterday.

Judge Maris' opinion, in which Judges Biggs and Clark concurred—with Judge Biddle not participating—discussed violence in connection with the reinstatement of the steel strikers.

Intended by Congress.

"We think," reads this section of the Maris opinion, "it must be conceded that some disorder unfortunately is quite usual in any extensive or long drawn out strike.

"A strike is essentially a battle waged with economic weapons. Engaged in it are human beings whose feelings are stirred to the depths. Rising passions call for hot words. Hot words lead to blows on the picket line.

"The transformation from economic to physical combat by those engaged in the contest is difficult to prevent, even when cool heads direct the fight. Violence of this nature, however much it be regretted, must have been in the contemplation of the congress when it provided in section 13 [of the National Labor Relations act] that nothing herein should be construed so as to interfere with or impede or diminish in any way the right to strike.

"If this were not so, the rights afforded to employes by the act would be indeed illusory. We accordingly recently held that it was not intended by the act that minor disturbances of this nature should deprive a striker of the possibility of reinstatement."

Uphold Ouster of Union.

This reference to an earlier decision on the point concerns the Stackpole Carbon company case, in which the 3d Circuit upheld the right of the labor board to invalidate a contract between an employer and a company union.

The decision, written in this case by Judge Biggs and concurred in by Judge Clark and Judge J. Warren Davis, now retired, upheld the board in ordering the Stackpole company, which manufactures carbon products and radio parts in St. Mary's and Johnsonburg, Pa., to disband its company union.

The court also dismissed arguments by counsel for the company that the strikers had forfeited their rights by engaging in force and violence against the company and nonstrikers in a 1937 C. I. O. strike.

Judge Biggs said that, except for one instance involving alleged use of explosives, the disorders consisted of fist fights.

Strike Damages Set Aside.

Judge Biggs also wrote the opinion in another decision which has drawn much attention to the 3d Circuit—the setting aside of the verdict holding a union liable for sitdown strike damages.

This was the Apex Hosiery company case, in which a District court jury awarded the company a triple damage verdict totaling $711,932 against branch No. 1 of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, a C. I. O. union, and its president, William M. Leader.

C. I. O. sitdown strikers occupied the Apex plant from May 6, 1937, to June 23, 1937, but their occupancy, Judge Biggs ruled, did not violate the Sherman and Clayton antitrust laws in relation to the interruption of interstate commerce, as was contended.

Intentions Are Lauded.

"On the contrary," Judge Biggs wrote, with Judges Maris and Clark agreeing, "their [the strikers']-intent was to unionize the appellee's plant, an action local in motive and local in effect. The effect upon interstate commerce was merely indirect, incidental, and remote."

Judge Clark, whose opinions frequently are decorated by quotations from Gilbert and Sullivan, from Martial's "Epigrams," and occasionally by such a phrase as "caviar to the general," wrote another recent 3d Circuit opinion holding that public school children do not have to salute the American flag if that ceremony violates their religious convictions.

A Giant Lemon

Lemon measuring 18 inches one way by 16 inches the other, compared with standard size lemon placed on top of it.

Miss Maude Schurer, 4223 Adams street, yesterday exhibited four huge lemons grown at her Merrit Island, Fla., grove. She's had what she thought were large lemons in other years, enormous yellow globes 12 by 10 inches in size, but she now considers them puny memories compared with this year's crop.

100 STRICKEN AT MANTENO IN NEW OUTBREAK

Suspect Food Poisoning Caused Illness.

Dr. Walter H. Baer, acting managing officer of the Manteno State hospital, where 53 persons died during a typhoid fever epidemic last summer and fall, began an investigation yesterday of a new illness that has afflicted 100 patients. All were stricken early this week. Food poisoning was suspected.

Dr. Walter H. Baer.

Dr. Baer was among those affected, and he said last night he was nearly back to normal and was working. He described the illness as a gastro-intestinal upset. The state health department said it was not ptomaine poisoning.

All Food to Be Investigated.

"It was not confined to any one cottage or group eating at any particular dining room," Dr. Baer said. "The persons who became ill were nearly all receiving special food prescribed by their attending physicians.

"We are investigating all items of food eaten in the hospital during the past week. Personally I thought my trouble came from some ham I had eaten. But I don't want to say at this time that the illness of the others was caused by ham or any other kind of meat. We want to find out exactly what caused the trouble."

The patients at the Manteno hospital live in 52 cottages. The institution operates a farm and grows some of its supplies. It raises a few pigs, Dr. Baer said, but not enough to supply meat for the institution. The ham he had eaten was not home raised, he said.

Four Under Indictment.

Dr. Baer was placed in charge of the hospital after the suspension of Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, who was in charge of it from the day it was opened eight years ago until last November. A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare; Dr. Hinton, Dr. D. L. Steinberg, assistant managing officer, and Mrs. Lillian Williams, hospital dietitian, were indicted for malfeasance in office by a Kankakee county grand jury after an investigation into the typhoid epidemic and the 53 deaths.

The officials are now seeking a change of venue from Kankakee county. A motion to quash the indictments is pending.

6 U. OF C. CO-EDS VIE FOR WATER CARNIVAL CROWN

Six University of Chicago girl students were nominated yesterday by members of the student body to preside as "Campus Dream Girl" over the water carnival in Bartlett gymnasium next Friday and Saturday. The carnival is being given by the Dolphin club, men's swimming organization, and the Tarpon club for women. Girls in the running are Dorothy Dieckmann, 5219 Greenwood avenue; Gail Grassick, Providence, R. I.; Shirley Borman, St. Charles, Kane county; Margaret Peacock, and her sister, Janet, 6801 Clyde avenue, and Kay Chittenden, 7300 Constance avenue.

OVERCOME BY GAS IN APARTMENT.

A. B. Adrian, 63 years old, a salesman, was in a critical condition yesterday in County hospital after he was found overcome by gas in his apartment in the Drexel Arms hotel, 3933 Drexel boulevard. He had left a farewell note.

TWO WAUKEGAN YOUTHS HELD IN FIREBUG INQUIRY

Deny Setting Blazes, but Admit False Alarm.

Two Waukegan high school boys who have confessed telephoning the fire department a false alarm were being questioned last night about the 14 incendiary fires which caused $45,000 damage in Waukegan last fall.

Bruce Adams.

Chief Adolph Francke of the fire department said the boys admitted that the fire alarm was the ninth telephone hoax they perpetrated within a few hours on Tuesday. They denied all knowledge of the origin of the fires.

Find Map On Fires.

Francke emphasized that he had no evidence linking the boys with the fires, but said that a map on which all the incendiary fires were marked was found in the home of one of the youths.

The boys are Bruce Adams, 18 years old, of 225 North Utica street, and Wesley Moody, 17, of 1020 Poplar street, both of Waukegan. Both expect to be graduated next month from the Waukegan Township High school.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Frank Doherty subjected Adams to tests on a lie detector machine, which indicated his statements were true. The pair were formally charged with turning in a false alarm. They were released on bonds of $500 each.

Call Traced to Home.

Fire department officials picked up their trail after the firemen were summoned to H. H. Lepper's mineral bath establishment at 216 North Utica street in the suburb. Lepper reported that ice cream and beer trucks and taxicabs had been arriving for hours in response to telephone hoax calls. Francke traced the fire alarm to the Adams home, where both boys were found. They admitted they had been making the telephone calls for the amusement of watching the drivers' puzzled looks as they left the Lepper place across the street.

The map was in the Adams home. Young Adams said he is an amateur photographer and went to all the fires to take pictures. Asked the meaning of other marks on the map he said they were vacant buildings which he thought the firebug might burn.

THE CRIME CLOCK
Chicago's Record Since Jan. 1

"Half of all the crimes in Cook county are committed by repeaters."—The Chicago Crime Commission.

GEORGE W. GORE AND HIS FAMILY SENT TO PRISON

Benton, Ill., Jan. 3 [Special].—Dr. George W. Gore Sr., was taken to prison to begin serving a 14 year sentence for manslaughter today about the same time his son, George Jr., and the latter's wife were sentenced in Jackson, Mo., to serve terms of four years for grand larceny.

Dr. Gore, 65 years old, was taken to the southern Illinois penitentiary in Menard. A jury once convicted him and directed that he be electrocuted, but he subsequently got the prison sentence on a guilty plea after obtaining a new trial. He was charged with killing his first wife's nephew, Carl Choisser, Benton attorney and publisher, on Sept. 25.

Young Gore, 32, and his wife, Katherine, 22, pleaded guilty to the theft of $570 from a woman who formerly resided in the same rooming house with them in Cape Girardeau, Mo. The young man was tried and acquitted of murder in the slaying of his stepmother, Nancy Gore, last summer. Choisser was to have been his attorney.

HELD TO JURY ON NARCOTICS CHARGE. Otto Basta, 1229 Madison street, was held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of possessing narcotics.

HONOR STUDENT SLAYS MOTHER, TRIES SUICIDE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 3 (AP).—A university graduate student strangled her mother last night in a hotel, brooded by the body for hours, and then vainly attempted suicide in a leap from a fourth floor hotel window early today.

Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan said the young woman, Agnes West, 34 year old Phi Beta Kappa student and graduate assistant librarian at West Virginia university, killed her mother, Mrs. Helen G. West, 58, to avoid a return to a state mental hospital in Huntington W. Va.

In Huntington Dr. E. S. Reaser, psychiatrist at the hospital, said arrangements had been made to re-admit Miss West as a voluntary patient today. She had been treated in 1938, he said, for a depressed mental condition.

1,590,861 Pay Visit to Zoo, Not Counting the Stork

Director Edward H. Bean proudly announced yesterday that the Brookfield zoo had 1,590,861 visitors last year. But this year will be the big year, he said. He's expecting the stork to bring a baby elephant and a baby giraffe.

PRESIDENT GETS QUICK REACTION TO HIS MESSAGE

Praise and Criticism Are Showered on Him.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Mingled praise and criticism followed the President's message to the third session of the 76th congress today in which Mr. Roosevelt dwelt on the European war as a crisis for the United States of America overshadowing domestic economic problems.

While the administration leaders in congress and the New Dealers acclaimed the message as a state paper of the first order, the Republicans and some of the conservative Democrats took issue with many of the chief executive's proposals and pronouncements.

One of the chief points in the message which drew immediate criticism was his proposal for additional taxes to finance expenditures for national defense.

Republicans were conspicuously outspoken in condemning Mr. Roosevelt's plea for a continuation of the grant to the administration of power to make reciprocal tariff agreements with other countries without ratification by congress. Many critics viewed the emphasis on the war as Mr. Roosevelt's campaign alibi for the failure of New Deal panaceas for recovery.

Two Divergent Comments.

To Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] the message "was a great American speech based upon American fundamentals and precepts," but to Representative George Holden Tinkham [R., Mass.] "it was an intellectual insult."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Mich.], one of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for President, said:

"The message pointed numerous lofty objectives, often submitted in a sufficiently temperate and conciliatory tone to prove an awareness that a national election is approaching. I welcome and I join his reiterated dedication to peace. I welcome his belated discovery that it is wrong to set class against class and thus destroy our unity; his eighth annual promise to reduce expenditures, sustained this time with what may be a real promise of economy; his desire to put extraordinary expenditures on a pay as you go basis.

Calls It Good Technique.

"I welcome what ought to be an end of deficit spending in his rejection of 'ways that have failed.' It is marvelous technique to charge your critics with many of your own shortcomings. Still it was a good message, in many fine aspects, and I give him my heartiest New Year's greetings."

Senator Robert A. Taft [Ohio], another contender for the Republican nomination, found a flaw in the Roosevelt pledge to keep the nation out of war.

"The President declared against military measures abroad and sending armed forces to Europe," said Senator Taft, "but he carefully avoided any declarations in favor of our remaining neutral in the European war. In fact, he still seems to favor interference in the European conflict by methods short of war as he did in his message last year. I do not think we can abandon neutrality without ultimately becoming involved in the fighting itself. No party which adopts the President's philosophy can be a peace party."

Senator Henry Styles Bridges [N. H.], another Republican presidential aspirant, said:

"To be able to take every charge that has been made against him and his New Deal and with a straight face assert that it is what his opponents have been guilty of shows Mr. Roosevelt's amazing sense of humor. For example, he calls for domestic unity when he must know that he, himself, is responsible for the lack of it."

Points to Nation's Jobless.

Sins of omission were imputed to the President by Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [Mass.], Republican leader of the house. He said: "While appreciating our concern for affairs in Europe, I am sorry the President didn't come to grips with domestic problems. The first task is to get 9 million unemployed back to work and give a little hope to 4 millions between 18 and 24 who have never had regular jobs. The message will be very disappointing to these undernourished people."

The President read his message at a joint session of both chambers in the hall of the house at 2 o'clock.

The President's only concrete legislative proposals were for retention of the reciprocal tariff and strengthening of national defense to be financed by additional taxes. The remainder of the message was a disquisition on our relation to the wars abroad, defense of New Deal measures, and an appeal for national unity.

Mr. Roosevelt emphatically disclaimed any intention of leading this country into foreign war. Nobody is proposing the sending of an American army to Europe, he insisted, but isolation from the war, he averred, is impossible.

"But there is a vast difference," he said, "between keeping out of war and pretending that this war is none of our business."

It is our business, he asserted, to the extent of encouraging the kind of peace that will sound the knell of dictators and aggressors.

There was applause for Mr. Roosevelt when he entered the house of representatives chamber, and again when he turned to leave at the conclusion of the address. The latter demonstration reached its height as he shook hands with the presiding officers, Speaker William B. Bankhead [D., Ala.] and Vice President John N. Garner. As he grasped Garner's hand the Texas contingent broke into the rebel yell in a demonstration patently a tribute to Garner, who has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

Text of President Roosevelt's Message to Congress

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress follows:

"As the congress reassembles, the impact of wars abroad makes it natural to approach 'the state of the union' thru a discussion of foreign affairs.

"But it is important that those who hear and read this message should in no way confuse that approach with any thought that our government is abandoning, or even overlooking, the great significance of its domestic policies.

Same Economic Forces.

"The social and economic forces which have been mismanaged abroad until they have resulted in revolution, dictatorship, and war are the same as those which we here are struggling to adjust peacefully at home.

"You are well aware that dictatorships—and the philosophy of force which justifies and accompanies dictatorships—have originated in almost every case in the necessity for drastic action to improve internal conditions where democratic action for one reason or another has failed to respond to modern needs and modern demands.

"It was with far sighted wisdom that the framers of the constitution brought together in one magnificent phrase three great concepts—'common defense,' 'general welfare' and 'domestic tranquility.'

Called Best Defense.

"More than a century and a half later we still believe with them that our best defense is the promotion of our general welfare and domestic tranquility.

"In previous messages to the congress I have repeatedly warned that, whether we like it or not, the daily lives of American citizens will, of necessity, feel the shock of events on other continents. This is no longer mere theory for it has been definitely proved by the facts of yesterday and today.

CITES WORLD CONDITIONS

Expresses Belief Country Can Keep Out of War.

"To say that the domestic well-being of 130 million Americans is deeply affected by the well-being or the ill-being of the populations of other nations is only to recognize in world affairs the truth we all accept in home affairs.

"If in any local unit—a city, county, state, or region—low standards of living are permitted to continue, the level of the civilization of the entire nation will be pulled downward.

"The identical principle extends to the rest of a civilized world. But there are those who wishfully insist, in innocence or ignorance or both, that the United States of America as a self-contained unit can live happily and prosperously, its future secure, inside a high wall of isolation while outside the rest of civilization and the commerce and culture of mankind are shattered.

Sure Peace Will Continue.

"I can understand the feelings of those who warn the nation that they will never again consent to the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe. But, as I remember, nobody has asked them to consent—for nobody expects such an undertaking.

"The overwhelming majority of our fellow citizens do not abandon in the slightest their hope and expectation that the United States will not become involved in military participation in the war.

"I can also understand the wishfulness of those who oversimplify the whole situation by repeating that all we have to do is to mind our own business and keep the nation out of war. But there is a vast difference between keeping out of war and pretending that this war is none of our business.

Wants Constructive Peace.

"We do not have to go to war with other nations, but at least we can strive with other nations to encourage the kind of peace that will lighten the troubles of the world, and by so doing help our own nation as well.

"I ask that all of us everywhere think things thru with the single aim of how best to serve the future of our own nation. I do not mean merely its future relationship with the outside world. I mean its domestic future as well—the work, the security, the prosperity, the happiness, the life of all the boys and girls of the United States, as they are inevitably affected by such world relationships. For it becomes clearer and clearer that the future world will be a shabby and dangerous place to live in—even for Americans to live in—if it is ruled by force in the hands of a few.

Label Belongs to All.

"Already the crash of swiftly moving events over the earth has made us all think with a longer view. Fortunately, that thinking cannot be controled by partisanship. The time is long past when any political party or any particular group can curry and capture public favor by labeling itself the 'peace party' or the 'peace bloc.' That label belongs to the whole United States and to every right thinking man, woman, and child within it.

POINTS TO PAST RECORD

Sees Nation Factor in Peace When It Comes.

"For out of all the military and diplomatic turmoil, out of all the propaganda and counterpropaganda of the present conflicts, there are two facts which stand out and which the whole world acknowledges.

"The first is that never before has the government of the United States done so much as in our recent past to establish and maintain the policy of the good neighbor with its sister nations.

"The second is that in almost every nation in the world today there is a true public belief that the United States has been, and will continue to be, a potent and active factor in seeking the reëstablishment of peace.

Clean Record of Peace.

"In these recent years we have had a clean record of peace and good-will. It is an open book that cannot be twisted or defamed. It is a record that must be continued and enlarged.

"So I hope that Americans everywhere will work out for themselves the several alternatives which lie before world civilization, which necessarily includes our own.

"We must look ahead and see the possibilities for our children if the rest of the world comes to be dominated by concentrated force alone—even though today we are a very great and a very powerful nation.

"We must look ahead and see the effect on our own future if all the small nations thruout the world have their independence snatched from them or become mere appendages to relatively vast and powerful military systems.

Urges Looking Ahead.

"We must look ahead and see the kind of lives our children would have to lead if a large part of the rest of the world were compelled to worship the god imposed by a military ruler, or were forbidden to worship God at all; if the rest of the world were forbidden to read and hear the facts—the daily news of their own and other nations—if they were deprived of the truth which makes men free.

"We must look ahead and see the effect on our future generations if world trade is controled by any nation or group of nations which sets up that control thru military force.

"It is, of course, true that the record of past centuries includes destruction of small nations, enslavement of peoples, and building of empires on the foundation of force. But wholly apart from the greater international morality which we seek today, we recognize the practical fact that with modern weapons and modern conditions, modern man can no longer live a civilized life if we are to go back to the practice of wars and conquests of the 17th and 18th centuries.

Wants Fewer Ostriches.

"Summing up this need of looking ahead, and in words of common sense and good American citizenship, I hope that we will have fewer American ostriches in our midst. It is not good for the ultimate health of ostriches to bury their heads in the sand.

"Only an ostrich would look upon these wars thru the eyes of cynicism or ridicule.

"Of course, the peoples of other nations have the right to choose their own form of government. But we in this nation still believe that such choice should be predicated on certain freedoms which we think are essential everywhere. We know that we ourselves will never be wholly safe at home unless other governments recognize such freedoms.

Points to American Nations.

"Twenty-one American republics expressing the will of 250 million people to preserve peace and freedom in this hemisphere are displaying a unanimity of ideals and practical relationships which gives hope that what is being done here can be done on other continents. We in all the Americas are coming to the realization that we can retain our respective nationalities without, at the same time, threatening the national existence of our neighbors.

"Such truly friendly relationships, for example, permit us to follow our own domestic policies with reference to our agricultural products, while at the same time we have the privilege of trying to work out mutual assistance arrangements for a world distribution of world agricultural surpluses.

"And we have been able to apply the same simple principle to many manufactured products—surpluses of which must be sold in the world export markets if we would continue a high level of production and employment.

BLAMES ECONOMIC WOES

Characterizes Them Factors in Causing Wars.

"For many years after the world war blind economic selfishness in most countries, including our own, resulted in a destructive mine-field of trade restrictions which blocked the channels of commerce among nations. This policy was one of the contributing causes of existing wars. It dammed up vast unsaleable surpluses, helping to bring about unemployment and suffering in the United States and everywhere else.

"To point the way to break up the log jam, our trade agreements act was passed—and based upon a policy of equality of treatment among nations and of mutually profitable arrangements of trade.

Calls For Flexibility.

"It is not correct to infer that legislative powers have been transferred from the congress to the executive branch of the government. Everybody recognized that general tariff legislation is a congressional function, but we know that, because of the stupendous task involved in the fashioning and passing of a general law, it is advisable to provide at times of emergency some flexibility to make the general law adjustable to quickly changing conditions.

"We are in such a time today. Our present trade agreement method provides a temporary flexibility and is, therefore, practical in the best sense. It should be kept alive to serve our trade interests—agricultural and industrial—in many valuable ways during the existing wars.

Wants Pacts Extended.

"But what is more important, the trade agreements should be extended as an indispensable part of the foundation of any stable and durable peace.

"The old conditions of world trade made for no enduring peace; and when the time comes, the United States must use its influence to open up the trade channels of the world in order that no nation need feel compelled in later days to seek by force of arms what it can well gain by peaceful conference. For this purpose we need the trade agreements act even more than when it was passed.

"I emphasize the leadership which this nation can take when the time comes for a renewal of world peace. Such an influence will be greatly weakened if this government becomes a dog in the manger of trade selfishness.

Recalls First President.

"The first president of the United States warned us against entangling foreign alliances. The present President of the United States subscribes to and follows that precept.

"But trade coöperation with the rest of the world does not violate that precept in any way.

"Even as thru these trade agreements we prepare to coöperate in a world that wants peace, we must likewise be prepared to take care of ourselves if the world cannot attain peace.

URGES STRONGER DEFENSES

Requesting Increased Funds for Army and Navy.

"For several years past we have been compelled to strengthen our own national defense. That has created a very large portion of our treasury deficits. This year, in the light of continuing world uncertainty, I am asking the congress for army and navy increases which are based not on panic, but on common sense. They are not as great as enthusiastic alarmists seek. They are not as small as unrealistic persons claiming superior private information would demand.

"As will appear in the annual budget tomorrow, the only important increase in any part of the budget is the estimate for national defense. Practically all other important items show a reduction. Therefore, in the hope that we can continue in these days of increasing economic prosperity to reduce the federal deficit, I am asking the congress to levy sufficient additional taxes to meet the emergency spending for national defense.

Promotes General Welfare.

"Behind the army and navy, of course, lies our ultimate line of defense—'the general welfare' of our people. We cannot report, despite all the progress we have made in our domestic problems — despite the fact that production is back to 1929 levels—that all our problems are solved. The fact of unemployment of millions of men and women remains a symptom of a number of difficulties in our economic system not yet adjusted.

"While the number of unemployed has decreased, while their immediate needs for food and clothing—as far as the federal government is concerned—have been largely met, while their morale has been kept alive by giving them useful public work, we have not yet found a way to employ the surplus of our labor which the efficiency of our industrial processes has created.

Spurns European Solution.

"We refuse the European solution of using the unemployed to build up excessive armaments which eventually result in dictatorships. We encourage an American way—thru an increase of national income which is the only way we can be sure will take up the slack. Much progress has been made; much remains to be done.

"We recognize that we must find an answer in terms of work and opportunity.

"The unemployment problem today has become very definitely a problem of youth as well as of age. As each year has gone by hundreds of thousands of boys and girls have come of working age. They now form an army of unused youth. They must be an especial concern of democratic government.

Looking Ahead to Life.

"We must continue, above all things, to look for a solution of their special problem. For they, looking ahead to life, are entitled to action on our part and not merely to admonitions of optimism or lectures on economic laws.

"Some in our midst have sought to instill a feeling of fear and defeatism in the minds of the American people about this problem.

"To face the task of finding jobs faster than invention can take them away—is not defeatism. To warble easy platitudes that if we will only go back to ways that have failed, everything will be all right—is not courage.

"We met a problem of real fear and real defeatism in 1933. We faced the facts — with action, not with words.

CLAIMS SOUND BUILDING

Calls for Continued Progress in Social Fields.

"The American people will reject the doctrine of fear, confident that in the '30s we have been building soundly a new order of things different from the order of the '20s. In this dawn of the decade of the '40s, with our program of social improvement started, we must continue to carry on the processes of recovery so as to preserve our gains and provide jobs at living wages.

"There are, of course, many other items of great public interest which could be enumerated in this message—the continued conservation of our natural resources, the improvement of health and of education, the extension of social security to larger groups, the freeing of large areas from restricted transportation discriminations, the extension of the merit system, and many others.

Asks for National Unity.

"Our continued progress in the social and economic field is important not only for the significance of each part of it but for the total effect which our program of domestic betterment has upon that most valuable asset of a nation in dangerous times—its national unity.

"The permanent security of America in the present crisis does not lie in armed force alone. What we face is a set of world-wide forces of disintegration—vicious, ruthless, destructive of all the moral, religious, and political standards which mankind, after centuries of struggle, has come to cherish most.

"In these moral values, in these forces which have made our nation great, we must actively and practically reassert our faith.

Safeguard of Democracy.

"These words—'national unity'—must not be allowed to become merely a high sounding phrase, a vague generality, a pious hope, to which every one can give lip-service. They must be made to have real meaning in terms of the daily thoughts and acts of every man, woman and child in our land during the coming year and the years that lie ahead.

"For national unity is, in a very real and deep sense, the fundamental safeguard of all democracy.

"Doctrines which set group against group, faith against faith, race against race, class against class, fanning the fires of hatred in men too despondent, too desperate to think for themselves, were used as rabble-rousing slogans on which dictators could ride to power. And once in power they could saddle their tyrannies on whole nations, and on their weaker neighbors.

Warns of European Tricks.

"This is the danger to which we in America must begin to be more alert. For the apologists for foreign aggressors, and equally those selfish and partisan groups at home who wrap themselves in a false mantle of Americanism to promote their own economic, financial, or political advantage, are now trying European tricks upon us, seeking to muddy the stream of our national thinking, weakening us in the face of danger, by trying to set our own people to fighting among themselves.

"Such tactics are what have helped to plunge Europe into war. We must combat them, as we woud the plague, if American integrity and security are to be preserved. We cannot afford to face the future as a disunited people.

Sees Better Times Ahead.

"We must as a united people keep ablaze on this continent the flames of human liberty, of reason, of democracy and of fair play as living things to be preserved for the better world that is to come.

"Overstatement, bitterness, vituperation, and the beating of drums, have contributed mightily to ill-feeling and wars between nations. If these unnecessary and unpleasant actions are harmful in the international field, they are also hurtful in the domestic scene.

"Peace among ourselves would seem to have some of the advantage of peace between us and other nations. And in the long run history amply demonstrates that angry controversy surely wins less than calm discussion.

Voices Plea for Tolerance.

"In the spirit, therefore, of a greater unselfishness, recognizing that the world—including the United States of America—passes thru perilous times, I am very hopeful that the closing session of the 76th congress will consider the needs of the nation and of humanity with calmness, tolerance, and coöperative wisdom.

"May the year 1940 be pointed to by our children as another period when democracy justified its existence as the best instrument of government yet devised by mankind."

proposed trade agreement with Chile. Senators from the western states said they could see no logic in a program of restricted agricultural production at home while encouraging foreign competition thru the trade agreements program.

The prevailing opinion among informed members of congress is that senate ratification of every trade treaty will be required if the act is extended at all.

In addition to the three major issues raised by the President's annual message, there are many other controversies facing the present session, which is expected to run until just before the national political conventions next summer.

Debt Limitations an Issue.

Related to the issue of new taxes will be the question of increasing the statutory debt limit, which is 45 billion dollars. The President tomorrow will send up his budget message, recommending expenditures of just under 9 billion dollars and estimating the deficit for the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 1941, at about 2 billion, 800 million dollars.

Since the national debt already is in excess of 42 billion dollars and will be in excess of 44 billions by next June 30, such a deficit for the next fiscal year would require an increase in the statutory debt limit.

Modification of the Wagner labor relations act and amendments to the minimum wage and maximum hour law will be major issues during the present session.

The administration will seek to prevent any tampering with the Wagner act. It favors amendment of the wage and hour law to exempt so-called white collar workers receiving $200 a month or more, but is reluctant to call up such a measure in the house for fear the Barden substitute, exempting thousands of workers in agricultural and related industries, will be adopted instead.

Fight Over Pensions.

A battle over the old age pension issue was assured today when Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] introduced his amendment requiring the federal government to match state contributions for old age assistance at the ratio of two dollars for one instead of dollar for dollar, as provided by the social security act. This amendment was defeated after a prolonged struggle at the last regular session, and this being an election year it will be pressed with even greater determination.

There will be a fight over the financing of increased farm subsidies, which congress voted two years in succession despite budget recommendations to the contrary. The fight will be bitter if the Wallace certificate scheme of disguised processing taxes is urged by the administration.

The New Dealers are expected to incur their first defeat of the session when the resolution to extend the life of the Dies committee on un-American activities comes up in the house, probably next week.

Representative Stephen Bolles [R., Wis.] stole a march on many Democrats who planned a similar move when he introduced at today's session a resolution forbidding the use of any funds appropriated for the fiscal years 1940 and 1941 to maintain an embassy or any other diplomatic mission in soviet Russia.

CONGRESSMAN DIES OF HEART ATTACK AFTER PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—Representative Wallace E. Pierce, New York Republican, died suddenly today in the office of the capitol physician.

Dr. George W. Calver, physician to members of congress, said Representative Pierce complained of pain on the house floor during the delivery of President Roosevelt's annual message and later died of a heart attack in the physician's office.

Pierce, who was 58 years old, was elected to the house to succeed former Republican Leader Bertrand H. Snell, who did not seek reëlection. Pierce's home was at Plattsburg, N. Y.

Senator Carter Glass Marks His 82d Birthday Today

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 [Special].—Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.] will celebrate his 82d birthday tomorrow, but he told reporters who called to congratulate him today that it is the last thing in the world he wanted to talk about. Asked if he would run again after his present term expires in 1943, Glass said that would depend on how he felt. He was secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration and is known as the father of the federal reserve system.

ASKS CONGRESS FOR NEW POWER FOR ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—In his first communication to congress as secretary of the navy Charles A. Edison today asked for the granting of wartime powers to the President to cope with peacetime emergencies.

In a letter to Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house the secretary called upon congress to pass legislation which would permit the President to secure ships and war materials as he willed and commandeer factories and other industrial facilities in periods of national emergency.

Edison recalled that upon this country's entrance into the world war congress gave such powers to President Woodrow Wilson, and the powers still reside in the President during wars, but not in time of peace.

He proposed that the President be given dictatorial powers over industry in peacetime emergencies so that the chief executive would be better enabled to meet crises when they arise.

DIES PRESENTS PROOF OF REDS' DICTATOR PLOT

Asks Congress for Power to Go On with Probe.

changing the form of government of the United States, it is the opinion of the committee that the party's activities constitute a violation of the treaty of recognition entered into between the government of the United States and the U. S. S. R. in 1933."

The evidence for these conclusions, the committee stated, came from the admissions of communist leaders, from the testimony of former leaders and from the official literature and publications of the communist party and of the comintern.

"It was clear," the report declared, "from the testimony of every present member of the communist party who appeared before the committee, that his primary loyalty in the event of any conflict between the United States and the soviet union would force him to choose the side of the soviets. Earl Browder, general secretary, admitted that he would attempt to turn an aggressive war into a civil war in the United States."

Fertile Field for Spies.

The report reviewed the extensive evidence that the soviet government maintains a far-flung system of secret service agents engaged in espionage in the United States. These agents, the report stated, have looked upon the United States as one of the countries in which their work has been done with least interference from governmental agencies.

In this connection, the report discussed at length the evidence regarding the American League for Peace and Democracy, which numbers hundreds of government employés among the membership of its Washington branch.

"The committee finds on the basis of overwhelming and conclusive evidence that the American League for Peace and Democracy is a communist 'front' organization," the report declared.

Government Aids Belong.

"Nuclei of the league are now formed in more than a score of government agencies. H. C. Lamberton, chairman of the Washington branch of the league, testified under oath before the committee that there are 700 government employés who are members of the league.

"The committee believes that earnest Americans who seek the solution of their country's problems within the framework of our constitutional government should either refrain from lending their names to organizations with which they are not completely familiar or else should be sufficiently active in such organizations to make sure that they, and not any foreign dominated group, control its activities.

"The committee believes it is especially important that such a policy should be pursued by persons employed by the government of the nation."

Red "Front" Identified.

The report named the following organizations as other "front organizations" for the communist party: International Workers' order; American Student union; Friends of the Soviet Union; National Negro congress; Southern Negro Youth congress; League of American Writers; Workers' alliance [organization of WPA workers]; Spanish Refugee Relief campaign; North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy; Friends of the Abraham Lincoln brigade.

The American Youth congress, which has been defended by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President; the Young Communist league and other communistic organizations, although comprising a minority of the membership, have exerted an influence out of all proportion to their size, the report stated.

The communist party has centered its attempts to influence the American labor movement upon the Congress of Industrial Organizations, led by John L. Lewis, the report stated. Evidence indicates that the leadership of 10 or 12 of the constituent unions of the C. I. O. is tinged with communism, the report declared.

"The evidence shows," the committee reported, "that some of their leaders are either card-holding members of the communist party or subservient followers of that party's line.

"In the rank and file membership of these unions, on the contrary, the proportion of communists and communist sympathizers is very small indeed. It is plain to this committee that the situation which does pertain in these organizations is the most serious one, both from the standpoint of American industries and from the standpoint of the organized labor movement itself."

C. I. O. Unions Penetrated.

Communist leadership, the report stated, is entrenched in the following C. I. O. organizations: National Maritime union; United Cannery, Packing and Allied workers; Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists, and Technicians; Fur Workers' International union; International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union; Transport Workers' union; United Office and Professional Workers' union; American Communications association; United Electrical Radio and Mechanical Workers' of America, and the United Furniture Workers of America.

Of the Nazi-Fascist organizations in the United States, the committee reported:

"From the evidence which has been heard the primary aims of these groups appear to be [1] a radical change in the American form of government and [2] the collection of dues from such misguided citizens as will contribute to their support.

"The evidence also reflects that these various groups are engaged in a form of racketeering as well as in subversive activities. When the money ceases to flow into the coffers of one organization, they abandon it and start another one. These groups make their chief appeal to the basest forms of religious and racial hatred. They promise to deliver this country from the menace of communism, they heap scorn upon the institutions of democracy, and they urge the short cuts of force and violence."

DAIRY REDUCES PRICE OF MILK IN STORES TO 8½ CENTS A QUART

A reduction in the price of grade A milk to 8½ cents a quart was announced yesterday by Walter R. Schaub, president of the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc. This is a drop of 1½ to 2 cents a quart from the previously prevailing prices of 10 and 10½ cents. The new price is effective today.

Two thousand Chicago stores sell Meadowmoor milk, Schaub said. The company will continue to sell its milk in regular quart bottles and will not offer two and four quart containers as several other dairies will do, beginning tomorrow, Schaub added.

The Bowman Dairy and Borden-Wieland companies announced a price reduction to 11 cents a quart from the home delivery price of 13 cents. To obtain the 11 cent price, however, it is necessary to buy a two quart container.

Schaub, whose company sells only thru stores, asserted yesterday that the price cut is being made only because he believes that single quart containers are more sanitary than the larger ones. Asked if his action presaged a milk price war, he declined to comment.

PARLEY ON WAGE CUT FOR JANITORS WILL OPEN TODAY

Officials of the Chicago Real Estate board will meet today with representatives of the Flat Janitors' union to begin negotiations for a new wage agreement for the 6,500 union janitors in the Chicago area. The realty board gave the union notice recently that the present agreement will be terminated March 1. The letter asserted that janitors' wages must be lowered to reduce operating costs. William McFetridge, president of the union, will head the negotiating committee for the janitors. Paul Casper is chairman of the committee for the realty board.

UNIONIST BALKS AT GRAND JURY BUILDING PROBE

Refuses to Testify About Tile Setters' Affairs.

The government investigation of the building industry in the Chicago area was stalled temporarily yesterday when a union official refused to testify before the grand jury. The inquiry is part of a national campaign by the government against alleged monopolies and cost raising restraints in the industry.

The witness who balked before the grand jury is Robert E. Shepherd, secretary of the Ceramic, Mosaic, and Encoustic Tile Layers' union, local 67. He appeared on the second day of the inquiry in response to one of the 75 subpenas issued by Judge Michael L. Igoe. The subpenas call for officials of 50 labor groups, contractors, and manufacturing concerns to produce their records before the jury.

Carry Records to Jury Room.

Shepherd and two assistants entered the grand jury chamber carrying stacks of ledgers, letter files, and other documents. Less than five minutes later they were excused and left the building still carrying their records.

It was learned that the union secretary refused to give testimony on the ground that he cannot rightfully be forced to testify against himself. His attorney, Benjamin H. Vanderveld, had announced that this was the course he would advise his client to take.

Can Ask Contempt Action.

The government can now bring the witness before the District court with the request that he be held in contempt if he continues to refuse to testify. In a statement issued Tuesday, Shepherd termed as "ridiculous" the thought of price fixing in the tile industry in Chicago. His union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Numerous other witnesses were heard yesterday. It is expected that all told about 450 will be called before the inquiry is completed. Approximately five months will be needed for the hearings. The early phases relating to the tile industry will take several weeks.

Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general, is in charge of the inquiry here.

Below are questions for a man to ask himself and answer about his wife. Each question has a maximum score—indicated in parenthesis. However, any number of points less than the maximum may be noted:

DEMERITS.	MERITS.
1. Moody or easily depressed. A defeatist. [6 points.]	1. Greets husband at night with a smile. [6 points.]
2. Is often whining or complaining. [6 points.]	2. Likes cultural and educational things. [6 points.]
3. Visits mother too often—a spoiled child. [30 points.]	3. Is of the same religious faith as her husband. [30 points.]
4. Tells lies—is not dependable. [30 points.]	4. Often tells husband she loves him. [30 points.]
5. Makes evening engagements without consulting husband first. [6 points.]	5. Praises marriage before young women who are contemplating matrimony. [6 points.]

10. Puts her stockings to soak in wash basin. [6 points.]	10. Keeps her husband's clothes clean and pressed. [6 points.]
Total demerits.....	Total merits.....

Strike at U. of I. Is Blamed on Failure to Let Contract

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 [Special].—George Masterson, assistant president of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters, today defended the action of his union in calling a strike at three buildings under construction on the campus of the University of Illinois at Urbana.

The walkout, ordered without a vote of local plumbers, was put into effect, Masterson said, because the university decided to have its own union plumbers perform certain work instead of dealing thru contractors.

"We think we have a real kick," he said. "We don't agree that the university is in the construction business. Its job is to teach students. Construction work should go thru regular channels. We won't supply plumbers for construction except thru contractors. We called the strike to protect our own interests."

The construction job blamed for the walkout is a comparatively minor one, involving installation of piping in a tunnel which leads from the new heating plant to several buildings on the campus.

There were ten responses when the university advertised for bids on the tunnel job. The bidders' figures, however, were from $10,000 to $35,000 above the cost as computed by engineers for the university.

School authorities concluded that they could have the work done for $66,500 by buying the materials and using their own union plumbers as foremen. Additional workers were to be hired thru the plumbers' union local in Champaign, Ill., at regular union wages and hours.

Last Friday Thomas D. Cunningham, national organizer for the union, appeared and gave notice that the plumbers and steamfitters employed on three university buildings under construction would not appear for work that day because the university had refused demands that the tunnel installation be done by a contractor.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

TOUGH ON THE LITTLE FELLOW.

The federal trade commission, in its 1938 report, proposed an amendment to the Clayton antitrust act. Section 7 of the act declares unlawful the acquisition by one corporation of the capital stock of another, when the result would be to reduce competition materially. One concern might, however, sell out its physical assets to another without running afoul of the law. The trade commission wanted this changed so as to prohibit any corporation producing 10 per cent or more of the total output of any industry from acquiring the assets of a competing firm, or its stock.

It was at once pointed out that the trade commission was shooting at the big fellows and hitting the little ones. At present the owner of a small business in an industry dominated by giants can frequently dispose of his plant to one of them advantageously if he desires to retire. But under the trade commission proposal such a sale would be illegal and the owner would have to find a buyer in another line of business. And the trade names, prestige, customer lists, and dealer organizations in one line have no sale value in another line.

Congress did not do this grave injustice to small businesses. But Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, is acting as if it did. Last week the stockholders of the Fisk Rubber corporation voted to sell the assets of their company to the United States Rubber company for about 11 million dollars. This is precisely the situation which the trade commission declared, in its annual report, the antitrust laws did not cover.

However, in a letter to the United States Rubber company Mr. Arnold stated that the sale was of doubtful validity. He said that it was his tentative judgment that the completion of the sale would violate the antitrust laws, and that he should proceed in the courts to knock it out.

Having decided that the failure of congress to give him any power over the incident was no drawback, Mr. Arnold proceeded to prescribe what the buyer should do with the business after buying it. He said in his letter: "It is important that the independence and security of the labor force employed by these two companies be not disturbed. An active Fisk dealer organization presupposes that the Fisk brand of tires be preserved and that they be made in distinct factories, with their own manufacturing personnel, rather than be merged in the larger units where their peculiar characteristics may be lost. Therefore, it becomes quite important that the present New England factories, with their labor force, be likewise preserved for the production of a distinctive and competitive product."

Where does Arnold draw authority for such an order? A number of units of government have carried on their activities in a highhanded manner during the last eight years, but none has gone further than the antitrust division since Thurman Arnold became its head. He brings his will to bear upon situations over which congress has refused to vote him any jurisdiction. Moreover, he has proceeded in an objectionable manner. Indictments have been threatened and used to attain his objectives.

Mr. Arnold has asked congress to vote to him a huge appropriation for greatly widening the scope of his activities. In passing upon his request for funds congress will be recording its position on the abuse of discretionary power by public officials.

LORD LOTHIAN.

Chicago will extend a cordial welcome to Lord Lothian for his own sake and as Britain's ambassador. He has many friends and acquaintances here, most of whom he met during and after the war when, as Philip Kerr, he served as private secretary to Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister.

Lord Lothian is coming to the center of American life to further Britain's interest. His purpose is not so much to promote his own social advancement as to win friends and support for his country. It is to be hoped that his example of single-minded service to his country and its cause will be followed by our ambassadors in foreign countries. If our representatives abroad were as devoted to America's interest as he is to Britain's, many of the misunderstandings which have vexed our foreign relations would not have occurred.

FLORIDA TRAIN SERVICE.

The fastest train service from Chicago to Miami, Fla., which went into effect on Jan. 1 provides an average speed of 46 miles per hour, a reduction of only one mile per hour from the old schedule. At the same time 13 trains are pulled for the greater part of the distance between New York and Florida by the latest type of Diesel electrics.

The first Diesel electric powered service from New York to the south was started a little over a year ago when the Seaboard put three 6,000 horse power engines in service on its Orange Blossom Specials to Miami, and followed this with its new 2,000 horse power Diesel electric powered, streamlined coach train, the Silver Meteor. Last month the Seaboard service was increased with three more Silver Meteors, stainless steel coach trains giving daily service as well as other Diesel electric powered trains. In addition the Atlantic Coast Line and the Florida East Coast railroad placed three new 2,000 horse powered coach trains in daily service between New York and Miami.

The fastest train between New York and Miami runs at an average rate of 56 miles per hour, 10 miles per hour faster than the fastest train between Chicago and the southern playground.

The Seaboard Airline is reported to have made an immediate success with its service, netting $4 per mile after all expenses. This profit at the very start has inspired the other roads to make a bid for the business. There is no question about the success of the Santa Fe with its 58 miles an hour Super-Chief to Los Angeles, or the North Western's profit in its 60 mile per hour 400 operating between Chicago and the Twin Cities. Many western streamliners average 65 miles an hour.

A 60 mile an hour train from Chicago to Miami could leave here one morning and arrive at destination the next. That kind of service would attract many among the thousands who each year drive their own cars over the indifferent roads to the southland rather than endure the rotten train service that is the best our southern connections seem willing to provide. A census of winter vacationists in Florida would undoubtedly show as many people from territory tributary to Chicago as from New York. Many of these people would not only patronize fast, thru, de luxe trains, but would ship their motor cars by rail for use at destination—a further source of rail revenue.

NO PLACE FOR TRAINED SEALS.

The Municipal court has fallen into such disrepute that some of the Republican leaders of the city think the sitting Democratic judges will be pushovers when they come up for reëlection in November. This is a mistake. They won't be pushovers unless the Republicans put up good candidates.

The course of the Democrats can be predicted, and it can hardly contribute much to redeeming the court from its present shabby reputation. The twelve incumbents, who presumably will seek reëlection, are all Democrats, and it is unlikely that more than one of them will be denied renomination. The others, the scapegraces along with the honest and capable judges, will fill the Democratic ticket.

The public must look to the Republicans if the caliber of the court is to be improved by replacing bad judges with good ones. In picking their candidates the Republican leaders should remember that the court has fallen to its present estate largely because the Democratic organization permitted its ward committeemen to pack its judicial ticket in past elections with their personal hacks.

The surest way of continuing these hacks in office is to let Republican ward committeemen put up their trained seals against them. There is no profit in replacing an unfit Democrat with an unfit Republican, and an attempt to do this will not appeal to the voters.

Petitions of candidates in the party primaries must be filed early next month. If the Republicans are to take advantage of their opportunity they must quit the practice of making Municipal court seats a perquisite of ward committeemen, and present an organization slate of able and honest candidates.

TOO MUCH POLITICAL HARMONY.

Three Republican congressional leaders are invited to the $100 Jackson day dinner of the Democrats in Washington. They are Senators McNary of Washington and Austin of Vermont, and Representative Martin of Massachusetts. Altho they are told that the dinner won't cost them a penny and that they will be treated politely, they will not go.

The dinner is priced at $100 a plate to raise money for the Democratic campaign fund. The Republicans might have some fun observing the Jacksonians trying to get their money's worth, but they can do that almost any day in a congressional restaurant. Mr. Roosevelt, encouraging the opposition attendance at the dinner, says he will make a nonpartisan speech. Nonpartisan or otherwise, that wouldn't be a treat to the Republicans. They've heard Mr. Roosevelt before and expect to hear him later.

There is a great deal of New Deal brotherly love in Washington. The Republicans are beginning to suspect that unanimous consent is sought. Why have an election?

THE WAY TO WRITE ENGLISH.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Sixty years ago Mark Twain wrote to a young friend:

"I notice that you use plain, simple language, short words and brief sentences. That is the way to write English. It is the modern way and the best way. Stick to it. An adjective habit or a wordy, diffuse, flowery habit once fastened upon a person is as hard to get rid of as any other vice."

Short words make for clearness.

Short sentences and paragraphs give punch.

When one is writing for the general reader he will get and hold the reader's interest and attention more often if he follows Mark Twain's advice than if he doesn't.

There are times, though, in this scientific age when the use of long words cannot be avoided.

We wonder, for example, what Mark Twain would have said of a proclamation by the President forbidding Americans to sell to belligerent countries diphenylaminechlorasine, trichlormethylchlorformate, trimethylenetrinitramine and a dozen other substances whose names run into five or more syllables?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THIS IS "THE PURE QUILL."

Regarding the slang expression, now rare, "the pure quill" [Jan. 1]: Georg Keeler testifies that 20 years ago he frequently heard it used in Kentucky in reference to straight run whisky, without dilution or blending. He believes that it comes from the use of reed stalks as extension pipes in primitive moonshine stills among the hillbillies, and states that he has seen such devices in operation. See Webster under "quill": Something made of or like a hollow stalk.

On the other hand "Sycamore Sam" discusses the subject as follows:

"Any kid on the banks of the Maumee, Mississinewa, or Wabash rivers in Indiana can tell you what 'the pure quill' means. In early days and up to the '90s, country doctors carried their most precious and powerful drugs in goose quills, covering the open end with a larger quill to make a capsule. This gave them a waterproof and practically unbreakable carrier. Any drug given from the quill was regarded as pure and unadulterated, and thus 'pure quill' became a rural figure of speech for uncut whisky."

We prefer the latter theory of the term's origin to Mr. Keeler's, because country doctors were more numerous than backwoods moonshiners, and more likely to influence colloquial speech. Incidentally, we prefer "the pure quill" to its modern synonym, "the real McCoy," which is a gangsterism that came into fashion in the prohibition era.

Origin of "the real McCoy"? There are various theories, but here is the most plausible: When Kid McCoy, the pugilist, went around the country giving boxing exhibitions he had numerous imitators, all frauds, calling themselves Kid McCoy. So he came to be advertised as "the real McCoy."

SONNET TO A HUMORIST.

(Mark Twain, 1835-1910.)

Wit is the knife and humor is the wheel,
The springs unquenchable whence liveliness
Derives its color, relish and appeal—
Perpetual sources of inventiveness.
When overgrown with dullness there's the knife;
When bogged in stagnant muddiness of thought,
Why, there's the wheel; and so thru this our life,
The most inveterate moralist is taught
That to assuage a long insipid hour,
To "ease the anguish" of a tedious day,
There's nothing in the calendar of power
More certain than exuberant minds at play.
Long life to masters of the jesting vein!
Summa cum laude to beloved Mark Twain!

Underground Small Town in Big City.

How many hurrying commuters coming up from South Chicago, Blue Island, Matteson, and intermediate points ever stopped to consider that the Randolph street station under the viaduct approach wouldn't be a bad place of exile, provided one became used to sleeping on hard benches? The commercial establishments crammed into this terminal rank favorably with those of a small town. A checkup shows a delicatessen, bakery, soft drink stand, drug store, candy shop, real estate office, thru railroad ticket office, shoe shine parlor, currency exchange, railroad express office, florist, barber shop, woman's accessories counter, watch repairer, restaurant and soda fountain, and a combination store selling candy, liquor, magazines, newspapers, and toys; not forgetting to mention a coin operated photo machine.

A VOICE FROM SAUGATUCK.

(In memory of Thomas Eddy Tallmadge, architect, etcher, historian, and presiding genius of the summer art school at Saugatuck, Mich.)

Not only to his human friends
He gave his gay and happy heart
But shared it with the woods and fields
And shy wild things that dwelt apart.

So some of us will never see
The poplars in the summer air,
The mists upon the dim lagoon,
But he will be beside us there.

The sands and woods will wake again
The flowers come to their rebirth,
And wonder why he does not come—
The gentlest spirit on the earth.

Shakespeare in the North Country.

When ruminating over an old time table of the Canadian Pacific railroad, the writer made some startling discoveries: Up in Saskatchewan there is the town of TRIBUNE, likewise an Old Wives, not far from Moose Jaw! Between City Junction and Vancouver you have Rhone, Jellicoe, Belfort, and Petain, no doubt taken from memories of the late war. On the same line you find the towns of Othello next to Lear. Portia, Iago, and Romeo are next to one another. Juliet is one stop removed from her Romeo and her majestic balcony is 265 feet higher up, the altitude being 3,298 against 3,033 feet, respectively. May the gentleman who names the Pullman cars please take notice!

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

RHEUMATISM: A TENACIOUS MALADY.

PARENTS are anxious to rear their offspring in safety, with adequate protection against all childhood maladies, thus insuring strong, healthy bodies well into the adult period. In certain parts of the land, where living conditions are less favorable, a substantial number of cases of rheumatic fever may appear. While the exact cause of this affliction is not known, some authorities believe that a virus infection is responsible. This, in turn, ingites streptococci to grow and contribute to the lowering of resistance.

There seems to be a predisposition to rheumatism among those who are undernourished and poorly housed. In consequence, anemia is usually added to the picture. Altho several instances may occur in a single family, this may indicate only that each member—obliged to face the same weakening environment—proves to be susceptible. We can scarcely look upon the condition as hereditary.

While we term the disease "acute," what we really mean is that a severe infection comes on suddenly altho it may persist for months or years. There is an old saying that once the disorder has taken hold, it never lets go and we recognize a rather large percentage of chronic victims among our friends and acquaintances. Much like tuberculosis, it has a tendency to survive. For a time it may be held in leash only to show itself again in some unpleasant manner.

The onset may be quite abrupt. A child with tonsilitis or a cold may waken some morning with several of the joints greatly swollen. The slightest attempt to move will be attended with pain. The temperature will be high and the little patient exceedingly uncomfortable. All too often the lining of the heart may become involved later and the tiny nodules that form on the valve leaflets may give rise to a characteristic murmur. Occasionally an attack will follow scarlet fever or some other strength-sapping disease.

Treatment is directed first against pain and the salicylates constitute our best remedies. Fairly large doses may be employed and, as long as required, they may be continued and reasonable comfort maintained. Bed rest is absolutely essential and preparations should be made for a long siege, if need be. As the swelling subsides, and joints regain their flexibility and movements, the youngster may be allowed to sit up in bed for short intervals—for example, at meal time. With the disappearance of fever, activity should be resumed cautiously and gradually. An excellent rule is to prolong confinement to bed for an additional ten days; and only after the victim has been up and about all day long for at least a fortnight, should he be allowed to exercise moderately.

The patient must be encouraged to eat generously all that his digestive organs can handle. The object, of course, is to build vitality to such a point that a relapse will be avoided. Plenty of milk, cream, vegetables, and extra vitamins should be included in the menu. If it is possible to arrange for a journey to a warmer climate, this may be of decided advantage, particularly if more open air exposure can be provided.

The significance of infections—tonsils, teeth, and sinuses—is not clear except that the absorption of pus from any area cannot fail to deplete reserve. But no operative procedures should be undertaken until recovery is complete. Many a flare-up has come subsequent to the removal of tonsils—undertaken too soon. When streptococci are prominently in the foreground, sulfanilamide may be helpful but apparently this drug has little or no effect upon the initial starter—the virus.

We must look upon this illness as an epoch in a child's life, one for which a full year of school must be sacrificed if necessary. It can handicap development and physical efficiency, and pave the way for all sorts of indispositions later in life.

Prevention, of course, is far better than cure. Every growing youngster, therefore, should have a periodical check-up to make sure that anemia has not let down the bars to microbes or viruses. Good hygiene demands ample rest, exercise, and sufficient food.

STOP EATING AIR.

E. H. writes: What causes a person's stomach to rattle? How can it be prevented? It is most noticeable in church—it seems to shake the building. My mother says it is because I do not eat sufficient breakfast on Sunday. Has this anything to do with the condition?

REPLY.

You are probably an air swallower. Eat a substantial breakfast slowly. Take plenty of time and chew each mouthful of solid food thoroly. You are more conscious of the shaking than the church.

NO.

M. D. writes: Are intestinal grippe and jaundice the same?

REPLY.

No. The first refers to an infection of the mucous lining of the bowel. Jaundice is the yellow discoloration of the skin and eyes following blocking of the outlet ducts from the liver.

HOW MUCH MILK.

H. G. writes: How much milk should a 10 year old child drink?

REPLY.

A quart daily.

IT'S A PART OF B.

W. M. writes: What is the difference between vitamin B and B-1?

REPLY.

B has many fractions. B-1—sometimes termed G—can be separated from B.

PROBABLY NOT.

B. G. writes: Will a child who had pyloric stenosis—for which surgery was necessary—have any trouble in later life?

REPLY.

As a rule no difficulty is encountered with increasing age. The stomach outlet enlarges as the child grows.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Dec. 28 [Legal Friend of the People].—Joint ownership not in common in state of Illinois between man and wife who own a homestead and factory building as stated above.

1. Can one owner sell or break joint ownership "if" the other owner does not want to sell?

2. If so, could they do so without giving legal notice to the other owner without them signing their name upon receiving the legal notice? In case of death regarding family debts, [3] where do family debts end? Do they include purchases of [4] furniture, [5] bank notes, [6] piano and music, [7] education, [8] college life, [9] department store bills, [10] doctor bills, [11] grocery bills for [12] married children and grandchildren?

Please tell me [13] the different effect on drawing money from the bank whereby banking account is joint between man and wife. These two words, or and and? I am deeply interested in the one word that both man and wife must sign the checks. MRS. M. L. K.

1. Either owner could sell his one-half of the factory property without the other's joining. This would destroy the survivorship feature. Both must join in order to convey the homestead.
2. Yes, as to the factory.
3. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing what materiality you attach to the point. We will assume that your question arises under the statutory provision making family expenses chargeable against the spouse of the person who purchases.
4, 6, 7, and 8 These would be family expenses.
5. This would not be a family expense on the bare facts stated.
9. Depends on what is bought.
10 and 11. These would ordinarily be family expenses if they were for the family.
12. If the expenses were for relatives living outside the family, then presumably they would not be included.
13. Ordinarily where the conjunction "and" is used, both parties must sign. The bank officials are in a better position than we are to state the requirements on which they would insist before paying out money.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DEED TO HOMESTEAD.

Muscatine, Ia., Dec. 20 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would appreciate your giving me some information on the following: Mr. and Mrs. "X" have six children, [1] three of them stepchildren. For a very good reason they wish to turn over the deed to their home to the eldest son.

2. Is it necessary to have the written consent of all of the children?

3. If one of the children refuses to consent to such an arrangement, is there anything that can be done about it?

4. Are there different laws in different states regarding such transactions?

R. W. B.

1. If you mean that they are stepchildren to both parents, this would be highly unusual.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.
3. If the title now stands in the name of the parents then the children have nothing to say about it.
4. We know of no jurisdiction in which the parents could not make the arrangement that you suggest, but we could have advised to better advantage if you had stated the reason for this arrangement. If you are trusting this son to make a future distribution we would be inclined to question the wisdom of the arrangement.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PORCH REPAIRS.

Chicago, Dec. 27 [Friend of the People].—I would like to report a rear porch that is in a deplorable condition. This porch has been called to the attention of the owner a number of times, but nothing has ever been done about it. The beams are rotted and pulling out from the brick wall and I am fearful that it might fall. We have to use this entrance all the time because we don't have a front entrance. Hope this condition can be rectified. T. H.

The owner of the above mentioned premises has been notified to repair rear porches and stairs and to provide two means of exit for all tenants of this building.

If this work is not done within the time specified in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

PAWNBROKER'S CHARGES.

Chicago, Dec. 8 [Legal Friend of the People].—Your reply to the following questions in an early issue of THE TRIBUNE will be immensely appreciated.

1. What is legal rate of interest on articles placed in pawn with licensed pawnbrokers in Illinois?
2. Should broker insist on interest in excess of legal rates what step should owner take to regain merchandise?

P. J. B.

1. 3% per month.
2. You might try to persuade a police officer to accompany you to the shop.

A NEW DECADE?

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Who has demoted a decade to nine years? A century is 100 years and we name centuries from the first to the 100th years inclusive. A decade is a tenth of a century; therefore a decade is from the first to the tenth year in any series, just exactly as a child must have lived 10 whole years to be 10 years old. The 20th century began with Jan. 1, 1901, it ends with Dec. 31, 2000, and all the decades in the 20th century, our own present decade included, begin with the year 1 in its series and runs to the multiple of 10, so that 1940 is the last year of the fourth decade, which began with 1931, and not the beginning of the fifth decade.

To be sure, this is the close of the decade that began in 1929, and if we wish to be arrogant about it and institute a new system, all well and good; but, the world over, 1940 is regarded as the last year in a decade, not the first year in one. C. C. LELAND.

IN NEED OF A HELPING HAND.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—I was formerly a sergeant in a machine gun battalion of the 1st division. I am taking this minute or two to tell you that I am a married man 42 years old and I have three children, ages 15, 13, and 6. I am unemployed and unable to find work of any kind.

I am a painter by trade, but I am willing to do any kind of honest work, no matter what. I can furnish the best of references where I have worked in the past if required. We are almost destitute and will be ejected from our home if I do not find a job by the first of the year.

I have too much pride to ask for relief. I have a high school education. I am 5 feet 9 inches tall and weigh 160 pounds. I am in good health and of good appearance. I will welcome investigation as to what I have told you. I need work badly and my wife and children and I would be real happy again if I only had a job, and it would be a real "Happy New Year" for us all.

A VINEGAR JUG.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—While my son was working in Franklin Grove, Ill., they were taking a large oak tree down. At the roots, imbedded, was a small jug about 8 inches tall. On it was this printing, in French:

Montande de Maille
vinaigrer a le LL. MM la Reine d'Angleterre et les Empereurs
d'Autriche et de Russie
Paris

I am quite sure it was discarded by some of the early French settlers. Would like to find out what the inscription means and the value of the jug.

MRS. B. WUERTZ.

THE CHRISTMAS TIDINGS.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Your treatment of Christmas was a notable piece of newspaper work and a joy to all Chicagoland. Many thanks from my congregation and myself. ALMER PENNEWELL, Minister,
St. John's Methodist Episcopal church.

APPEAL FOR FINLAND.

Chicago, Dec. 25.—The writer is the treasurer of the Red Cross of Finland fund, 135 South La Salle street, Chicago. Our committee is a nonincorporated organization sponsored by the Finnish Civic Association of Chicago. Our purpose is to raise funds for Finland's relief. We are not competing with Mr. Herbert Hoover's organization. Our work is mostly with our own national group and their friends.

We feel that we have an obligation to perform for Finland much greater than the sympathetic American citizens who have already responded very generously with their support. Because of this feeling our committee donates its time in order to transmit 100% of all donations received for Finland's relief. We have no paid help, no overhead expenses, no organization expenses to be deducted from the funds we collect; every penny will be turned over intact to the Red Cross of Finland. In this connection we have our own auditing committee, composed of capable professional auditors, and we further welcome any outside interested auditing group to check over our records [without any charges to us].

The Russian Bear has already received some stinging blows by walking into Finnish traps; the watchdog of western civilization is now barking. One of the foremost artillerymen in the world, Gen. Nenonen, who is now visiting here in the United States, states that as long as the ammunition holds out the Asiatic hordes shall not come thru. Our purpose is to raise money for the Red Cross of Finland and the more we do in this respect the more money will Finland be able to spare for hot lead. May our merciful Father in Heaven hold his protecting hand over the armed forces of Finland and let them emerge victorious, believing in the famous Finnish slogan, "Rehellisyys maan perii" [Honesty is the best policy]. H. H. KONTALA,
Treasurer, Red Cross of Finland Fund.

GOOD FELLOWS ALL.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—You might like to hear something further about our Christmas Good Fellow party.

The whole affair was a great success. After personal visit to the family, whose name you sent us, we felt they were worthy of any help that could be given, and our office, salesmen, and shipping room rallied to the cause with the result that over a hundred cans of staples were provided in addition to cereals, jellies, preserves, sugar, and soap—in fact, anything any one needs to supply the wants of a family. A great carton of clothing and toys was provided and also a new toy purchased for each child, marked individually with his own name. Meat and fowl to last several days was provided, and when the packages were delivered a cash contribution of $15 was handed to the father and mother.

We feel, indeed, that our party was a great success, for, instead of an hour or two of pleasure in our office, this family has been given a lift for several weeks. Everybody around here was happy about it and we are looking forward to doing the same thing again next year.

With best wishes to you and congratulations for the splendid work which you are doing and the inspiration you are to other people, we are L. C. LONG,
—for the Hyland employés.

PROBABLY THE REAL REASON.

[South Wales Echo, Cardiff.]

Chief of the gang: "We've gotta forget that lightning raid on the western front. If we got in a tough spot with the cops I've got a suspicion that that jigger next door would nip into our premises thru the back door and pinch all we've got."

During November Tribune average net paid total circulation broke all previous records for the month.

Daily circulation averaged in excess of 1,000,000. Sunday circulation averaged in excess of 1,200,000.

Tribune circulation continues to increase because the Tribune best satisfies the demand for timely, accurate accounts of each day's happenings.

To keep readers informed of developments thruout the world, the Tribune maintains its own staff of foreign correspondents. Located in key centers, these seasoned reporters gather the facts firsthand and write their dispatches from the American viewpoint.

The Tribune spares no expense or effort in order to get and print the news. Its own staff plus the dispatches of the Associated Press, the New York Times, and the London Telegraph make it impossible for any country to keep important news from Tribune readers. If it is news, the Tribune prints it.

A lad named Edward Patrick, brother of the University of Chicago's phonograph record muncher, John Patrick, ate a glass ornament from a Christmas tree.

When a group of youngsters in Holy Family parish, who call themselves Marynetts, wanted to produce an old favorite, Mrs. O'Malley's Christmas Eve, for a Christmas play and discovered there wasn't a brogue among the players, they presented instead Mrs. Giuseppi's Christmas Eve in a dialect familiar to the neighborhood.

The Old Line Life Insurance company calendar for 1940 has Ash Wednesday on Tuesday.

From a London daily, relayed by G. E. Hookham:

MY DAY.

(By Mrs. Eliza Miffin, charwoman, socialite, and village voluptuary.)

my day begins at six when i am up with the lark makin meself a strong cupper tea.

when i ave done me grates and me kitchen i am orf to the war office where i am doin a bit of war work.

i am not yet able to reveal to my readers what i am up to as everythink is ush ush though without giving much away to itler i can say my work is of national importance as you cant ave generals stampin about on dirty floors an kickin up a dust.

at six sharp i am orf ome to do me bedrooms and me black-out and snatch a bit of supper of cold pigs trotters with vinegar and a glass of nourishin stout before i am on duty as a part time firewoman.

i am ome about eleven when i usually ave a bit of a party as i dont old with lettin itler git on yore mind.

sometimes the postman comes round after is ARP to split a bottle and always pretends i ave chinks showing so tat e can ave an excuse to turn out the lights.

as i told im a larks a lark but tryin on my gas mask in the dark is not right nor proper for an unprotected lady war or no war.

mr george bumbling as joined up as a warden and looks a proper scream in is battle bowler as the postman calls is tin at.

being a natural nosey parker mr bumbling is aving the time of is life as a warden stoppin cars and orderin people about and bangin on doors though i dont reckon is feet will last out if the war aint over by christmas.

although i can always enjoy a laugh and a joke i dont reckon it was fair of the postman to pinch mr bumbling's whistle and throw it in the duck pond though i ad to laugh wen e filled is battle bowler with irish stew when we was all avin a bit of supper after o jollification at 2 a. m.

sometimes i dont git much sleep what with me secret work at the war office all day and runnin up and down fire escape arf the night and entertainin wardens in the early mornin but i must say i never felt better.

if any of my lady readers are feelin nervous i advise them to keep on the go and stop broodin and listenin to the news.

but never give a strange warden a cupper tea after midnight chinks or no chinks.

Quota Club Dinner.

Miss Gertrude Micon will speak on Russia before the Quota club at a dinner meeting this evening at the Hotel Sherman.

British Envoy to Attend 2 Parties Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Art institute is designating tomorrow as British day because Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States of America, will visit the Italian masterpieces at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Today might be called British day in social circles, however, for most of those whose names make social news will be going to two functions today to honor the British visitor.

The first of the two will be a reception that the English Speaking union is giving at the Casino at 4 o'clock. The second is a dinner that the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations will give in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House at 7:30 o'clock.

The reception will not be a large one, for only members of the union and their immediate families have been invited. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, honorary commercial attaché at the British embassy, who is accompanying the ambassador on his first official visit to Chicago, will be in the receiving line. So will the British consul, Lewis Bernays, and Mrs. Bernays; the president of the union, Rufus C. Dawes, and Mrs. Dawes.

Pouring will be Mrs. Solomon B. Smith, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., Mrs. Louis Watermulder, Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, Mrs. Edward K. Welles, and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr.

Lord Lothian, who is to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bernays during his Chicago visit, will speak informally at the reception.

Evening Affair to Start Promptly.

The evening affair, which will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock, will be a formal one. The ambassador will speak on "The War in Europe." Those who will sit at the speaker's table with the guest are Donald F. McPherson, president of the council, and Mrs. McPherson; Mr. and Mrs. Bernays, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field, Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, and Col. and Mrs. Frank Knox.

Others are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Clifford W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Bernadotte Schmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, Mr. and Mrs. John Fennelly, the Adlai Stevensons, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Admiral and Mrs. W. C. Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The active woman without the money for professional face treatments has to depend on a brief daily ritual to keep her skin in good condition. For most of us this is the half hour or so that precedes falling into bed at night.

Cleansing, of course, is important. You must be more meticulous in your cleansing procedure at this time than at any other—going to bed with the skin loaded with the day's accumulation of grime and makeup is just about fatal to complexion beauty.

The dry skinned woman needs more than skin cleansing at night. She has to use a special "treatment" cream as well—a cream that soothes and helps replace oil. For her one of the great beauty specialists has created a night cream which is applied after cleansing and left on. During the seven or eight hours of slumber it does a great deal to dispel that taut, drawn look that dry skin acquires after a hard day.

The balsam oils in this cream make it pleasant as well as efficient. The wise thing to do, if you're over 25, is to use it for massage. It is stroked into the skin of the face with upward and outward strokes and for the throat and neck the expert advises that the strokes be sweeping downward ones. This bit of massage is good for your contour and the cream itself is wonderful for your complexion.

In the morning your skin will be soft, smooth, and completely free from the tautness that is the major disfigurement of skin that lacks oil.

The short, sensible little reconditioning treatment at the end of the day is one of the most important steps in maintaining and gaining skin beauty.

New Materials Fashion Smart Sports Clothes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Two new materials being used in precisely tailored one-piece dresses, in meticulously tailored slacks, and matching shorts and lumberjack shirts are well worth an early inspection. Fine flexible gabardine and a luscious doeskin with a dull texture are the fashion spotlight stealers of the week.

The dresses and sports clothes were designed for resort wardrobes . . . the delicate and flattering pastels are especially becoming. There's a clear, strong yellow, some strawberry pinks, several shades of pastel blue, and stunning all-purpose beige shades with a good navy blue for good measure.

One-piece dresses have a row of brown buttons down the front, the streamline is princess effect, the pockets are marvels of tailored sophistication, and the sleeves end just above the elbow. It's the slick, tailored simplicity plus the suave new materials that make them so distinctive. Simple spectator sports dresses are for wear here at home with swagger greatcoats of fur or with tweed topcoats heavily furred as to collar and cuffs. And they are good for the occasional chilly days down under the sun.

The slacks and shorts are just as skillfully cut and just as smoothly fitted. They have the same fine tailored details with zippers in the side plackets, beautifully cut pockets, and swanky pigskin belts to define the fitted and smooth waistline. Matching shirts have long semifull sleeves gathered into tailored cuffs, convertible collars, and chest buttons plus a row of buttons down the narrow front panel. Such doeskin and gabardine apparel boasts the smoothest tailored details ever featured in feminine sports clothes. These are rare examples of impeccable tailoring usually found only in masculine wardrobes or in expensively hand tailored creations made for the individual.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

INSTALMENT XLVI.
A BAD GANG.

"The trouble with Kent," Louis Mestres said, "is that he was in such a hurry to make the big money. He is very shrewd, that man, but he has too many plans. Look now, my friend: it was the pay car holdup that brought this business to a climax. That is, of course, your affair, but it is none of mine.

"Then he goes into a claim jumping project, and that tangles him up with the assayer. It makes it necessary for him to kidnap this girl. So he comes to the doctor's house, where he has taken her last night, and he arrives just after we have finished giving El Teniente his singing lesson. And El Teniente has been singing very loudly.

"I do not think we would have been able to connect Kent with drug running closely enough to satisfy the American authorities. But he walks right into our arms, and now the boys are handling him in the next room. It is very nice. He will sing as loudly as El Teniente did. They will all sing.

"Mrs. Sebastian," Louis Mestres went on, "is in Copper City. Golconda is her business. Ours is on this side of the line. But there is only the sheriff's car—four men—to handle the gang over there on the American side. I think that I would like to go and see what they are doing. It is a bad gang, you understand. There may be a little trouble. And, you will remember, it all ties up together. Yes?"

Papago's car had come to a stop before the old hotel.

It was bright, hot sunshine outside. Inside the wide door the dimness was like twilight. The deep leather chairs and settees were barely visible; the old brass cuspidors gleamed faintly.

Leonard was leading the way, Papago followed, holding his hand on Collins' arm. Their footfalls made a loud sound on the tile floor. Leonard had the same feeling which he had when he came into the place yesterday afternoon, as if the great room were peopled with unseen shapes, as if he were moving among an invisible throng, the ghosts of other days.

There was no answer when he tapped the little bell on the clerk's desk. They waited for some time. Then Leonard called:

"Sang!"

And still no sound. The uneasiness which had been riding him grew heavier. He called again.

"If they brought her here," Papago said, "she'd be upstairs. In her room."

They started up the flight, and when they passed the turn where he had stood with a lighted match in his hand, looking at the little face so tight with purpose, Leonard felt a clutch at his heart.

There was something about that description which Papago had given him of the woman who had taken Pat away from the hospital that Leonard did not like. He did not know what it was. He asked:

"You're sure it was a nurse?"

"That's what they told me," Papago murmured. "That's all they seemed to know about her. They never got her name."

"Funny they wouldn't have her name,' Leonard said. "There can't be many nurses in this neck of the woods. Seems as if they'd be bound to know her. I wonder——" He stopped speaking. Then he swore under his breath.

"Yo' got an idee?" Papago said.

"It's the white dress!" Leonard cried. "That's it! The woman at the doctor's house was all in white. When I first saw her that's what I thought of: a trained nurse."

The walls echoed their footfalls as they ran on up the stairs. Leonard called:

"Sang!"

A voice came from below. It floated upward thru the shadows. An old voice and thin, it quavered on a high note and it broke:

"I come."

. . . . . .

At just about the moment Leonard and Papago were climbing the stairs the little paymaster was leaving the auditor's office. One of the girls at the adding machines stopped work to take the phone call from Kent's establishment. She said:

"I think I can catch him. Hold the line."

She overtook the paymaster on the veranda and he ran back into the room.

"I'll take it in the booth." His round blue eyes were shining, his face was flushed. She plucked the sleeve of the girl who was working at the next desk and whispered:

"It's about the pay car holdup. I think they've got the bandits."

The paymaster was keeping his lips close to the transmitter and he spoke so quietly that no sound passed beyond the glass walls of the booth.

"Good! Then they're going to the hotel in Old Town. You two wait in front of Kent's office. I'll pick you up. The superintendent is getting a bunch of men. The chief of police will join us."

He hung up, and when he passed thru the office to the door his little wisp of mustache had stiffened so that the hairs were like the bristles of a toothbrush. When he got into his car in front of the building he glanced across the bare space of beaten earth toward the shaft house. Two automobiles were standing by the change room, their motors were running. One of them was loaded full of miners, and as he looked, the last two passengers climbed into the other. He waved his hand. The three cars started off.

The chief of police of Golconda pulled his car off the road when he had gotten half way to Old Town. The three cars from the mine were waiting for him, as agreed. He saw the dull blue barrels of several shotguns between the knees of the passengers. He was frowning when he lifted his hand for silence and began to speak.

He did not like this business for more reasons than one. He was, of course, a company man, and he knew that his job was secure only as long as he followed instructions from company officials. But he was not a crook. And there was something about that arrest in San Ilario last night that did not suit him at all.

He had been doing considerable thinking about the things that Leonard had said. If those fellows had caught an innocent man and were trying to cover up for some one else, there might be some ugly complications. When the news of the prisoner's escape had reached him he had felt somewhat relieved. And now he had been sent for to apprehend the fugitive.

There was another matter that was worrying him. Half an hour ago the news had come to him that a car from the sheriff's office was somewhere in town. It was customary, on such occasions, for the visitors to look him up as soon as they arrived. He might not have given much thought to this failure to comply with the routine rules of courtesy had it not been for numerous vague rumors which had been reaching his ears of late. Rumors of an undercover investigation which involved the peace officers on both sides of the line.

He said "I want you men to understand. This isn't a vigilante committee. This is a posse. And you're under my orders. I'm handling everything. Now, get what I'm telling you. There's to be no shooting unless I give the word. When we go into that hotel you fellows keep behind me. I'm the first man inside the door. Okay. Let's go."

He threw in the clutch and drove on. The other cars followed. The one which carried the three participants in the pay car robbery was the last in the procession. The little paymaster was talking over his shoulder to the pair in the back seat:

"If you let him cramp your style we're sunk."

"Leave it to us," the gunman with the rabbit chin told him.

. . . . . .

Leonard was standing at the head of the stairway when Sang climbed the flight. He came silently on his thick felt soles, a little form in black, bending forward with the weight of the years, his lean hands clasped before his waist. When Leonard saw the seamed yellow face looking up into his he knew what the answer to his question was going to be. His voice was shaking when he spoke.

"Did they bring your mistress here, Sang?" The thin voice quavered: "Missy, she no come."

GASOLINE ALLEY—COLD FEET

Daubing Ruins Even the Best of Perfumes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Undoubtedly you were among the lucky ones who found a bottle of delightful scent in the Christmas stocking. We hope you were among the favored. Perfumers tell us that their major business is done around the big holiday season; that so much is sold, it would seem that every woman is included in the season's blessing.

Now, you have the scent. How are you going to use it? Those "in the know" in the perfume business will tell you that the aromatic sublety, the elusive suggestiveness distinguishing the most delicate fragrance of perfumes are too often destroyed when the perfume is applied in drops or spattered about from a bottle.

The best known perfumers throw up their hands in dismay at the suggestion of scents being used in such a manner. Perfume should be used from an atomizer, they say, if the most is to be obtained from the captivating aroma. Most perfumes, explains one of the distinguished trade, are prepared by the blending of several different fragrances, essences of flowers, herbs, musk and chemical aromatics. When in concentrated form, in drops that is, the delicate scents are lost in the stronger odors. But when sprayed from an atomizer the drop becomes a myriad of particles, as many as 2,000 with even the most elusive of the aromas asserting their seductive potenoy.

Spraying, they add, distributes perfume lightly over a wider area to create that allurement so typically feminine. Because the application in this fashion is so gentle, the danger of staining delicate fabrics is virtually eliminated.

The loss of perfume by evaporation is eliminated with the use of the atomizer, we're assured. And today there is an atomizer to suit just about every taste.

For travel, of course, the airtight atomizer becomes imperative.

Going traveling this winter? Then, you'll want to slip one of those new lightweight but efficient folding utility irons in your suitcase. Made to operate on 115 volt alternating current, it has a patented heat control unit which is adjustable to the fabric to be pressed. And a six foot cord is attached. Its suede felt carrying case holds it neatly when you travel. This convenient item is not nearly so expensive as you'd expect.

Reputation of Office Harmed by Boss' Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I have read your articles, and that one the other day about the 'man in the office' inspires me to write and ask you to do an article regarding a boss and his secretary known to me too well.

"The boss is a married man and he and the girl have been having an affair that is plainly noticeable to all around the office. They spend noon hours together in his office with blinds drawn, lights out, and inner doors closed. Naturally you know what is thought and said, and the gossip is demoralizing, to say the least.

"The man is old enough to be her father. He has a nice wife and two boys. I've seen them and know them to be nice normal people. The girl acts as tho every one else in the office is dirt under her feet if I may use the ugly colloquialism. She snubs every one and turns her nose up in the air. I have seen the wife wear the plainest clothes, and this girl splashes around in expensive things all the time.

"There is but one other girl beside myself—and the secretary—in the organization, and in a roundabout way we've heard that it isn't a very decent place to work, suggesting that the affair has gone beyond the office walls.

"I wish you'd write a good strong article, Miss Blake, for such girls and men. Yes, for the men. The girls may be just plain blinkety blank fools, but the men are older and married and their business reputation isn't judged so good either when word of goings-on in the office get about.

"What can the stupid girl be thinking of? There are perfectly grand single men around the place, one, at least, of whom she could have had, but no, it was the boss and the money he gives her for clothes, she wanted. Now the nice young man wouldn't touch her with a 10 foot pole.

"Then there is the wife, who deserves a better break, since it's plain she is managing and economizing to help. The girl will be kicked out, of course, as it is rumored a predecessor was!

NO NAME."

We think you've done a pretty good article yourself, No Name. Suppose we just let it go at that today.

Today let's think about fruit cakes, not the rich, holiday dessert, but the light, fluffy kind of cake made with fruit juice. Orange, lemon, and pineapple cakes, for example. What cook can keep away from the electric mixer or the mixing bowl when she comes upon recipes such as these?

Golden Pineapple Cake.
[Tube pan.]
6 eggs, separated
½ cup pineapple juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups sifted sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Beat egg yolks until thick and yellow. Add the pineapple and lemon juice and half the sugar. Beat well until sugar is dissolved and mixture is light. Sift flour before measuring and resift at least three times with baking powder. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Then add remaining half cup of sugar very gradually, beating until well blended. Fold this meringue into egg yolk mixture. Fold in flour in four parts. Use a spatula to fold it in. When flour is blended, pour batter into ungreased tube pan and bake at 325 degrees for an hour. Invert cake on a rack to cool. Frost lightly with a plain confectioner's sugar icing in which pineapple juice and a few drops of lemon juice were used as moistening.

Lemon Layer Cake.
[Two 9-inch layers.]
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅓ cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon lemon extract

Sift flour, measure and resift three times with baking powder. Cream butter thoroly and add sugar gradually. Beat together until fluffy and well mixed. Add egg yolks which have been beaten until thick and yellow. Alternately add flour and milk, beating after each portion is added. Add lemon extract. Bake in two greased, 9 inch layers at 375 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool cakes 5 minutes in the pans, then turn out and cool on racks. Put together with lemon filling and sift confectioner's sugar lightly over the top.

Lemon Filling.
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1-3 cup lemon juice
2-3 cup water
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons butter

Combine ingredients and cook in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly for 10 minutes, or until thick. Cool before spreading.

Orange Coconut Layer Cake.
[Two 9-inch layers.]
1 cup sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange
¼ cup orange juice
¾ cup sugar for egg whites

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together three times. Beat egg yolks until very light. Add the ¾ cup sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add orange rind and juice. Fold sifted flour mixture into beaten yolks, a little at a time. Beat egg whites stiff and add the ¼ cup sugar gradually. Beat until sugar is dissolved. Fold into cake batter. Bake in waxed paper lined greased layer pans at 325 degrees for about 45 minutes. Cool and fill with orange coconut filling. Top with a sprinkling of confectioner's sugar, or with a thin orange flavored confectioner's sugar icing.

Orange Coconut Filling.
5 tablespoons cake flour
1 cup sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange
½ cup orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup water
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons butter
½ cup moist coconut

Mix flour, sugar, rind, fruit juices, egg, and butter. Cook in a double boiler 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add coconut. Cool before spreading.

Mabel Boll, Aviation Enthusiast, Will Wed

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP).—The engagement of Mrs. Mabel Boll to Theodore Chella, harpist and assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, was announced tonight at a dinner given by Mrs. Billie Kaye of Miami Beach. Mrs. Boll, known as the "queen of diamonds" by her friends in aviation circles, made extensive plans for a flight across the Atlantic in 1928, but got only as far as Harbor Grace, N. "The bidding went:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 spade	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	2 spades	Pass	3 clubs
Pass	3 spades	Double	4 diamonds
Double	Pass	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	4 spades	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

"Thus the final contract was four spades doubled. I hold no brief for the bidding which, especially on my part, could have been considerably improved upon.

"Nor was the play anything to write home about. West opened the singleton club, which I took with the king in the closed hand. The adverse distribution of trumps and the location of the diamond king were fairly obvious from the bidding, so I led a low spade to dummy's jack and West took with the queen. West then led a heart and East covered dummy's king with his ace. East returned a club which West trumped. At this point West could have ruined us by leading a diamond, but fortunately he returned a heart which I ruffed. From there on it was a simple matter to draw West's three trumps, cross to dummy's diamond ace, and discard my three diamond losers on the ace and queen of clubs and the queen of hearts.

"Will you be kind enough to comment on bidding and play? Can four spades be made against a perfect defense? Should five clubs have been the contract?

"S. K. M., Pennsylvania."

This hand brings out a point which is well worth discussing.

South's bidding was absolutely correct and it was his partner who was guilty of a serious and typical error. Let us take bid by bid:

Certainly South's opening one spade was correct, as was North's first response of two hearts. The two spade rebid was unexceptionable, and North's three club second response was completely logical. Now South had no real choice except to bid three spades. He had absolutely no support for hearts and not nearly enough support for clubs to visualize a game at that denomination. At this point we must pause to excoriate West's double of three spades. West had nothing resembling the five tricks to justify such a double. And now we come to the real point of the hand and the one that establishes a moral.

North's four diamond bid was frightful, judged from any and all angles! North should have been delighted with the double of three spades! True, he had a singleton, but it was the jack—a very big card on the bidding—and anyway, with four honor tricks on the side, North should have done no worrying about the spade suit. After South had rebid it three times, surely he could be depended upon to take a substantial number of spade tricks and these, added to the tricks North could produce, would have to add up to nine, unless there was something very strange about the hand. Far from "running" from the three spade double, North should have leaped at the opportunity to redouble! By that time he should have realized that there was no slam in the hand—that South didn't fit either hearts or clubs, and the best score to be expected or hoped for was thru the redouble of three spades.

There was no defense that could have beaten three spades, but it should have required only reasonable acumen on West's part to have led a diamond at the crucial stage, thus to defeat the four spade contract.

Tomorrow's Hand

Finds 'Seventh Symphony' Too Hard to Follow

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, which this evening ends its 10 day Auditorium theater engagement, presented "Seven Symphony" last night as the most pretentious item of a bill which also included "Boutique Fantasque," "The Bluebird," and "Capriccio Espagnol."

"Seventh Symphony," an important novelty of last season, is the work of Leonide Massine, a man whose sincerity and ability cannot be impugned. Thus the piece must receive several viewings before an adverse judgment on it can carry much weight. Those several viewings have now been completed—so here goes.

The allegory which Mr. Massine has imposed on Beethoven's symphony is far fetched. That business of creation, atonement, and destruction has no discernible connection with the music. The third chapter of the tale [about the sport of the gods in the skies] lacks even a discernible connection with the rest of the allegory.

Far from becoming plausible in performance, the story simply demonstrates its utter incompatibility with the music. It is not enough to say dogmatically that the first movement does not represent creation nor the last pages destruction by fire. What counts is that the feeling content of the music has no connection with the feeling content expressed in such an allegory. The allegory and the music had much better be allowed to go their separate ways.

Report New Gains in Catholic High School Enrollment

Catholic high schools of the Chicago archdiocese continued to show increased enrollment, altho the number of pupils in all Catholic schools declined during the school year ended last June. These trends were revealed yesterday in the report of the Very Rev. Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of the Catholic schools. Establishment of a number of two year high schools has contributed to the increased enrollment, which has continued for five years. There are 84 Catholic high schools.

The trend in the first grade enrollment continued downward. The peak enrollment was in 1928-'29. This registration reached a low in 1932-'33 and rose until 1936. Decreases have been recorded since.

The total enrollment in the 488 Catholic schools is 192,506, a decrease of 4,073 under the previous year. The college department remained unchanged, with nearly 13,000 registrations.

Dresses for Current Season

DRESSES FOR CURRENT SEASON.

Two patterns today create a youthful dress for women and misses, and a pretty princess model for juveniles. Both may be created of silk or cotton [the latter, in the adult model, for trips southward].

The adult dress has a becoming V neckline trimmed with ruffling or lace to match that used on the short sleeves. The high waistline has above it the graceful shirring in the bodice, and the skirt flares rather widely.

The little girl's dress has a contrasting collar and triangular pockets to match in trim.

Style No. 2907 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 3223 is designed for sizes 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6. Size 4 requires 1½ yards of 35 inch material with ⅝ yard of contrasting for dress, with ¾ yard for matching panties. Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Trademarks.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 3.—At the preview of "Shop Around the Corner" last night, observing Jimmy Stewart in action, I was thinking how actors and actresses all have trademarks that are repeated in every picture.

Stewart, ex-Princeton, is boyishly bashful and inarticulate. . . . Gary Cooper is a drawly country bumpkin who makes you feel that he's always smarter than the city slicker. . . . Thomas Mitchell is the drunken cynic, amused at the weaknesses of the world.

C. Aubrey Smith is Oxford or Cambridge flavoring a glass of brandy. . . . Basil Rathbone is menace in its most literate and evil expression. . . . Jean Hersholt is your well fed cousin from Milwaukee who still sends money home to the family in Denmark. . . . Mischa Auer is Moscow in lighter vein. . . . John Garfield is a loaded gun on a ghetto mantlepiece, the muzzle pointing at the world that's given him a rotten deal.

British Envoy to Attend Two Parties Today

but this will be her first visit to Chicago.

In addition to music collected in Cuba, Peru, Bolivia, and Ecuador, Miss Houston is said to sing to perfection modern Brazilian and French songs.

Plans Dinner Party for Mme. Rosso.

Among the many dinner parties planned to precede a benefit performance of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" next Tuesday at the Grand Opera House is one Mrs. George L. Wilkinson is giving for her daughter, Mme. Augusto Rosso, and for Mrs. Wilkinson's twin sons, Lucian B. and Enloe Wilkinson, whose birthday it will be. Lucian Wilkinson is married and lives in Northbrook.

Mme. Rosso and her daughter, Miss Adele Bunker, are spending January with the Wilkinsons. Bringing a charming Washington custom to Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson are planning to be at home "after 4 o'clock" on all four Sundays this month. The family formerly lived in Washington.

The Northwestern University Settlement will receive the proceeds from the second performance of Robert Sherwood's play. The men's board of the Settlement is sponsoring the evening. Others planning dinners are Mrs. Stanley G. Harris, who is entertaining at the Tavern; Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Welles, the Warren Shoemakers, Mrs. E. Crane Wilson, the James S. Kempers, and the Robert Piersons.

Mrs. Ralph Winston to Entertain Today.

Because they are all related to each other Miss Diana Winston, Miss Denyse Root, and Miss Mardo Pattou will be the especial guests at a luncheon Mrs. Ralph Winston is giving today at the Arts club.

After luncheon Mrs. Winston will take her young guests, about 12 in all, to the Alliance Française to hear Mrs. Laird Bell in her famous "Monologues." Miss Root and Miss Pattou will pour at the tea after the program.

A number of dinner and hockey parties have been planned for tonight. Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hutchins are giving one for Miss Grace Shumway, the Edward D. Shumways' debutante daughter.

The Stephen Gregorys and Miss Dorothy Stirling are entertaining for Debutante Alice Blair. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McNally's especial guest will be Miss Betty Gillespie.

Mrs. Albert F. Madlener will give a luncheon tomorrow for Miss Gillespie, who will return to her classes at Bryn Mawr next week.

Two Chicago Women See Congress Open.

Two interested spectators at the opening of congress were Mrs. Stewart Johnson and Mrs. George A. Kelly. Mrs. Johnson went to Washington on Monday and is stopping at the Mayflower hotel, altho she is spending most of her time with the Vladimir Hurbans.

Mr. Hurban is the Czech minister to Washington. The Hurbans were stationed in Egypt at the time of the late Mr. Johnson's death, and the two families have been friends for many years. Mr. Johnson was in the United States diplomatic service.

Polly Packard Copeland, who was born on Dec. 18 at the Evanston hospital, has gone to Red Oaks, Long Beach, Ind., with her mother, Mrs. Frederick Winsor Copeland. The Copelands moved from Winnetka to Long Beach last fall. The baby, their fourth child, is a granddaughter of Mrs. Frederick Kent Copeland of Winnetka and of the George Packards.

Mr. and Mrs. Packard are leaving the middle of the month to spend a month at the Camelback inn in Arizona.

Open Ticket Office for Benefit Party.

An office to sell tickets to a Globe Trotters' ball on Feb. 2 has been opened by the members of the Travelers' Aid woman's board, who who are sponsoring the party. The office is at the Drake hotel.

The supper-dance will be held in the Gold Coast room of the hotel.

The date for a lecture Mlle. Eve Curie is to give for the benefit of the Bryn Mawr scholarship fund is Feb. 9, not Feb. 20, as stated Tuesday. The Bryn Mawr Club of Chicago is sponsoring the benefit, which will be held at the New Trier High school in Winnetka. Undergraduates at Bryn Mawr were the especial guests of the club at a tea at the home of Mrs. William George Lee in Astor street yesterday. Movies of the college were shown.

Arguing With Child Doesn't Get Obedience

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You have heard me express in this column my views on gaining obedience without fear. You have heard me talk about guiding your child thru reasonableness, by granting that he has intelligence, and by maintaining a relationship of trust and friendliness. You've heard me go behind the idea, too, and explain why I believe in obedience; or if you like better the other word for it, conformity—the idea being that for a child's well being, for his development, for learning to live with others, and to save the strength and nerves of his mother, obedience is a valuable tool.

But all these measures have to be used with judgment. And certainly the mother who carries a good idea too far is harming herself and her child. For instance, the mistake is often made of explaining to a child in detail the reason for every little thing he is supposed to do—a process which almost inevitably leads him to question every direction he receives.

It's one thing to treat your children as intelligent human beings, to answer their questions and give them explanations. But it's another thing to let them get into the arguing habit.

When questions come up, when "Why must I?" begins, or "I don't want to," endless argument is not going to provide the way to accomplishment. One explanation or a simple, friendly talking over of things is enough. The way you'll really gain the best results is by a combination of tactfulness and jollity and an of-course-you're-going-to manner.

Episcopal Diocese Transfers Doddridge Farm to C. Y. O. Uses

Bishop George Craig Stewart, of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, and trustee of Doddridge farm, a fresh air institution near Libertyville, yesterday announced the transfer of the property to Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, administrator of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago for Catholic Youth organization use.

The farm was developed by Britton I. Budd, utilities executive, for use of underprivileged children. For several years it was used both summer and winter for fresh air purposes. Later, the 100 acre tract with its swimming pool and accommodations for 150 persons was used by the Chicago council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Bishop Stewart said that the resources of the Episcopal diocese did not permit the farm's full use. He explained that the C. Y. O. with its thousands of members would fully utilize the farm's facilities.

PURDUE ADVOCATES 'PLAY TO WIN' FOOTBALL

CALIFORNIA IS BEATEN, 49-45, BY OHIO STATE

Score Tied 7 Times in Rough Battle.

Columbus, O., Jan. 3 [Special].—Ohio State brought its pre-Big Ten basketball record to three victories in six starts here tonight by defeating California, 49 to 45, before 2,178 spectators.

The score was tied seven times, at 2, 4, 8, 22, 27, 28 and 30 points, before the Buckeyes took a slight lead and never were headed.

The first half ended with Ohio leading, 27 to 25.

Ohio's captain, Robert Lynch, who tallied 16 points on six baskets and four free throws and the other Ohio guard, Jed Mees, who scored 17 points on five baskets and seven free throws, kept the Buckeyes in the game despite the superior height of the Golden Bears. Lynch and Mees repeatedly hit the basket from near the foul line or the side court.

Each Scores 18 Baskets.

Bob Alamedia of California divided individual honors with Mees, scoring seven baskets and three free throws. William O'Gilvie, Golden Bear center, tossed in five baskets and one free throw.

Each team scored 18 field goals and Ohio's foul shooting, good on 13 out of 19 attempts, was the margin of victory. California made nine of its 17 attempts.

The game was rough, John Schick, Ohio forward, and George Jung, California substitute guard, being ejected after exchanging blows early in the second half. The Buckeyes had 17 personal fouls called on them to 18 for California. Lineups:

ARMSTRONG AND GHNOULY SET TO BATTLE TONIGHT

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 3 [Special].—Henry Armstrong, world welterweight boxing champion, has a 15 round date tomorrow night with an ancient St. Louis fighter, Joe Ghnouly, but his plans for the year expressed today indicate he isn't taking his task here too seriously.

Ghnouly, who is as much a St. Louis landmark as the old union station, has never been anything but a willing, plodding battler. The bout is expected to be concluded in considerably less time than the allotted 15 rounds.

Armstrong disclosed that he has abandoned plans for a bout with Ceferino Garcia, recognized as middleweight champion in New York and California, because the Filipino would not agree to come in at 150 pounds. The welterweight champion will box Pedro Montanez Jan. 24 in New York for the title—assuming he beats Ghnouly. Next summer Armstrong hopes to make a South American tour and perhaps box Lou Ambers, who lifted his lightweight title last year.

Three Brothers with a Single Thought

35 Boys from St. Ann's Enter Silver Skates

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In yesterday's mail was a list of 35 boys from St. Ann's Episcopal church choir, 2016 North Kimball avenue, who will compete in three of the eight Silver Skates Derbies which will be held Jan. 13 and 14. This is the fourth year, so Frederick N. Jewell, choirmaster, wrote, that the boys have taken part in the speed skating competition.

"The boys look forward to the races each year," Mr. Jewell wrote, "and I believe it means a great deal to all who participate in them." The St. Ann's boys are entered in the boys' midget, juvenile, and junior Derbies. Preliminary races in these age class divisions are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, Jan. 13, in Garfield park. At this time the qualifying races for the girls' junior Derby also will be held. All other preliminaries and the eight championships will compose the program Sunday afternoon, Jan. 14, at the same site.

The three Legner brothers—Bill, Roger, and Richard—also have filed their entries for the annual races. Bill will strive to win a pair of the Silver Skates in the men's senior division, while Roger will compete in the boys' junior, and Richard in the juvenile.

How About It, Weather Man?

The hour for all contestants to report will be announced later. It is too early, of course, to be certain that the races can be held as scheduled, although the cold weather now has brought skating to all playgrounds and parks. Last year, for instance, the meet was postponed and finally held in La Follette park late in January. But unless temperatures rise unseasonably the 23d Silver Skates Derbies quite likely will come off on schedule. In any event, there is only one list of eligible contestants and no names may be added to that after midnight Sunday.

Individual entry may be made by filling out the blank which is printed daily in these columns. Team entries may be submitted by coach or manager, so that all contestants' names are grouped in the proper age division and home addresses are given for all as well as the club affiliation.

State Meet Sunday.

The skating program sponsored by the Illinois Skating association already has started splendidly with the holiday meets. Sunday the state meet will be held at Glen Ellyn and by then practically all of these contestants will have been entered in Silver Skates.

Of primary concern to the officials of these races, however, is the entry in the lower age classes. Each skater reporting for his first race will receive a souvenir button and more than 200 gold medals also will be distributed in the qualifying races. Each preliminary winner will receive one of these medals. There are five major prizes for each of the eight championships, the championship award being silver skates. Chromium and bronze skates are second and third place awards while silver and bronze medals are awards for fourth and fifth places.

Mace Brown, Pirate Pitcher, Excused from Jury Duty

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—Big Mace Brown, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates, had a narrow squeak, but he will be in on the training down south. Summoned for six months' duty as a grand juror, he asked to be excused. Judge Felix Alley told him: "Nowadays it seems that football and baseball come ahead of the courts and most everything else, so I guess I'll have to excuse you."

Hawks Tackle Their Old Pals, Leafs, Tonight

The time has come for the Blackhawks to pause in their rejoicing over their New Year's shutout of the Detroit Red Wings. They have grave business ahead for tonight—their fifth battle of the season with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Leaf-Hawk games never need much smoking up. Everybody in hockey knows the Toronto outfit year after year is infinitely a better team in league competition than the Hawks. But the fans also know that as often as not the Hawks play over their heads against the Leafs.

Horner Missed Last Time.

Such an instance appeared the last time the teams met in Chicago on Dec. 21. In a boisterous encounter that night the Hawks won, 3 to 1. Five Hawks, however, were severely bruised in the riotous body checking, several being put out of action for several games.

Red Horner, the Leafs' main bad man, was absent from the game on Dec. 21. There had been plans to give Red the usual merry Chicago reception, plus a few special Bronx cheers. Red wasn't feeling well, and didn't even come to town. He's well now, and not afraid of reception plans, except he's still allergic to the "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?" as played at frequent intervals on the Stadium pipe organ.

Drillon Is Busy.

The Leafs come to town in a three way tie with the New York Rangers and the Boston Bruins for first place in the National league. The Leafs have been able to hang on to a piece of the top rung despite the rush of the Rangers, who have not been defeated in 15 games, and their own inability to beat the Boston Bruins on several occasions since their manager, Connie Smythe, got himself in a jam over some boastful paid advertising in Boston. The Leafs have

INTERVIEW WITH DYKSTRA DRAWS MAROON REPLY

Dean George Works Tells Academic Policy.

George A. Works, dean of students at the University of Chicago and the Maroons' representative on the Big Ten faculty committee, yesterday volunteered a formal statement in reply to the interview with Clarence A. Dykstra, published in THE TRIBUNE yesterday in which the University of Wisconsin president discussed intercollegiate athletic policies and the abandonment of football at Chicago.

Dean Works' statement, which made no mention of athletics or Chicago's decision to drop football, follows in full:

"In the belief that certain statements in an interview with Dr. Clarence Dykstra, of the University of Wisconsin, may be misconstrued, I would like to present the following facts:

"[1.] It is true that post graduate study and research are emphasized at the University of Chicago as President Dykstra stated. But both of these activities must of necessity be emphasized in any institution that is truly a university. They are both of the essence of a university. If President Dykstra meant to imply that graduate study and research are emphasized in the University of Chicago at the expense of undergraduate instruction he is in error.

Reorganize Curriculum.

"Much of the public attention the University of Chicago has received in recent years is an outgrowth of the reorganization of its undergraduate curriculum and program of instruction. There are few if any other universities in which such a small proportion of the instruction of undergraduates, especially during their first two years, is entrusted to graduate students as contrasted with faculty members of the professorial rank. Further, the bulk of the university's student body are undergraduates, the latest figures showing 3,420 undergraduate students against 3,294 graduate students.

"[2] It is true that the university is selective in its admission requirements in the sense that it asks each applicant for admission to present evidence of ability to profit by its program of instruction. It does not restrict entrants to a 'small percentage of secondary school graduates.' Instead it only asks that the applicant be in the upper half of his class in high school or that he present other objective evidence, such as a satisfactory score on a scholastic aptitude test, of his ability to do the work of the university.

University Unusually Liberal.

"Aside from this phase of selection, the university is unusually liberal in its entrance requirements, as neither mathematics nor foreign language is required for admission. Furthermore, each year a number of men and women are admitted who have not completed a high school education, but have demonstrated their capacities in business, or in other fields of endeavor. Such individuals are not required to complete high school graduation requirements, but are permitted to go directly forward with their work in the college.

"[3] The words 'classical educational ideas' are meaningless unless they are accompanied by an explanatory statement. If they are meant in this case to imply that the undergraduate program of instruction is limited primarily to the languages, philosophy, and mathematics, the implication is erroneous. Each student entering the college as a freshman has to do at least one year of work in the physical sciences and the same amount in the biological sciences. This is in contrast with many institutions in which students are not required to take any science or at most one year. The instructional program of the college at the University of Chicago is generally regarded as maintaining an excellent balance among the several disciplines."

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE time is not far distant when organizations promoting New Year's day football games will find it extremely difficult to get desirable attractions. . . . The Southwest conference already has gone on record to support the Cotton bowl contest at Dallas. . . . All member schools except the University of Texas have agreed hereafter to send their teams there if they are invited. . . . The Pacific Coast conference champions for years have been committed to the Rose bowl. . . . It is likely that the Southeastern conference, which embraces most of the big southern schools, soon will restrict its representation in postseason engagements to the Sugar bowl. . . . Consequently the scramble for opponents in these three centers will be wilder than ever. . . . The source of such opposition is restricted. . . . The Big Ten conference and Notre Dame do not allow their elevens to compete in New Year's day games. . . . Most of the leading eastern schools have similar regulations. . . . It is possible, of course, to have two teams from the same conference meet each other in the various bowl games, but in all probability they would have clashed in their regular schedules, so much of the speculation anticipating the outcome, which is the life of these enterprises, would be removed. . . .

This year Dallas had to import two teams with no local appeal as its Cotton bowl entertainment. . . . The opponents were Clemson college of South Carolina and Boston college, unquestionably good football teams, but there was no special reason why they should travel two-thirds of the way across the continent to settle their rivalry, if any. . . . The game didn't draw. . . . This situation will be corrected by the support Cotton bowl operators have received from the Southwest conference. . . . There, no doubt, are a good many educators who feel it would be for the best interest of intercollegiate sport if all bowl games would collapse or for some other reason be abolished. . . . Every school and conference is entitled to regulate its athletics as it sees fit, but the fact remains that many colleges, probably a majority, get a kick out of such activities, to say nothing of the revenue that accrues to the athletic departments. . . . A year ago we happened to be on the Pacific coast when a certain school received an invitation to participate in a bowl game. . . . The faculty board of control was indifferent. . . . The athletic director had no strong feeling one way or the other, so he suggested that acceptance or rejection be put up to the players. . . . The vote was unanimous for participation. . . . Their action probably is typical of collegiate squads. . . .

If colleges everywhere ruled out bowl games it would be another boost for professional football. . . . Don't you imagine Sugar bowl or Rose bowl backers would do pretty well with a game between New York and Chicago for the world's professional championship? . . . So do we.

Winter Bouquet.

The last of the brilliant autumn blooms
Lots of folks store away,
Nurture them tenderly, dry them out
And they have a "winter bouquet."
Then all thru the bleak and snow-bound days
They can look at that bright little spray,
Something left over from summer
With a promise of still one more May.

Lots of folks, too, in this garden called life,
Garner and store away
Little memories and happenings
Gathered from day to day.
Then all down the quieter years toward the end,
These treasures much pleasure impart,
Leftover joys from the summer of life—
A winter bouquet of the heart!

PRESIDENT SEES MAROON ACTION AS 'EXPERIMENT'

Eliminate Evils, Not Game—Elliott.

[This is the second of a series of interviews with presidents of middle western universities on intercollegiate football.]

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 3.—Dr. Edward C. Elliott, genial, eloquent, and sprightly president of Purdue university, is on wisecracking terms with Robert M. Hutchins, president of the football-less University of Chicago.

This, according to the opinion of some, makes Dr. Elliott a sort of rajah of repartee, a paragon of persiflage.

You'd probably die laughing, or at least give a couple of chuckles or grins, if you'd hear some of the badinage Big Ten prexies toss at each other. Most of it, of course, is just good, clean fun, but some of it is kiddin' on the square.

According to witnesses who have been at the ringside during prexy jousts, Dr. Elliott's shoulder blades never have been pinned to the mat. Quite a record, since Dr. Elliott now is the dean of Big Ten prexies, serving his 18th year as head of the great technical institution in West Lafayette, Ind.

No Forecasts Publicly.

We came down to Lafayette to talk to Dr. Elliott about his reactions to the University of Chicago's football surrender. During this pilgrimage we learned Purdue's head man is on wisecracking terms with Dr. Hutchins, and that he has talked, flippantly and seriously, with Dr. H. about what jocularly was known as football on the Midway.

For publication, Dr. Elliott calls abandonment of football at Chicago "a courageous and significant experiment." He makes no forecasts, for publication. "What the results will be, time alone will tell," adds the famous educator, certainly without taking too much of a swing out on the limb. Then he gets a little bolder in the words privileged for publication. "It is within the range of possibilities," Dr. Elliott proceeds, "that the University of Chicago will demonstrate the possibility of conducting a university without football."

Importance Is Localized.

The good doctor is warming up on the words for print. Not as hot, of course, as his "off the record" passages, but warmer than his formal take-off:

"However," howevers Dr. Elliott, "at the present time the action of Chicago is of no particular importance except to Chicago."

[This last makes us blink a little, for we know that the Purdue end of one Chicago game in the pre-Hutchins era was $55,000 and that Purdue's split in a game of the Hutchins regime was $5,500, or less. We also know that 10 days before the recent surrender Chicago had agreed to transfer a 1940 football game scheduled for Stagg field to Lafayette.]

More from Dr. Elliott: "No doubt in the present sharp competition of educational institutions for promising football material things are done that strain the letter and spirit of the amateur code. Nevertheless it is my opinion that the cause of athletics in our institutions will be protected and advanced by efforts to eliminate the evils rather than to eliminate the game.

Purdue Wants Football.

"There have been times when I have wished that we might have colleges and universities without football. This is perhaps a bit Utopian. Perhaps Chicago will prove that Utopia is possible. But Purdue is not Utopian and intends to continue to play football—and, we hope, good football."

Dr. Elliott perplexes us greatly with his next paragraph. We can't figure at whom he is shooting when he says: "Were I to reach the point of recommending the abolition of football, I would be forced to conclude I had become too old to be president."

Dr. Elliott was born in Chicago Dec. 21, 1874, and Dr. Hutchins was born in Brooklyn on Jan. 17, 1899, so when he hooks up abandonment of football with advanced age maybe Dr. Elliott thinks some of the Chicago trustees have a bewhiskered outlook on things.

Dr. Elliott did not get indignant over recently published statements purporting to interpret the Chicago trustees' attitude toward continuing Big Ten football. An anonymous "spokesman for the trustees," was quoted as saying it is impossible to compete in Big Ten football and remain honest. "You can't play Big Ten football without being crooked, as far as the league's rules are concerned, and they [the trustees] did not want the University of Chicago to be crooked," was one of the "authoritative" expressions of the unnamed "spokesman."

He's Not Excited.

Purdue's prexy looked for one identity in the "spokesman's revelation." He intimated it might be the statement of that recently overworked character, The Little Man

CHARGES BOXING IS SABOTAGED BY ITS BENEFICIARIES

N.B.A. Secretary Asserts Sport Is in Bad Way.

BY EDWARD C. FOSTER.

[Secretary of National Boxing association.]

Providence, R. I., Jan. 3 (AP).—Boxing is in a bad way as it goes into the new year.

It is staggering and reeling from the repeated beatings it took during 1939, beatings handed out by the very men who should be its most ardent supporters and who make their living from the game.

One has to go back a great many years to find a like condition. The present situation has been growing for the last few years, as is evidenced by such cases as have come to public notice—the Jack Torrance case in Louisiana, the Adamick-Trammell case in Illinois, and the Harry Thomas exposé.

[The Torrance incident concerned a fake bout between the 260 pound former Louisiana State university athlete and Jack Willis, also known as Jack Philips, New York boxer, in Baton Rouge, La. The match was scheduled for Feb. 16, 1937, but it was never held because Willis confessed it was fixed for him to lose prior to the encounter. The Louisiana commission suspended and fined Herb Brodie, manager of Torrance, and Mushky Jackson, Willis' representative. Torrance was exonerated.

[The Trammell-Adamick fiasco occurred in Chicago June 8, 1938. Trammell went down for the count in the second round after having had Adamick out on his feet previously. The Illinois commission later ruled the bout was a fake. The principals and their managers were suspended.]

Says Fans Know Fighters.

But these are only the highlights of what has occurred. Many other minor situations have arisen which had a tendency to give boxing a black eye in the minds of its fans.

It seems almost inconceivable that boxing promoters and so-called boxing managers [many of whom should be classed only as rubbers and trainers] cannot get the idea into their heads that the boxing fan, the man who supports their game, knows just as much, and probably a great deal more about the fighters than do boxing commissions, promoters, and managers.

Then why is it that a promoter will try to foist upon the public matches which he knows are really not matches at all, but only exhibitions, and which, even as exhibitions, would be classed as poor?

Two-Title Champions Gone.

At least we have accomplished something this year which is, in our opinion, very beneficial to the game. We have done away entirely with two-title and three-title champions.

This is not intended in any way to detract from that marvelous fighter, Henry Armstrong, who held three titles at one time. Nevertheless, such a procedure was eminently unfair to the top ranking boys in at least two of the divisions of which Armstrong was champion. It was almost impossible to ask the public to enthuse over a featherweight championship bout, when the champion of that class also was lightweight and welterweight champion of the world.

Armstrong relinquished his featherweight title, was defeated by Lou Ambers, who regained his lightweight title, and at the present time Armstrong is the legitimate welterweight champion. This is as it should be.

Allowing a promoter or manager to insist that some one special referee be designated to officiate in a bout is another practice that should be eliminated. Practically every state which has legalized boxing has competent, honest referees on its staff, and these are the men whom the various boxing commissions should appoint to handle bouts in their states.

COOPER GOES ON FOR STEVE DUDAS IN CONN BATTLE

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—Henry Cooper, Brooklyn heavyweight who recently beat Buddy Knox of Dayton, O., today was substituted for Steve Dudas as Light Heavyweight Champion Billy Conn's opponent in a 12 round nontitle bout at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 10.

An examination today showed Dudas, who hails from Edgewater, N. J., suffering from a severe cold. Dudas was given the bout after stopping young Pat Comiskey's string of victories recently.

SIX CHANGES IN PREP FOOTBALL RULES FAVORED

Committee Opens Two Day Session Tomorrow.

Six proposed changes in regulations for prep football in 1940 will be considered tomorrow and Saturday when representatives of 26 states convene in the La Salle hotel for the annual meeting of the National Interscholastic rules committee. This was indicated yesterday in a report of recommended legislation gleaned from a national poll of more than 2,000 high school coaches and officials.

Henry V. Porter, secretary of the committee and assistant manager of the Illinois High School Athletic association, in announcing complete results of the poll, disclosed five proposals in addition to one mentioned last Saturday. At that time Porter hinted that the committee would consider revision of the code to permit two forward passes on the same play, provided both are thrown from behind the line of scrimmage.

Even under the present prep code one forward pass may be thrown from any point behind the scrimmage line, as in professional football, whereas in the college game the passer must throw from at least five yards behind the line.

Would Aid Razzle Dazzle.

Not only would adoption of the proposal for a second legal pass permit additional razzle dazzle offensive tactics, and create still further divergence from National Collegiate A. A. rules, but so would at least two of the other five suggested changes.

Possibly of equal aid to more wide open football is the proposal to permit any eligible receiver to advance a forward pass, when caught, even tho it has been touched previously by another eligible receiver of the passing team and before a defensive player has touched it.

Another drastic change proposed in the national prep poll is to deprive the kicking team of the time honored right to recover the ball after it is muffed by a member of the receiving team who has made a bona fide effort to catch it. It is pointed out, however, that this would apply only to a muffed punt and not to a fumble after there has been possession and control.

Still another possible change of importance is the proposal that an incomplete forward pass into the end zone on fourth down become a touchback only if the ball is put in play from a spot inside the 20 yard line. It is claimed that such a rule would be more equitable. It would prevent a team from gaining ground thru intentionally throwing a long fourth down pass into the end zone rather than risk the chance of getting off a poor punt or having one blocked.

Forward Pass Change.

Sentiment of the nation's prep coaches also points to a new rule that would consider a forward pass hitting an ineligible receiver as one form of offensive pass interference. Under the present high school rules the penalties are the same except when the pass touches the ineligible receiver in the end zone on first, second, or third downs.

The sixth and last proposal is to adopt a flat rule stating that a player can not touch a loose ball after he has been out of bounds on the same play. This would include the situation where a player under the present rules goes out of bounds and comes back in to touch a forward pass.

Members of the committee who will deliberate over the proposed 1940 changes are:

PASTOR TO MEET BURMAN IN MIAMI BOUT NEXT MONTH

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—Altho the proposed Tony Galento-Max Baer fight was definitely tossed out so far as Florida was concerned, Miami today was assured a heavyweight bout for this season, between Bob Pastor and Red Burman.

Jack Dempsey and Pastor's manager, Jimmy Johnston, agreed on the Pastor-Burman bout for shortly after Feb. 15, possibly the 20th, with the ex-heavyweight champion and Johnston co-promoters.

At the same time Promoter Mike Jacobs said he had decided not to put on the Galento-Baer bout in the Florida resort.

"It will go on here, in Madison Square Garden, and no place else," he told Joe Jacobs, Galento's manager.

"O. K. If you want it here, then we can forget about the fight," Joe countered.

CHAMPIONS WIN OPENING GAMES IN PREP LEAGUE

The two defending champions in the city high school basketball league opened sectional play yesterday with victories. The Manley juniors defeated Kelly, 38 to 25, and the Lane seniors won from Taft, 27 to 12.

The thriller of the day was Hyde Park seniors' victory over Harper, 32 to 31, at Harper. It was the first time in the six years they have played in that gymnasium that Hyde Park won. The latter trailed until the last 10 seconds when a basket by Capt. Bill Davis settled the issue.

With Rosenstein and Ciriglione registering 30 points between them, the Crane juniors trounced Medill, 64 to 11. Crane led at the half, 32 to 3, holding Medill scoreless in the second quarter.

Hawks Tackle Their Ol' Pals, Leafs, Tonight

Fifteen goals, or nearly one-fourth of the Leafs' total, have been made by Gordon Drillon. Before Syl Apps, one of Drillon's line mates, was injured recently the Davidson-Apps-Drillon line had accounted for 24 goals.

Since the Hawks won Monday night they have gone thru two rigorous drills, Tuesday and yesterday afternoons. Manager Paul Thompson coached the boys with especial attention to the thought that the Leafs' probably will do a lot of fouling. The plan is to bear down especially hard while Horner and others are gracing the penalty box.

ROSE BOWL TRIP NETS TENNESSEE A COOL $120,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3 [Special].—Southern California and Tennessee each earned an estimated $130,000 as their share of the Rose bowl receipts at Pasadena New Year's day. The approximately 90,000 fans paid around $332,000, of which 20 per cent, or more than $66,000, goes to the Tournament of Roses committee to present the game and pay off the bonded indebtedness of the stadium.

The two teams divide the remainder evenly, with each school taking care of its own expenses. In the case of Southern California these are comparatively light. It cost Tennessee approximately $10,000 to bring the team west and train it here.

Maroon Plan Is Too Utopian for Purdue

Who Wasn't There. At any rate, Dr. Elliott refused to become chagrined about alleged conditions in the Big Ten.

Informally, Dr. Elliott cited several instances of overzealous fathers who virtually had tried to sell their sons to Big Ten universities but added that for the most part "subsidizing" and "proselyting" are terms loosely used and ill-defined.

Dr. Elliott has some first hand information that it is possible for an athlete to compete in the Big Ten for the love of sport. His son, Ed. Jr., who was graduated from Purdue in 1936, was a regular on the Boilermaker basketball team. And he didn't make the team because his pappy was prexy. He was a good center, and not subsidized.

Studies Come First.

Dr. Elliott does not admit he is a football fan, tho there are folks at Purdue who say he is, except on bad Saturdays when he doesn't want to take a chance on aggravating his sinus trouble. He says that from an educational standpoint football sometimes is a nuisance because Purdue runs a full schedule of classes six days a week, which includes Fridays and Saturdays, when the team sometimes has to be away. However, Purdue's famous late afternoon labs and shop classes never have been permitted to suffer because of weekday practices, a source of gratification to the faculty, if not the coaches, it is said.

Dr. Elliott's record of one of the country's most active men in the science of education as a teacher, author, lecturer, and official is covered in 59 lines of type in "Who's Who in America." There it reveals that he frequently has lectured at Columbia university and in 1937 edited "The Rise of a University—Columbia." He was at Columbia when Columbia abandoned football, remembers when it was restored at Columbia and never missed a play on his radio when Columbia beat Stanford in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, 1934.

No Rose Bowl for Maroons.

Dr. Elliott made no predictions for publication about Chicago's future attitude toward football, as we said before. And, unlike Columbia, it is not probable, Dr. Elliott holds, that the Maroons would accept an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl. It isn't done by Big Ten teams, you know.

Omaha Votes Michigan State Quintet Most Superstitious

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 3 [Special].—Michigan State, which played Creighton university, probably was the most superstitious basketball squad to play here in years. The student manager carried a rabbit's tail, referee's whistle and kerosene lantern to the bench for every game. He said all items were musts with the players.

Flush Kidneys of Acids and Poisons

When kidneys are continually over-burdened they often become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smarts and burns—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

A safe, harmless and inexpensive way to relieve this trouble and help restore more healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from any druggist a 35 cent box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed—don't be disappointed.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—right from Haarlem in Holland. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original—the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

Remember—other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble may be backache, puffy eyes, nervousness and leg cramps.

Mickey Owen, Beard and All, Signs for 1940

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 3 (AP).—Mickey Owen, sporting a three months' beard, came in from his Missouri farm today and signed a 1940 contract to catch for the St. Louis Cardinals. Owen was first string catcher in 1939. He joined the Cardinals in 1937.

At the close of last season Owen retired to his farm near Springfield, Mo., and stopped shaving. He may decide to wear the red beard to training camp.

Joe Medwick, left fielder, also dropped in for a chat with General Manager Branch Rickey, but there was no announcement as to what occurred. Medwick and the club engaged in a long controversy over salary last year.

YALE A. A. INCOME IS UP $13,326 IN YEAR TO $532,579

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 3 (AP).—Football accounted for $478,325.69 of the Yale University Athletic association's total income of $532,579.10 in 1939, an increase of about $13,326 over the 1938 total, the treasurer's report disclosed today.

The expense of carrying on all sports last year, including intramural activities for all undergraduates, was placed at $524,713.08.

Kruger, Klein Give N. U. Five Speed, Power

Three Northwestern athletic teams will be active in Evanston Saturday, the basketball team opening its Western conference season against Purdue and the wrestling and fencing teams opposing Bradley Tech and the Edgewater Fencing club, respectively.

The Wildcat quintet will risk its five game winning streak in the game with the Boilermakers. In compiling its undefeated record the Purple triumphed over Carleton, Washington State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Notre Dame. This is in contrast to last year, when the Wildcats lost five out of seven preconference games.

The improved showing over last year is attributed to additional team speed and more accurate shooting. Two sophomores, Dick Klein, center, and Don Kruger, forward, have contributed much to the Wildcat attack. Klein, who leads the team in scoring with 60 points, has added a scoring punch which was lacking last year. Kruger's all around performance has enabled him to clinch a starting rôle.

The other three starters, Capt. Ad Vance and Bob Shepard, guards, and Les Harman, forward, have improved over their last year's form. This is particularly true of Harman and Shepard, who have graduated from the reserves.

CAVALIERS PLAY OPENING LEAGUE GAME TONIGHT

The La Salle Cavaliers will play their first game in the Windy City Basketball league tonight in St. Philip gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue, meeting the Rep. Petrones. In the co-feature the Collegians, south side colored team, will face the west side Masons.

1940 DUCK CROP MENACED DUE TO DROUTH IN 1939

BY BOB BECKER.

Directed to all duck hunters in the United States, the closing 1939 report on the waterfowl situation has just come from the Canadian north, the country that sent the biggest duck crop in years southward last fall. This report, written by E. S. Russenholt, assistant general manager of Ducks Unlimited in Canada, isn't the kind that is going to bring much New Year's cheer to duck hunters. But it's one that all of us should keep in mind because it calls attention to the dangers that face the waterfowl when they return to the Canadian prairies next spring.

In his last report until next spring Russenholt sounds this warning to American waterfowlers:

"Right after producing the biggest duck crop in years, the situation in North America's vast duck producing range looks more critical today than ever before, at this time of the year. Vital surface rains didn't come last fall. This means that surface waters are lower than ever before in our generation. Key men from all over Canada are reporting [at the rate of 100 a day] a drastic lack of moisture. Some authorities state that fall precipitation is lower than it has been for 54 years.

"The ducks in 1940 will face an unprecedented handicap in the south half of their breeding range. In this area duck waters must depend entirely on the run-off which can be caught and held until next spring.

"The only way that run-off water can be caught and held is by creating water storage projects. Without these the entire prairie crop [14,800,000 birds in 1939] faces annihilation."

Ducks Unlimited produced more than 4,500,000 ducks on their Canadian projects last year.

"Old Country Beer Lovers Won't Drink a Beer That Has to Be Freezing Cold to Be Palatable Please Enjoy the Delicate All-Grain Fragrance in Our Brew."
By Richard Seibold
Meister Bräu Brewmaster

COMPARE FLAVOR when Flavor isn't disguised by Cold!

● Maybe I'm too fussy about serving beer at the right temperature. But ice-cold beer is wrong. There's no use our putting the finest grains in a brew just to have the flavor overchilled so you can't recognize it. We might as well add sugars or syrups and save time and money. We might as well add extra carbonation when we bottle instead of using only natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

Beer flavor, good or bad, shows up at about 55 degrees. If you want to know what kind of beer you're drinking, drink it at 55 degrees. That means, take an ice-cold bottle out of the refrigerator and let it stand until it's the proper temperature.

Do that and you'll never again say, "Give me a bottle of Beer." You'll know it pays to ask for the brand you prefer. For 49 years we've made a beer for the 55-degree drinkers—the beer cranks. Order Meister Bräu today and I'll stake my reputation on your verdict if you make the "55-degrees" test.

18 LOSE LIVES, 77 MORE HURT IN HOTEL FIRE

Search for 19 Others in Minneapolis Building.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3 (AP).—A cigaret tossed down a garbage chute was believed today to have caused a fire which took at least 18 lives at the Marlborough apartment hotel in the worst disaster in this city's history.

Only 12 victims had been identified as firemen prodded about in the debris of the three story building, seeking the bodies of possible additional victims.

Red Cross workers said there were 114 persons in the building when the fire broke out. Of these, 18 were known dead, 24 were registered at hospitals, 53 had registered with the Red Cross as slightly injured, and 19 were unaccounted for.

Blast Precedes Blaze.

First warning of the tragedy was a rumbling explosion shortly before 6 a. m., followed almost instantly by a burst of flame that choked the halls and stairways and blocked escape of many of the residents, who were sleeping.

The blast, said Arthur Spottswood, head of the fire department's fire prevention division, apparently was caused by garbage smouldering in a storage chute in the center of the building, bursting into flame and blowing out of the chute in a heat explosion. Spottswood said the garbage probably was ignited by a cigaret stub.

The flames spread so rapidly thru the brick veneered building at 301 East 15th street that many occupants had to leap from windows. Several died and many were injured jumping from second and third story windows.

Find Others in Ruins.

The bodies of other victims, many charred beyond recognition, were discovered later in the ruins.

Every available piece of fire apparatus and ambulance answered the alarm. The temperature was 5 degrees below zero, the coldest this city has experienced this winter.

As firemen struggled to run ice-coated hose lines to the building, the scene was one of hysterical tragedy. In the second and third floor apartments men and women smashed the glass out of windows and leaned out, screaming for help. Many jumped before ladders could be put up to them.

Residents of rooms on the ground floor scrambled thru the windows to safety, aided by neighbors and passersby, who helped them to shelter from the intense cold. Many were dressed only in night clothes.

Otto Knaack, janitor in the apartment, said his first warning of the fire came when he opened the door of the boiler room and was knocked flat by an explosion that broke all the windows in the room.

Rescue Guests Overcome by Smoke in Hotel Fire

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 4, Thursday (AP).—Fire threatened the Henshaw hotel in downtown Omaha shortly after 1:45 a. m. today. Flames shot up the east side of the structure and firemen worked in near zero weather in an attempt to bring them under control. Several guests, overcome by smoke, were carried from the hotel. None was believed trapped inside.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

ASHER—Henry Asher. In memory of our beloved husband and father, who passed away a year ago.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile;
Little do they know the heartaches
That our smiles hide all the while.
How often do we tread the path
That leads us to the grave
Where rests the one we loved so well,
But whom we could not save.
Long days, long nights you bore your pain
Waiting for a cure, but all in vain.
God saw that you were suffering,
And the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
WIFE AND DAUGHTER ESTELLE.

Deposits Set Record as 1939 Ends.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The expansion of business and industrial activity in the closing months of 1939 resulted in an increase of about 11½ million dollars in the loans and discounts of Chicago banks, according to figures released yesterday.

All banks in the city made public statements of condition as of Dec. 30 in response to calls issued by the controler of currency and the state auditor.

Aggregate deposits of the city's banks reached a new all-time peak level of $3,386,161,000 on Dec. 30. Savings deposits and cash resources were also higher than the totals reported three months earlier and at the end of 1938.

Loans Highest Since Early 1938.

The increase in loans and discounts raised the total to $676,347,000, which is the highest level reached since the spring of 1938. Some banks reported an expansion of loans that was larger than usual for that period of the year. The aggregate for all banks, however, remains at a comparatively low level.

Ten years ago the aggregate loans and discounts of Chicago banks were in excess of two billion dollars. The lowest level to which the total has dropped in recent years was in 1935, when the aggregate was only slighlty above one-half billion dollars.

The banks are carrying an abnormally high percentage of their funds in cash. Cash resources on Dec. 30 amounted to $1,629,923,000, an increase of $8,285,000 compared with three months earlier and a gain of $197,330,000 over the corresponding period of 1938.

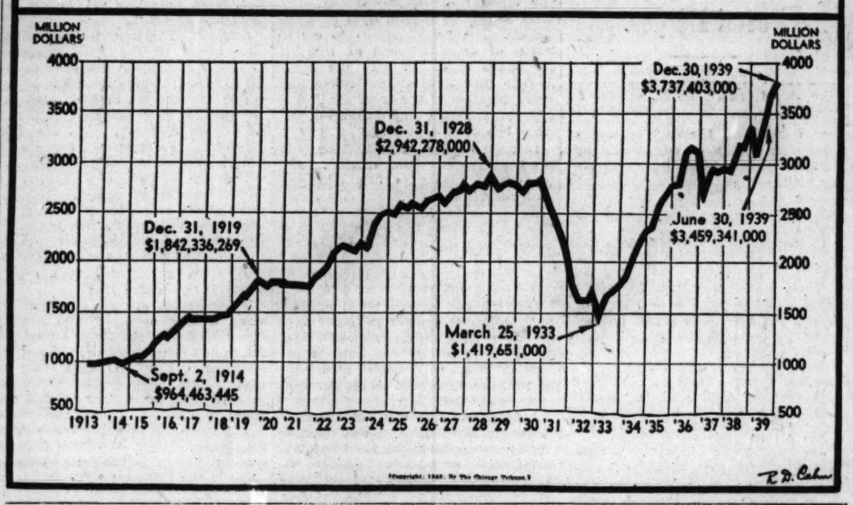
Government Investment Large.

In addition, the banks hold large amounts of short term government paper and other government securities of longer maturities.

The increase in savings deposits shown by the statements marked a continuation of the steady growth that has been under way for the last nine years. The aggregate savings deposits of $618,993,000 are the highest since 1930 and near the total of $684,979,000 reported at the end of 1929.

All banks in the state and national systems were subject to yesterday's call for statements. The requests are made by the national authorities at least three times a year and usually every three months. The state auditor's office requests statements every quarter.

Total Deposits of All Chicago Banks 1913-1939



Smaller Chicago Banks Show Gains in Loans and Deposits

Many outlying and smaller downtown banks shared in the increases in loans and discounts, cash resources and deposits revealed in a comparison of statements for Dec. 30 and the preceding bank call on Oct. 2. Banks of both classes—national and state—contributed to the advances.

Total deposits of the Merchandise National bank climbed to $23,100,000 at the end of the year, a gain of more than $1,500,000 since the last bank call. Cash resources were $13,835,000, compared with $6,873,000. Loans and discounts totaled $6,816,000, compared with $6,813,000. Savings deposits passed the $5,000,000 mark.

Amalgamated Trust Lends More.

Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank reported loans and discounts of $1,974,000, compared with $1,926,000 on Oct. 2. Total deposits advanced to $9,537,000, a gain of $910,000. Cash resources of $3,880,000 compared with $3,100,000. Savings deposits were up more than $400,000.

Mercantile National Report.

Loans and discounts advanced by the Mercantile National bank increased to $4,340,000, a gain of more than $30,000. Total deposits declined from $19,869,000 to $18,700,000. Cash resources of $8,400,000 contrasted with $9,185,000.

The Live Stock National Bank of Chicago announced loans and discounts of $5,900,000, compared with $5,820,000 as of Oct. 2. Total deposits advanced about $3,000,000 to $26,700,000. Cash resources climbed from $16,599,000 to $19,400,000.

Drover National bank reported cash resources of $22,200,000, compared with $16,734,000 on Oct. 2. Loans and discounts were $3,200,000, against $3,505,000. Total deposits were $31,500,000, against $30,195,000. The Drovers' Trust and Savings had a gain of $600,000 in total deposits, cash resources of $6,500,000, against $2,264,000, and loans and discounts of $4,070,000, against $4,215,000.

Increase in Deposits Shown.

Total deposits of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company increased nearly $1,000,000 to $27,100,000. Loans and discounts advanced from $7,735,000 to $8,600,000. Cash resources of $14,200,000 contrasted with $14,540,000. Savings deposits rose to $15,900,000, a gain of more than $700,000.

The South East National bank reported loans and discounts of $3,700,000, compared with $3,582,000 at the preceding bank call. Total deposits increased to $8,400,000 from $8,173,000. Cash resources of $3,000,000 contrasted with $2,339,000. Savings deposits gained $300,000 to a total of $3,700,000.

Loans and discounts of the Uptown State bank were up about $300,000, totaling $2,200,000. Total deposits rose from $9,473,000 to $10,000,000. Cash resources of $3,400,000 contrasted with $3,149,000. Savings deposits increased $100,000 to $4,738,000.

Cosmopolitan National Figures.

Cosmopolitan National bank reported total deposits of $3,659,000, against $3,587,000. Loans and discounts advanced slightly to $1,370,000. Cash resources declined to $1,300,000 from $1,447,000. Savings deposits were $1,400,000, compared with $1,289,000.

Increases in loans and discounts were reported by other banks, including the Central National and South Shore National. The First National of Englewood, the L.C. National and the Mid-City National announced decreases in loans. Gains in total deposits were recorded by the University State, Pioneer Trust and Savings, Lake View Trust and Savings, Terminal National, Upper Avenue, and others.

The Mid-City National bank has transferred $50,000 from undivided profits to surplus.

CHICAGO BANKS BOOST FEDERAL BOND HOLDINGS

Chicago banks in the last quarter of 1939 increased their combined investments in government bonds by $25,903,000, their statements of condition at of Dec. 30 showed yesterday.

The statements were released at the call of the state auditor and the national controler of currency.

Total holdings of government bonds on Dec. 30 were $1,288,271,000, compared with $1,262,368,000 on Oct. 2, the date of the preceding call. The increase reflected in part the recovery in prices of government issues from the slump during September when they were under pressure from war selling.

As a group, national banks in the city held $1,085,361,000 in federal bonds, against $1,053,627,000 three months earlier. The increase of $31,734,000 was offset partly by a reduction of $5,831,000 in the combined holdings of state chartered banks. The state banks on Dec. 30 held $202,910,000 in government issues, against $208,741,000 on Oct. 2.

Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which held the largest amount of government bonds, enlarged this investment to $607,936,000 from $574,413,000 three months earlier. Ranking second among the banks in government investments, the First National bank increased its holdings to $370,051,000 from $364,165,000.

A third loop bank, the American National Bank and Trust company, raised its investments to $14,569,000 from $14,407,000. Three other large banks—City National, Harris Trust, and Northern Trust—reduced their holdings.

The following table compares the government bond holdings of the six largest downtown banks:

WHEELER URGES MERGER OF TWO WIRE CONCERNS

Would Unite Postal and Western Union.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Chairman Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] of the senate interstate commerce committee today declared himself in favor of consolidating the Western Union and Postal Telegraph systems if employés of the companies are protected and precautions are provided against monopolistic practices.

Senator Wheeler.

The senator expressed his approval of a report submitted to his committee by the Federal Communications commission proposing consolidation of the companies' telegraph, telephone, and radio facilities into one or more unified systems.

The report, prepared by FCC Chairman James Lawrence Fly and advanced as a means of curing the industry's ills, urged enactment of legislation which would permit unification. The report did not recommend specific legislation or discuss international telegraph service, which is to be the basis of a supplemental report.

Firms "Destroying Themselves."

"The industry is a natural monopoly," Senator Wheeler said. "At present Western Union and Postal are destroying each other. In consolidating the services, the unified system would still be in competition with telephone, air mail, and radio. This competition must be protected."

Senator Truman [D., Mo.], a member of the committee, said he felt "there may be some merit in the merger idea provided the labor situation can be worked out without the loss of too many jobs."

The FCC report proposed consolidation of the telegraph companies without disturbing the radio-telegraph field for the present.

Competition within the industry and with other forms of communication, changing economic conditions, and other causes have brought about a situation which jeopardizes the existence of certain of the existing telegraph carriers," the report said.

Postal's Status "Precarious."

"The financial situation of the Postal system is precarious and that of Western Union, altho less critical, is definitely unfavorable. There is no indication of improvement under existing conditions.

"There is every indication that unsound management policies have contributed to existing unfavorable conditions. Probably the most impor-

Chicago Area Factory Output Exceeds Peak of Boom Year

Production of factories in the Chicago area in 1939 exceeded the output of the previous record year of 1929, the Chicago Association of Commerce announced yesterday.

The association estimated the value of goods produced last year at $5,700,000,000. Official government figures fix the value of Chicago manufactured goods in 1929 at $5,558,000,000.

The estimate for 1939 is based on preliminary figures gathered by the association on a wide range of industry. Complete data on factory production is not yet available. The federal government is now engaged in taking a census of all manufacturing in the United States for the year 1939. Field workers began compilation of the data in Chicago earlier this week. Results will not be announced for several months.

1938 1,542,630

Freight car loadings for the first 11 months of 1939, compared with those of the 1938 period, reflect the substantial gains of the Chicago area.

The association estimated that 600,000 people are now working in industrial plants in the Chicago area. This compares with the 1929 peak of 550,903. Fewer plants are now operating but their aggregate output and working forces are larger than a decade ago. Factories now operating number 9,200 compared with 11,774 in 1929.

1938 58,254

New car registrations, sharply higher in the 11 months ended Nov. 30, 1939, were a factor in the Chicago area's progress.

The association said that the rise in industrial operations and business activity in 1939 was one of the most rapid in the city's history.

The expansion in operations in the iron and steel, railroad and rail equipment industries accounted for a large part of the gain, the association said.

Figures on business and industrial operations for the first 11 months of 1938 and 1939, prepared by the association, follow:

	1939.	1938.
Pig iron production [gr. tons].	5,225,457	3,105,713
Freight cars loaded	1,874,866	1,542,630
Telephones in use Nov.30	992,641	958,606
Electric pow. production [kilowatt hours] ...	6,892,883,000	6,116,745,000
New car registrations .	87,323	58,254
Postal] rcpts.	$51,844,404	$48,851,149
Building permits [cost of proj.]..	$40,669,982	$18,839,754
Bank debits [checks cashed] . .	$31,163,934,000	$29,208,420,000

The ranking of Chicago industries in 1939 in value of goods produced corresponded with that of the preceding year. Steel production, which has held first place in recent years, is believed to have widened its lead over meat packing which for many years was Chicago's first industry.

1939 $40,669,982
1938 $18,839,754

Building permits were more than doubled in the Chicago area during the first 11 months of last year.

Petroleum refining and electrical equipment manufacturing rank third and fourth, respectively. Printing and publishing, of which Chicago is the national center, is fifth in value of its production.

Most forecasts indicate a generally higher level of industrial activity in Chicago in 1940.

CONSUMERS RIP FEDERAL PRICES FIXED FOR COAL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—The consumers' counsel division said today that proposed minimum prices for soft coal would add $44,000,000 to the nation's fuel bill.

Frederic L. Kirgis, director, said the division's experts would testify against some of the proposed schedules shortly after Jan. 5. It would be the first time that the domestic consumer has been represented in the long series of hearings conducted by the bituminous coal division.

[The consumers' counsel division is connected with the interior department, which also controls the bituminous division.]

Kirgis estimated the increase on domestic coals at 9 cents a ton, under the present schedule of proposed minimum prices. The cost of industrial coals would rise about 20 cents a ton, he said.

STEEL OUTLOOK APPRAISED BEST IN ELEVEN YEARS

Both the steel industry and some of its principal consuming outlets are entering the new year under the most auspicious circumstances since 1929, the magazine Iron Age said yesterday in its weekly review.

"While the steel industry and the automobile industry have left record breaking production records behind them in the fourth quarter of 1939," the publication asserted, "the outlook for these major units of industry and some of their collateral lines is reasonably promising for at least the first half of 1940."

Commonwealth Edison Co. May Vote Dividend Today

Directors of the Commonwealth Edison company are expected to meet today for dividend action. The company paid 40 cents a share in each of the first three quarters of 1939, and 45 cents in the last quarter.

Bill Offered in New York to Close Banks Saturdays

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3 [Special].—Assemblyman Peter A. Quinn today introduced a bill at the opening session of the 1940 legislature to make Saturdays a legal holiday to permit banks thruout the state to remain closed. Under his proposed bill, Quinn pointed out, banks would be able to take advantage of the 40 hour a week work law and would be able to operate on a five day schedule which would provide a 40 hour working week for bank employés on duty eight hours a day.

USE OF CONSENT DECREES ENDED IN TRUST DRIVE

Place More Reliance on Investigations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—According to the annual report of Attorney General Frank Murphy, issued today, the justice department has abandoned the use of consent decrees in its antitrust drive.

Atty. Gen. Murphy.

However, there has been a growing belief recently that the department has undertaken more antitrust investigations and indictments than it can hope to prosecute successfully — especially in view of the negative court record the administration has achieved so far in its campaign against "monopoly."

Satisfaction that mere investigations have caused alleged violations to cease and make prosecution unnecessary was expressed in the report by Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division.

Division's Personnel Doubled.

In reviewing activities of the 1939 fiscal year Arnold said that the personnel of the antitrust division was approximately doubled, "so that for the first time in its history it could investigate at least some industries on a nation-wide scale."

He suggested that while criminal procedure is now called for in antitrust actions civil penalties would be a more appropriate remedy.

"Hazards must be put on antitrust violations so that they will not be lightly undertaken," Arnold said. "Therefore, in the past year we have consistently followed the policy of prosecuting past violations by indictment. We have declined to dismiss indictments upon the mere promise to obey the law in the future. The use of consent decrees to condone past offenses has been abandoned."

However, in another section of his report Arnold lists the department's procedure for accepting consent decrees.

Asks Increased Personnel.

"The department must either get sufficient personnel to handle these complaints in an effective way," he said, "or it will be unable to discharge fully its responsibility under the law. If action is taken in time, prosecutions are frequently unnecessary. For example, in one city the mere investigation of a group which had met to raise prices was sufficient to deter the price increase.

"In one city the effect of the investigation alone has caused the abandonment of bid depositories by local contractors. The same method [mass indictments] in the fertilizer

LARGER BUDGETS PROMISE TO LIFT INDUSTRY HIGHER

Several Corporations Plan Plant Expansion.

Several corporations yesterday announced 1940 improvement programs totaling millions of dollars and providing substantial impetus for industrial activity. Among these were the American Gas and Electric company, with a $30,000,000 program, and the Missouri Pacific railroad, with $10,880,000.

This year's expenditures of American Gas and Electric, which has headquarters in New York, will exceed those of 1938 by about $6,000,000, according to George N. Tidd, president. Plans call for an additional 80,000 kilowatt unit at the company's Philo, O., steam plant. American Gas and Electric is a holding company in the Electric Bond and Share group which controls operating companies in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia.

Plans New Streamliner.

The Missouri Pacific budget allots $1,350,000 to new rolling stock, including $250,000 for a 3-unit streamlined train, $400,000 for six Diesel switch engines, $180,000 for five smaller Diesel-electric engines, and $570,000 for 200 stock cars. Another large item is $3,250,000 for laying 215 miles of new rail on main tracks and relaying 177 miles of used rail on secondary lines.

The Phelps Dodge Refining company, a subsidiary of the Phelps Dodge corporation, copper producer, is having plans drawn for enlarged refining facilities at its El Paso, Tex., plant in connection with its $35,000,000 mining development at Morenci, Ariz. The Morenci development is expected to be completed in 1942 and the El Paso refining plant enlargement in 1941.

Lockheed Aircraft to Expand.

The Lockheed Aircraft corporation, Burbank, Cal., disclosed that of the proceeds from the sale of 225,000 shares of common stock, it would use $1,750,000 for the development of new models; $600,000 for new tools and machinery; $225,000 for two assembly hangars and $200,000 for a research laboratory.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to sell $5,330,000 of 2½ per cent equipment trust certificates to the Reconstruction Finance corporation to finance about 90 per cent of the cost of 2,100 new freight cars.

General Electric Plant Hums.

The General Electric company's electric turbine shops at Schenectady, N. Y., are reported as the busiest in 12 years, with an all time production record held likely for 1940. The company disclosed that more than 1,630,000 horse power of hydrogen-cooled turbine generators and 1,000,000 in waterwheel-driven generators are under construction or about to be delivered. Some air-cooled generators also are being built.

The Public Service Coördinated Transport company and the Public Service Interstate Transportation company, controled by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, placed an order with the General Motors Truck and Coach company, for 242 buses. The companies operate in New Jersey cities.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A broad buying wave swept into the hog market at the Chicago Stockyards yesterday. Competition between local and outside interests sent prices up 10 to 25 cents, with some of the butchers and light sows showing even more gain. Continued cold weather and increased consumer demand for pork stimulated buying.

The day's average jumped 20 cents to $5.60, equaling the sharpest rise for any day since early September, when the war in Europe caused a spectacular upswing of the market.

The general trade for steers and yearlings weakened under pressure of a large run of good cattle yesterday. Sales ranged from steady to 25 cents lower. Lambs lost 15 to 25 cents of the recent gains.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

WHEELER URGES CREATING SINGLE TELEGRAPH FIRM

Approves Western Union, Postal Merger.

tant factors are the development of competing forms of communication, such as long distance telephony and air mail, and destructive competition within the industry for the remaining diminishing volume of telegraph business."

Consolidation, the commission said, would, if properly safeguarded thru effective regulation, maintain the benefits inherent in competition in the communications field and result in the rehabilitation of an industry which at present offers little security for its employés.

Would Aid National Defense.

It also declared that communication needs incident to national defense will be more effectively provided for by such unification.

"Whatever the causes of existing conditions," said the report, "the employés cannot be held accountable. They should receive primary consideration in the formulation and adoption of any consolidation plan.

"A unified telegraph system may confidently be expected to provide opportunities for more efficient operation with consequent opportunity for extension of service, where necessary, and adjustment of existing rate structure to attract available business."

The report stated that it would be possible to superimpose the entire telegraph traffic on the existing facilities of the telephone carriers and give the public not only a nation-wide telephone service but also a nation-wide telegraph service.

However, the report warned that "such a radical change in national legislative policy with respect to monopoly would be fraught with serious consequences."

A. F. OF L. FLAYS MERGER

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor, in a caustically critical statement, announced "vigorous" opposition today to a proposal of the Federal Communications commission to consolidate the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The Commercial Telegraphers' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, which said it was the "dominant trade union in Western Union," termed the proposal a "merger stampede, cold-bloodedly pushed by a C. I. O. union rendered desperate by fear of its liquidation." The statement added that Western Union had about 45,000 employés and Postal about 15,000.

"The C. I. O. organization has been engaged in feverish activity in favor of a merger in spite of the fact that probably 15,000 jobs would be wiped out by a merger," the union declared.

Western Union employés, the C. T. U. said, "cannot calmly view a suggestion that they shall, in large numbers, give up their jobs to make room for Postal employés and to enable the self-seeking American Communications association [C. I. O.] to save its face as a national labor organization."

ROCK ISLAND BOND.

What information can you give me on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific 4s '88 and the CD 4s '88? What provision is made for them under the reorganization plan?—C. S.

Answer: The general mortgage 4 per cent bonds due Jan. 1, 1988, of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company are outstanding in the amount of $61,581,000 out of a total corporate funded debt of $280,000,000. The "CD" refers to certificates of deposit issued as receipts for bonds deposited with the bondholders' protective committee pending reorganization of the company in federal court. More than one-half of the issue has been deposited.

Interest on the 4s of 1988 has not been paid since Jan. 1, 1934. The issue is secured by a first mortgage on 3,026 miles of track and other railroad property, by a first collateral lien on 92 miles, and by a pledge of certain securities. The 4s of 1988 are junior in lien only to $4,500,000 of 3 per cent trustees' certificates of indebtedness due 1941.

Only 20 per cent of fixed charges on the funded debt of the road were earned in 1938. This compared with 34 per cent in 1937 and only 10 per cent in 1936. In the first 10 months of 1939 earnings covered 39 per cent of fixed charges.

A reorganization plan for the company was recommended last September by an examiner for the interstate commerce commission. Under the plan holders of the general mortgage 4s of 1988 would receive for each $1,000 of principal and interest the following new securities: $89 in first mortgage bonds, $224 in general mortgage income bonds, $426 in preferred stock, and $461 in common stock of the proposed new company. Arguments on the examiner's plan were completed last month and the commission has reserved its decision.

BELL OF CANADA.

I would like a report on the Bell Telephone Company of Canada first mortgage 5s.—S. L.

Answer: The first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada are divided into three series: series A are outstanding in the amount of $30,000,000 and are due in 1955; series B, due 1957, $30,000,000, and series C, due 1960, $7,500,000. Interest is payable in American currency.

The entire issue of the series A bonds was called recently for payment at 105 and interest to March 1, 1940. The redemption was made possible thru use of company funds and the proceeds from the sale of $25,000,000 in 3¼ per cent first mortgage series D bonds due 1964.

These issues are all direct obligations of the company and are secured by a first mortgage on all real estate and other fixed property of the company. Fixed charges on the funded debt were earned 2.68 times in 1938, 2.60 times in 1937 and 2.45 times in 1936.

The company operates the leading telephone system and the long-distance toll lines in the well-populated Ontario and Quebec provinces.

GLOVER NAMED HEAD OF NEW REO MOTOR COMPANY

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 3 [Special].—Fred Glover, who had been general manager during a federal court trusteeship, today was elected president of Reo Motors, Inc., successor to the Reo Motor Car company. The newly chosen board of directors, holding its first meeting, elected Theodore L. Fry, who had been the court trustee, as vice president and W. C. Wood as secretary and treasurer.

Under the plan approved by the court the new company will be operated under the supervision of three voting trustees—John Miner of Jackson, Mich.; Otto C. Seyferth, Muskegon, and George B. Judson, Detroit. Part of the company's property is to be liquidated or leased, with a $2,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, said to be assured, providing capital for resumption of manufacturing operations. The company already is manufacturing buses and has been bidding for government truck contracts.

Cooke Elected President of Eastern Coal Company

Gordon C. Cooke has been elected president and a director of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal company, it was announced yesterday. Cooke has been vice president of the company since 1937. He was replaced in that post by A. W. Decker, formerly general eastern agent.

AIR LINE ORDERS WORK ON PLANES TO FLY ATLANTIC

Plans Nonstop Trip from New York to Lisbon.

New York, Jan. 3 [Special].—Expansion of trans-Atlantic air service in the near future was indicated today when American Export Airlines, Inc., signed a $2,000,000 contract for "initial work" on three large flying boats intended for nonstop flights between New York and Lisbon, Spain.

Juan C. Trippe seeks designs on huge planes.

Meanwhile in Washington, D.C., the head of Pan American Airways corporation, which already operates regular air service to Europe, testified before the civil aeronautic authority in opposition to the application of American Export Airlines for authority to operate its proposed route to Spain. No decision on the application has been given.

Wants 50 Passenger Plane.

Juan C. Trippe, president of Pan American, said his company intends to ask all American aircraft manufacturers to submit designs for a 50 passenger plane capable of flying 5,000 miles non-stop at 300 miles per hour. Trippe said the company hoped to obtain engineering designs in six months, and delivery in about three years.

The proposed American Export route, the first to cross the Atlantic non-stop on a regular schedule, would extend from Lisbon to Barcelona and Rome, Italy. It would include mail, passenger, and express service.

The $2,000,000 contract, signed by W. H. Coverdale, president of American Export Airlines, is with the Vought Sikorsky aircraft division of United Aircraft corporation.

Planes to Have Four Motors.

The contract covers engineering work and the construction of "certain important structural members" for the new four motor flying boats. The planes will carry 16 passengers and a crew of 11. The proposed schedule calls for an average speed of 175 miles per hour. Assembly work, the company announced, will start upon receipt of a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the CAA.

In making the announcement, the company referred to a statement by Igor I. Sikorsky, airplane manufacturer, that "one of the greatest advantages of flying the Atlantic nonstop is that it not only makes for greater reliability of service, but also eliminates the hazards of landing in unprotected harbors."

BIG RESTAURANT IN N. Y. PLANNED BY CHICAGOAN

Dario L. Toffenetti, operator of the Triangle restaurants in Chicago, yesterday announced he has signed a lease for about 26,000 square feet of street and subway level space in the two story building now under construction in Times square, New York City.

Toffenetti said he will open an 850 seat moderate price restaurant on the location about April '15, and admitted the success of his restaurant at the New York World's Fair last summer was partly responsible for his entering the New York field.

The Chicago architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill will design the restaurant interior. The firm was responsible for a large part of the Chicago Century of Progress exposition designing.

CAA Postpones Hearings on Merger of Air Lines

The Civil Aeronautics authority has postponed a hearing on the proposed merger of Western Air Express corporation with United Air Lines until Jan. 8, United officials reported yesterday. The delay was granted at the request of intervenors in the matter. The hearing will be held in Washington, D. C., with Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school, serving as special examiner.

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—Traders with a shade of January optimism bid up stock market prices today and many leaders added fractions to 2 points or more.

Neither the meeting of congress at noon nor the Presidential request for new taxes for "emergency spending for the national defense," dulled the appetite of the bargain hunters who were out shopping for shares.

Volume picked up on the advance and the day's total of 1,020,790 transfers compared with 579,010 yesterday, when the first rally of the new year got under way.

Few brokers could put a finger on any specific reason for the move, which started with the opening gong and reached its height about noon just when the legislators were convening in Washington.

The explanation heard oftenest was that January markets usually move up after the December tax selling, that psychology changed with the disappearance of the "thirties" and that considerable investment money was available and anxious to get into securities.

After the President spoke, just an hour before closing time, the pace slowed down for a while, but there was no appreciable effect on prices.

Stocks in the van of the rally included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Consolidated Edison, North American, United States Gypsum, Loft, and American Hawaiian.

Sears-Roebuck and American Telephone touched new highs for 1939-40. Aircrafts were not liked much, and Douglas, Lockheed, and American Airlines fell behind.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—Advances in railroad issues set off a well sustained rally in the bond market today. Gains of major fractions to a point or so were numerous and ran to as much as 5 points in isolated cases. Brokers said the buying, coming from a number of sources, included a fair amount of reinvestment demand in the low-yield group.

Prominent on the forward move were Northern Pacific 6s, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5s, Western Union 5s of '60, Nickel Plate 4½s, Portland General Electric 4½s, Alleghany stamped 5s, Bethlehem Steel 3½s, and Erie convertible 5s.

Italian Credit Consortium 7s, with a 7 point advance at 75, highlighted a generally improved foreign dollar section. United States governments were neglected but maintained a firm undertone with gains up to 5-32 in the majority.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison established a new high on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday for the second consecutive day. It closed at 32⅝, up ⅛, on sales of 8,100 shares. On the preceding day Edison shares gained ⅝ over the 1939 top of 32¼.

Fractional gains were in the majority on a moderately active turnover. Allied Laboratories, Armour, Middle West, Swift, W. B. Jarvis, Borg-Warner, and Central States Power and Light were among active issues adding ⅛ to 1⅜ points. Mountain States Power climbed 2¾ at a new high of 76¾.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares advanced 2 points in bank stock trading yesterday to close at 228 bid. Northern Trust shares declined 5 points to 563 bid. Other issues were steady.

TRACTION TANGLE CAN BE SOLVED, SAYS E. E. BROWN

Suggests Mayor's Plan Be Used as Basis.

Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank and a receiver for the Chicago Surface lines, asserted yesterday that a unified traction ordinance can be drafted in a short time. Brown said that Mayor Kelly's traction plan submitted Nov. 22 furnishes a basis for discussion and that Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's memorandum of Dec. 18 has clarified the controversial points.

Edward E. Brown.

Brown, one of four new members named last month by Judge Wilkerson to serve on the transit lines' negotiating committee, gave his views at a meeting of the companies' seven man board and the city council committee on local transportation. It was the first joint meeting since the new members were added to the former three man committee.

Two Principal Points.

"There are two principal points to keep in mind in the negotiations," Brown said. "First, the securities holders must realize that any ordinance will be useless unless it can be approved at a referendum. The city representatives must remember that it is useless to set up a unified company that cannot live.

"It is as much to the city's interest to set up a new company that can live and make extensions and improvements as it is to the interest of the companies themselves. These things, however, cannot be accomplished unless the company can obtain adequate credit."

Other Members Agree.

The other new members of the board said that they agreed with Brown and that they are hopeful for an agreement on the terms of a franchise. They are Walter J. Cummings, president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and a receiver for the surface lines; M. H. MacLean, a member of the surface lines bondholders' committee, and Sidney L. Castle, chairman of the elevated lines' reorganization committee.

The members appointed last May who are still on the board are Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines; Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the elevated lines, and Walter A. Shaw, court traction adviser.

Members of the transit group and the council committee, headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], agreed to begin working on the controversial points at a meeting Jan. 12.

Small Groups to Speed Work.

Brown suggested that each group appoint members to meet in executive sessions, to speed the discussions. The transportation committee will be represented by its seven man drafting committee. It is expected that three or four members of the companies' board will attend the meetings, but both sides will hold meetings of the entire groups when questions cannot be decided by the smaller bodies.

The chief points of difference concern rates of fare to be charged by the new company, use of cash now held by the surface lines, payment of pensions to employés and compensation to the city. Mayor Kelly's plan suggested that the new company agree to keep the present fares, including a 7 cent street car fare, for three years. The transit representatives have contended they need an 8 cent fare and that they cannot legally be bound to rates of fare by franchise.

INDICT TOBACCO FIRM, OFFICERS FOR STOCK DEAL

Two Sought on Charge of $4,000,000 Fraud.

New York, Jan. 3 (AP).—Federal authorities sought two former officers and directors of the Standard Commercial Tobacco Co., Inc., tonight on charges growing out of what the government described as a $4,000,000 fraud.

Ery Kehaya.

Earlier in the day, the two, Ery Kehaya, who became president and director of the tobacco company in 1916, and Harry D. Meyer, of Bronxville, N. Y., a former officer and director of the company, were indicted by the federal grand jury with two other persons.

The Standard Commercial Tobacco company and the Standard Commercial Export and Finance corporation also were named in the indictment, which charged conspiracy, mail fraud and violation of the securities and exchange act of 1934.

Wisconsin Prisoner Indicted.

Louis C. George, former vice president of a securities firm at Madison, Wis., now serving a one to three year term in Wisconsin state prison for violating the state securities law, and Harry J. Rothman, an over the counter New York broker, also were indicted.

Late in the day, Rothman was arraigned before Federal Judge William Bondy, pleaded innocent and was held in $2,000 bail. Bench warrants were issued for Kehaya and Meyer.

Kehaya was a director of the Axton-Fisher Tobacco Co., Inc., of Louisville, Ky., which is not involved, from 1936 to May, 1939. Meyer, federal authorities said, had been employed as a customer's man in various Wall street brokerage houses, and lately had acted as assistant to Kehaya in management of Standard Commercial Tobacco.

Stock Manipulations Charged.

The defendants, the indictment charged, used Standard Commercial Tobacco to gain control of the Axton-Fisher company, then manipulated the stock of the former company by means of wash sales.

In 1937, the government charged, the defendants sold $276,000 of Standard Commercial Tobacco stock under written guarantees and oral promises that they would repurchase the stock at an increase of $1 per share within a few weeks.

The stock jumped from $2.50 per share to $13.50 and thereafter, the government alleged, the defendants withdrew their support, the value of the stock collapsed and reorganization proceedings for Standard Commercial Tobacco followed.

USE OF CONSENT DECREES ENDED IN TRUST DRIVE

Greater Reliance Placed on Investigations.

industry and in the milk prosecution in Chicago has achieved similar results.

"Indeed, the milk prosecution in Chicago offers peculiar proof of the efficacy of this method. During the pendency of an indictment in the District court which covered both production and distribution and included farm organizations, labor organizations, a municipal board of health, and the large distributors, real competition was restored.

Reports Cut in Milk Prices.

"Milk prices which had been maintained at 13 cents dropped to 9 cents. It is estimated by some that during that period the milk consumers in Chicago were saved the sum of $25,000,000. After the indictment was dismissed on a question of law, prices immediately climbed to 13 cents."

[In citing these figures on the Chicago milk situation Arnold repeated statements which have been frequently challenged as incorrect. Figures have shown that during the period of the indictments home delivered milk declined from 12 to 11 cents a quart. The indictments were dismissed last July. On Sept. 1 the department of agriculture assumed control of the Chicago milk marketing area and within 1½ months the price was raised 2 cents to 13 cents a quart. [The Supreme court has since overruled the federal District court and remanded the milk case for trial. There have recently been rumors of a consent decree in the case, but if trial is pushed an ultimate decision is expected to be asked of the Supreme court.]

Other Records Unfavorable.

In some of its other antitrust indictments the administration has not fared as well. The Supreme court refused to review the dismissal by a lower court of indictments against organized medicine. Convictions against oil companies and individuals have also been set aside. Action against movie producers is still pending. Consent decrees were accepted in the Ford and Chrysler auto financing cases. The current drive is on the building industry.

Arnold reported that during the 1939 fiscal year 1,375 complaints were received, an increase of 452 over the preceding year. The federal bureau of investigation conducted 90 extensive investigations and the antitrust division conducted an additional 700 investigations. Arnold said that at present there are 200 investigations of major importance under way. The division has 268 court cases pending.

BOSTON & MAINE OFFERS PLAN TO EXCHANGE BONDS

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3 [Special].—E. S. French, president of the Boston and Maine railroad, tonight announced details of a plan for the voluntary exchange of bonds totaling $136,746,000, which he said is designed to save the road from a bankruptcy action or a receivership.

French explained that the plan follows in general suggestions made by Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator. He quoted Jones as saying the Boston and Maine is "so close to the ragged edge" in meeting its debts that the Reconstruction Finance corporation suggested a refunding plan be adopted as a condition to further loans.

"It is essential that steps be taken immediately to anticipate the early maturities and to improve the financial condition of the railroad," French said in a letter to bondholders.

FIGHT AGAINST NLRB RENEWED BY FORD MOTOR

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 3 (AP).—The Ford Motor company renewed its long legal fight against an order of the national labor relations board today. The company charged in a petition for leave to introduce new evidence that in commanding compliance with the Wagner act, the board "intentionally excluded" vital background from consideration.

The petition, filed in the 6th United States Court of Appeals, declared the NLRB "failed to take into account" evidence on matters that were "within the general knowledge of the community" concerning sitdown strikes that "swept that state of Michigan" in 1936 and 1937.

Accompanied by a 154 page volume of exhibits, it became a part of the motor firm's second effort to upset a board order.

Tung Firm Agrees to Halt Sales of Land Contracts

Counsel for George Vasen, secretary and treasurer of the Tung Corporation of America, La Grange, Ill., agreed yesterday before Judge William H. Holly in the federal District court to halt temporarily the sale of land contracts until further hearing on Jan. 29. The Securities and Exchange commission had complained that time allowed for filing of briefs upon a petition brought by the government would permit Vasen and the company to continue the sale of the contracts in violation of the federal securities act.

GOVERNMENT DEFICIT OVER TWO BILLION FOR HALF OF FISCAL YEAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 (AP).—The treasury recorded a $2,023,238,159 deficit for the first half of the fiscal year, which began July 1 and ends June 30, 1940. At the close of 1939, treasury figures showed today the government had spent $4,767,467,673 and collected $2,744,299,513 in the six month period.

If these figures should mount at the same rate in the first half of 1940, the fiscal year would close with a record peacetime spending total of more than $9,500,000,000 and a deficit of more than $4,000,000,000.

However, they must be adjusted somewhat by factors to be disclosed in President Roosevelt's budget message to congress tomorrow. This message will not only give new estimates for the current year but also a prediction for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

The year 1939 also closed with a record high debt of $41,942,456,008, not counting $5,621,069,023 owed by governmental corporations on their own securities.

COURT POSTPONES HEARING IN RAIL TERMINAL CASE

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 3 [Special].—A hearing on government charges of violation of the Elkins act by the Union Pacific railroad, the city of Kansas City, Kas., and a number of produce dealers was postponed today by Federal Judge J. C. Collett until Jan. 29. The judge consolidated requests of the government for temporary and permanent injunctions restraining the continuance of the alleged violations.

The defendants were accused by the office of the United States attorney general, acting on behalf of the Interstate Commerce commission, of offering and accepting cash and free rentals totaling $142,550, for moving from the Kansas City, Mo., produce area to a new produce terminal in Kansas City, Kas. The government held that this violates the Elkins act which prohibits a railroad from giving rebates and the public from accepting them.

The court also authorized the city of Kansas City, Mo., and the Burlington, Missouri Pacific, Rock Island, and Santa Fe railroads to intervene in the case. The four railroads are constructing a team track terminal near a new produce market being built by Kansas City, Mo.

RICE EULOGIZED AT UNION LEAGUE CLUB LUNCHEON

Associates and friends of C. L. Rice, 60, long a resident of La Grange, yesterday gave him a farewell luncheon at the Union League club. Rice, who was active in obtaining passage of the drivers' license law, recently retired as vice president of the Western Electric company, and plans to move soon to a new home at Gloucester, Va., on the Chesapeake bay.

Frederick A. Virkus served as toastmaster at the luncheon attended by 200 members of the club. Virkus eulogized Rice for his public services as chairman of the club's public affairs committee and as a former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Utah Radio Products Back on Profitable Basis.

Net profits of the United States Plywood corporation in the six months ended Oct. 31 more than doubled those of the corresponding period of 1938, the company reported yesterday. Lawrence Ottinger, president of the company, which manufacturers plywood, veneers, and laminated products, said that a dividend on the common stock "would seem justified" in the near future. The last dividend was 12½ cents a share, paid April 25, 1938.

WAGNER TO CALL MEETING SOON ON BANKING INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3 [Special].—Senator Robert F. Wagner, New York Democrat, said today that there will probably be little or no banking legislation at the present session of congress.

Wagner, who is chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, said he will call a meeting of the committee in the near future to consider plans for the banking inquiry ordered by the senate at the last session.

He added, however, that unsettled European conditions and other factors might cause indefinite postponement of the inquiry.

Board of Trade Members' Dues Continued at $250

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade announced yesterday that members' 1940 dues would be $250, the same as in 1939. In addition, members pay a special annual assessment of $150 to repay funds borrowed in 1937 in connection with the readjustment of the mortgage on the Board of Trade building.

Business Bits

The Rumford Chemical works, baking powder company, will conclude its annual sales meeting for the Chicago area today at the Palmer House. About 35, including A. E. Marshall, president; R. E. Gaylord, general sales manager, and George Penny, advertising manager, will attend the meeting.

Six governors, who will serve two year terms, were elected yesterday by members of the Chicago Mercantile exchange. They are Thomas J. Ryan, Miles L. Friedman, Garrett B. Shawhan, Lawrence Ryan, R. L. Feddersen, and Max Weinberg.

J. B. Davies has been appointed assistant traffic manager and W. F. Hummel general freight agent of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway.

Plans for the 18th annual midwest safety conference, scheduled for April 30, will be made by the Greater Chicago Safety council at a meeting in the Union League club today.

H. W. Kastor & Sons Advertising company announces the appointment of Robert G. Jennings and William H. Kearns as vice presidents.

GENERAL MOTORS RENEWS EMPLOYE BENEFIT PLANS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3 (AP).—W. S. Knudsen, president of General Motors corporation, announced today an extension thru 1940 of the corporation's employé income security and lay-off benefit plans, with certain modifications.

Among other stipulations the modifications provide that "any advance unearned and unrepaid at the expiration of three years from the date such advance is made shall be automatically canceled and the employé shall be relieved of the obligation to earn or work out such advance."

The announcement said that during 1939 more than 34,000 employés took advantage of the plans, which were conceived "to assist employés by wage advances in periods of low employment or lay-off," and that advances in excess of $1,500,000 were made. Of this amount, it was stated, about 90 per cent already has been liquidated.

The advances are made as compensation for services to be rendered in the future, and not as loans in the usual sense. They do not bear interest.
